PEERLESS FILM TREATMENT

IS AVAILABLE FROM COAST TO COAST

Peerless-treated film gives you...

3 great advantages

1. Moisture-stabilized — not "green" or brittle
2. Toughened — to resist scratches and wear
3. Lubricated — to ease projection

"Peerless-treated prints screen better and last longer."

ARCHITECT AND EXHIBITOR: Allies in Building Box Office

By JOHN and DREW EBERSON

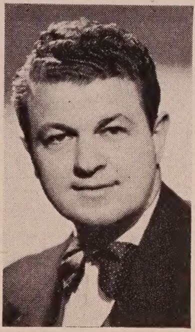
Partners in the Architectural Firm of John and Drew Eberson

TODAY, WHEN THE THEATER MAN IS SEARCHING more earnestly than ever for ways of bolstering his business, the theater architect can prove of inestimable worth in helping him to achieve his purpose.

The theater architect has it within his power to offer suggestion and advice on changes and improvements that will aid in selling the motion picture theater to the public and winning favorable attention for it to the financial well-being of the exhibitor.

In his quest for means of counteracting the powerful competition presented by home television there stands out one that the motion picture theater operator should under no circumstance overlook. And that is to make available in the film theater as many of the comforts, conveniences and aesthetic values that are to be found in the vast majority of the homes of families that own television sets.

JOHN EBERSON



DREW EBERSON

Something more than merely good pictures must be offered as an inducement to the public to patronize the nation's film theaters. That something more covers the physical attributes of the theater. Certainly the person who has television entertainment available in his home can be more easily prevailed upon to venture forth to partake of entertainment in the film theater if he is aware that in the theater await him comforts, conveniences and pleasant atmosphere comparable to those found in his own living room. Every exhibitor must realize the truth of all this and act accordingly to make his theater as inviting and as proud a center of entertainment as it is humanly possible to make it.

In the attainment of such a goal the theater man will find in the theater architect an inexhaustible source of help, encouragement and inspiration. The simple reason is that the theater architect must of necessity familiarize himself with every development in theater modernization and equipment, with every means available that is designed to make a film house more attractive and more comfortable—more "like home" to the majority of individuals.

Often just a few changes, changes costing little, are all that is required to encourage patronage and make a theater the subject of flattering comment. It may be nothing more than a redecorated lobby, a rearranged or redesigned concession area or an eye-catching box office. The exhibitor who tries to justify his failure to make improvements on the grounds of economy is indeed shortsighted and unbusinesslike. Actually any money spent by a theater for improvements constitutes an investment in the true sense of the word, for it helps to bring in business, which is the very thing that the exhibitor is striving for these days.

Concession stands comprise one item with which the architect or designer can work miracles. A visually-exciting concession area can do wonders in heightening interest in a theater. Psychologically it can have a great effect because it is one of the first things a person notices about a theater. It is capable of creating a good or bad impression about a theater as a whole. That is why it is deemed important that an exhibitor make his concession area as attractive and as appealing as possible. Besides helping to make a person more favorably disposed toward a theater, an attractive stand encourages larger sales of refreshments.

The exhibitor must strive for simplicity in any modernization work he may decide upon. He must forget about the architectural refinements of years ago. There are two reasons why. The first is the sharp reduction in the available supply of true artisans capable of producing those refinements. The other is the higher expenditures necessary to achieve those refinements. Let us make it clear that by simplicity we do not mean bareness to the point of extreme. Warmth must still be retained, for it is an important factor in any appeal that a theater may have for a patron. Severe bareness is capable of producing a lack of

ALTEC SERVICE gives an exhibitor greater safety — greater value — greater satisfaction

1. National Organization

The Altec organization, being nation-wide, can organize the distribution of manpower so that your theatre is protected every day. More than 200 Altec inspectors are scheduled to give complete coverage to every Altec Service theatre.

2. No Equipment to Sell

Altec Service is exclusively a service organization. We are in business for one purpose only—to provide sound service so complete and technically advanced that your sound system will operate at its peak performance all of the time. Altec is not a manufacturer of complete sound systems and therefore is unbiased and impartial in any recommendation it makes for the improvement of sound in your theatre. This is of vital importance to you in the face of necessary present-day economies.

3. Good Service, Plus

When you contract for Altec Service you get the regular services of an Altec-trained specialist. But you get more. You get the day-in-day-out services of an entire corps of research and development engineers, who work at Altec headquarters in New York and Hollywood.

Science never stands still. At all times, new inventions, new techniques, new modifications of existing techniques, are being developed, to improve both recording and reproduction of sound motion pictures.

All of these new developments are under constant study by the Altec research engineers.

4. Technical Information and Advice Available

Your Altec inspector gets weekly bulletins from headquarters announcing each new development that affects your theatre. Where you can take advantage of the improved box office value of improved sound your Altec inspector will advise you.

The Altec research and development engineers work closely with the engineers of the Academy of Arts and Sciences, and with the Society of Motion Picture Engineers (SMPE). These organizations are working constantly toward the improvement of standards of sound reproduction as they affect theatres, new testing techniques, new measurement methods for the scientific analysis of theatre problems and their solution. The Altec headquarters engineering staff immediately relays to your Altec Service inspector these findings, the new methods, the new testing techniques.

DIVISION AND BRANCH OFFICES

Activities of Altec Service are directed from six division offices, located in New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Oklahoma City, Newark, N. J., and Los Angeles, as well as from branch offices and stock points in Philadelphia, Pa.; Charlotte, N. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Miami, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; Boston, Mass.; Hamden, Conn.; Kansas City, Mo.; Detroit, Mich.; Minneapolis, Minn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Cleveland, Ohio; Dallas and Houston, Tex.; Fresno, Calif.; Phoenix, Ariz.; San Francisco, Calif.; Tucson, Ariz.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Billings, Mont.; Denver, Colo.; Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Baltimore, Md.; S. Norfolk, Va.; and Washington, D. C.

Inquiries addressed to the home office, 161 Sixth Avenue, New York 13, N. Y., or to the nearest division or branch office, will bring full details about Altec Service without obligation.

5. Close Cooperation With Equipment Manufacturers

Protects the Commercial Application of New Techniques in Equipment Design.

The Altec research and development engineers work closely with the development engineers of the manufacturers of sound systems, to bring to the manufacturer the benefit of nation-wide service experience with theatre sound problems. They, in turn, advise Altec of any new improvements.

6. Altec-Designed Test Equipment for Theatre Use

The Altec Service research and development engineers have developed and are constantly improving test films, and test equipment, etc., which are an essential part of the kit which the Altec inspector carries with him when he comes to your theatre. These essential test meters, films, measurement apparatus, and tools—so vital in the servicing of your theatre—are scientific equipment, much of which is exclusive with Altec Service.

7. Altec Repair and Replacement Agreement

You can budget your maintenance cost for sound and projection equipment at a minimum weekly charge by means of an Altec Service and Parts Agreement. Altec Service maintains warehouses and stock points in all parts of the country, and in each of these stock points a constantly replenished back-log of all parts that are most and frequently needed in the booth of your theatre is maintained.

The parts stocked in the 36 Altec points are all pretested for optimum performance, and are "life-tested". These important life-tests are made in Altec Service testing laboratories; all parts, chosen impartially from the products of all manufacturers on the basis of efficiency only, are thus constantly being improved by continuous Altec laboratory testing.

With the cost of parts constantly rising you can effect a saving by budgeting your costs now.

8. Constant Supervision Insures the Best in Service

The headquarters engineering staff of Altec Service receives from each of its inspectors, after every call he makes, a complete, technical report. This insures a constant headquarters supervision of the efficiency of the Altec inspector who visits your theatre. His reports are analyzed by the Research and Development engineers; facts discovered in improving sound in one theatre are immediately applied to all Altec-serviced theatres. All technically useful information is immediately relayed to every Altec inspector. Your theatre benefits by this continuous supervisory process by the Altec research engineers, and a constant check is made to see that the service function of your Altec inspector is always at its best.

9. Television in the Theatre

Altec Service is ready now to supervise installation and provide maintenance for theatre television systems.

THE SERVICE ORGANIZATION OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY interest in a theater that can have an adverse effect on the box office. Remember that a theater exuding warmth is an inviting theater.

Another thing the exhibitor must steer away from in remodeling work on his theater is the grotesque, or an architectural treatment that conveys a sense of confusion. The grotesque and the confusing are undesirable because they defeat the attempt to get a patron in a relaxing and restful mood. It must be borne in mind that any architectural or decorative effect that tends to be enervating will not help to increase patronage.

Let the theater architect and the exhibitor work as a team to build the nation's box office.

1952 SURVEY OF THEATER EQUIPMENT

By LOUIS PELEGRINE
Equipment Editor, THE FILM DAILY

THE MATTER OF GREATEST CONSIDERATION to the theater equipment industry in 1951 was the effect upon it of the national defense program. It was last year that the fullest impact of the rearmament program was experienced by theater equipment manufacturers and supply dealers.

In an attempt to meet defense requirements the National Production Authority slapped restrictions on the use of essential materials needed for the production of motion picture equipment and supplies. The blow to the equipment industry was a smashing one. No choice remained to some manufacturers of theater equipment but to place their reliance on what substitutes could be found for essential materials, or, failing in that, to slice their production to a minimum, to their financial detriment.

Sales of theater equipment and supplies suffered drastically from the cut in production. By taking on government work some of the manufacturers managed to fill the void. The limitations placed by the NPA on theater building and on the amount that could be spent by theaters for new equipment and its installation served to affect adversely the sale of equipment and supplies and to slow down theater modernization and improvement.

NPA Puts $5,000 Ceiling On Cost of Construction

It was in August that the NPA placed a limitation of $5000 on theater construction costs. Later in the year the government agency issued an amended construction order, M-4A, which eliminated the ceiling of $5000. The order replaced the limitation on certain metals listed as vital. Still later, the NPA put into effect its Controlled Materials Plan. At the end of the year it put through an amendment to Regulation No. 5 so that theater owners and equipment makers might find it easier to obtain materials held essential for the installation of equipment in theater structures already established.

The NPA classified theater equipment as "real" or "personal" property to establish a guide for the determination of the cost of renovation. Protests against the listing of certain items, such as chairs, as "real" instead of "personal" property and against the imposition of a ceiling on the cost of renovation work or new equipment came from a variety of sources, one of them being the Theater Equipment and Supply Manufacturers' Association. These protests played an important part in the liberalization of the limit on installation of new equipment.

Campaign to "Buy Now" Is Conducted by Equipment Men

The equipment industry conducted a campaign to encourage the theater man to buy needed equipment right away since it was felt that a shortage of equipment would develop. The "buy now" campaign also was tied to the importance of theater improvement as a means of encouraging patronage at a time when exhibitors were casting about for ways of bettering their business.

In spite of limitations imposed upon them by shortages of essential materials for the production of goods for civilian use, many equipment makers succeeded in bringing out new items during the year. The year was marked especially by expansion in the field of theater television. The list of theater TV systems available to theater men was expanded.

Sparks Theatre, Cooper, Texas, equipped with 690 American Bodiform Chairs

Here's the way you'll feel about them:

American Seating Company:

Permit me to take this opportunity of expressing the great satisfaction I have enjoyed in the use of your American Bodiform Chairs that I installed in my theatre in 1940. The standards are as good today as they were when installed. Not a single one of the 690 purchased from you has had to be repaired. And as you know, I am situated in a small country town where they are pretty rough on seats. I keep a supply of seat covers and padding on hand, and when we find one with cover torn or worn, we slip a new one on. Result: a seat as good as new. Aside from the durability of these, I have never found one that, to my way of thinking, is nearly so comfortable.

Yours very truly,
Henry Sparks, Owner

MANUFACTURERS OF THEATRE, SCHOOL, CHURCH, AUDITORIUM, TRANSPORTATION, STADIUM SEATING, AND FOLDING CHAIRS ater Owners of America in an effort to draw the greatest possible attention to the equipment available from manufacturers and supply dealers for the improvement of theaters came to naught. TESMA and TEDA were compelled to cancel their own joint trade show, which for many years had been held in conjunction with their annual conventions, as result of the NPA restrictions on the use of metals for civilian purposes. The feeling was that the manufacturers would find it impossible under the circumstances properly to stage their exhibits.

TESMA-TEDA in Deal With Allied on Joint Trade Show

At the beginning of 1952 the efforts of TESMA and TEDA to hold a trade show jointly with a national exhibitor organization bore fruit. The theater men's organization was Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors. The joint show was set for Chicago, with Nov. 15-19 as the time. It was announced that the show would be the greatest of its kind ever to be staged, with space to be made available at Chicago's Morrison Hotel for 150 booths for the display of theater equipment and concession items of every conceivable variety.

Last year witnessed the election of J. Robert (Bob) Hoff, sales manager of the Ballantyne Co., as president of TESMA, succeeding Oscar F. Neu, president of the Neumade Products Corp., who had made it clear he did not wish to run for the top office again. Hoff had been vice-president of TESMA. Lee Jones of Neumade Products Corp. became his successor in that post. Roy Boomer was named to succeed himself as secretary-treasurer of the association.

"Movietime U. S. A." Campaign Draws Pledge of Support

The equipment industry's efforts to help the film business in trying to bring more people to the box office included a pledge to support the "Movietime U.S.A." campaign in every territory of the nation.

The year brought the appointment of Nathan D. Golden as director of the motion picture-photographic products division of the National Production Authority.

In 1951 exports of motion picture equipment showed an increase. They amounted to $10,399,599. That was some eight per cent better than the $9,593,478 rolled up in 1950.

The 1951 exports were broken down as follows: Cameras, $1,531,326; projectors, $4,413,216; other equipment, including sound equipment, arc lamps, screens and projection equipment parts, $4,455,057. Compare this with 1950 exports of: Cameras, $1,338,723; projectors, $3,610,173; other equipment, $4,644,582. Last year 18,164 cameras of all kinds and 23,346 projectors of all kinds were exported as against 15,323 cameras and 21,873 projectors in 1950.

Some idea of what was accomplished by the equipment industry in 1951, with indications in some instances of what may be looked for in 1952, will be given by the following reports on the activities of representative equipment firms.

PROJECTION EQUIPMENT

Motiograph Expands Into Visual Education Field

MOTIOGRAPH, INC., expanded into the visual education field during 1951, entering into a long term agreement to manufacture exclusively Victor Animatograph 16-mm sound projectors. In support of the defense effort, Motiograph has been making precision parts for companies manufacturing radar and fine control apparatus. The firm's theater equipment line includes sound reproducing systems, projectors, motor generators, arc lamps and in-car speaker equipment for drive-in theaters. Motiograph engineers are working on some new models of equipment for theaters that may be released in late 1952.

DeVry Corp.'s 1951 Business Put at "New All-Time High"

THE DOLLAR-VOLUME and productive capacity of the DeVry Corp. of Chicago "soared to a new all-time high," according to the firm. Export sales continued to represent a good share of the business, both in 35mm and 16mm equipment. The DeVry "12000 Series" projectors and amplification equipments, for conventional and drive-in theaters, continued to be in high demand. In the 16mm field, many thousands of the new standardized U. S. Armed Forces 16mm projector sets, which DeVry developed for the Government, were delivered. In addition, the lightweight extremely portable, low-priced "DeVrylite" 16mm projectors rolled off the production line for use in schools, churches, business and industry. DeVry anticipates an even bigger year in 1952, which marks its 40th year in the specialized manufacture of motion picture equipment.

Improvements Made in Century Product, With More to Come

ACCORDING to Larry Davee, sales manager of the Century Projector Corp. of New York, 1951 brought "constant improvement" in the firm's projection and sound-reproducing equipment. "Refinements in design and manufacture," he says, "have produced increased efficiency with longer life with less maintenance. Engineering development has given the industry equipment which is practically oilless in operation." Considerable development work was done to further improve the operation of Cinerama (multiple screen) projection for entertainment and training.

"The year 1952," says Davee, "will see further improvements in projector designs and sound reproduction. Water-cooled apertures in the projectors will be adopted more and more as increased arc lamp power is used by larger theaters and drive-ins."

It is expected that developments of drive-in theater equipment will be announced which will give this "new" branch of the industry more economical operation with improved results, according to Davee.

RCA's Professional 16mm Projectors Go on Market

A COMPLETELY REDESIGNED model of the RCA "400" Junior 16mm. sound motion picture projector, described as smaller, easier to operate and nearly 10 pounds lighter than the 1950 model, was featured in the new line of 1951 professional-type 16mm. projectors announced by the RCA Engineering Products Department. In addition the 1951 RCA line included an improved version of the "400" Senior, in which many technical advances were incorporated further to improve the high quality of reproduction it provided and to make it even easier to operate, according to the company. An innovation in the RCA 1951 line was the availability of both the "400" Senior and the "400" Junior in either the easily portable single-case arrangement or the heavier, more powerful double-case design. In addition, several types of wall-type, cabinet-type and re-entrant speakers were available for use in permanent or semi-permanent installations.

Speakers of a new design, affording improved frequency response and sensitivity, were another feature of RCA's 1951 16mm. projector line.

All of the new equipments came complete with fast two-inch f1.6 coated projection lenses, 750-watt lamps, spare reels and other accessories.

Victor Animatograph Business Purchased by Curtiss-Wright

IN MAY, 1951, THE BUSINESS of Victor Animatograph Corp. was purchased from the Curtiss-Wright Corp. by a group headed by Samuel G. Rose, former president and 16mm industry pioneer. The new management announced that the facilities of Motiograph, Inc., would be employed for production of Victor 16mm projectors, while the main office and central service department would remain in Davenport, Ia.

Continuing its established sales and distribution policies, Victor launched a program for the development of new and advanced equipment to add to its line of standard 16mm sound projectors. The first of this new equipment was a low-priced 16mm projector, the Model 60-4 for small-to-medium audiences, which was introduced in January, 1952. This year Victor also plans to introduce a magnetic sound attachment for 16mm projectors and a new 16mm carbon arc projector.

Eastman Kodak's Model 25 16mm Projector in Production

THE EASTMAN KODAK CO. in 1951 had in production its Model 25 16mm projector, described as "a completely professional 16mm projector designed for theatrical and auditorium use where a 16mm projector of the highest quality and performance is desired." Production of this equipment is being continued by the firm this year.

B&H Reports Increase in Popularity of Filmoarc

THE BELL & HOWELL CO. of Chicago reported that its 16mm Filmoarc projectors advanced in popularity last year. The firm pointed out that "the Filmoarc not only provides the high intensity illumination and volume required for successful projection in the largest auditoriums and in outdoor locations, but also the portability necessary for outdoor use." The projector is credited with "easy, safe operation" and with "full film protection." The reflector is rhodium-surfaced. The machine has B&H Filmocoted lenses. It is available in three models.

LaVezzi Makes Improvements Designed to Aid Projection

SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS designed to promote better operation of existing projectors were introduced by the LaVezzi Machine Works of Chicago. Among them were a new type film gate with longer pads and equalized pressure and a new gearing arrangement which, according to Robert V. LaVezzi, general manager-partner, "offers both greater strength and eliminates oil leakage." Currently the company is producing a newly designed intermittent movement. This unit is designed to permit easy replacement of parts right in the booth, should the emergency arise. Additional machine tools are being added to existing facilities to handle the increasing volume of government production which the company is engaged in. Volume of production for 1952 should be 20 per cent to 30 per cent greater than 1951, which was a record post war year, asserts LaVezzi.

Automatic Slide Projector Addition to Genarco Line

IN ADDITION to manufacturing its powerful high-intensity carbon arc spotlights,

Models ME-4 and ME-5, with throws of 400 to 250 feet respectively, Genarco, Inc., of Long Island City, N. Y., will manufacture a nine- and 18-slide automatic slide projector in 1952 called the "Wide-Angle-Oblique Slide Projector." The projector can throw an image of 50 feet by 50 at the close range of 40 feet. The firm says it "foresees extensive possibilities for this new unit in the entertainment field where it can be utilized to advertise oncoming events or to project scenic backdrops and decorative footlight curtains."

Audio-Master Puts Out Low-Cost Slide Projector

A LOW-COST 35mm. slide film projector dubbed the "Magiscope" was a new item put out by the Audio-Master Co. of New York. Simplicity of operation is claimed for the unit, which is light in weight. The projector, which is press-formed, flanged and riveted, has an optically ground and polished three-inch lens which gives flat-field projection without any loss in definition or light transmission. The unit weighs a mere three pounds and five ounces.

Lamp Reflectors Placed in Production by Heyer-Shultz

HEYER-SHULTZ, INC., Cedar Grove, N. J., put into production its 15½-inch, 16-inch and 16½-inch metal reflectors for use in Motiograph Hi-Power, Ashcraft Super-High, Forest electronic Type H, Strong Mighty "90" and National Excellite lamps. It developed "an entirely new" method of cutting absolutely true ellipsoidal curvatures in metal and improved on its film track pin hole plates for use in obtaining true optical alignment of the optical system in the projection booth.

THEATER TV EQUIPMENT

Low-Priced Dual System by Trad Offered by Motiograph

TRAD TELEVISION CORP., of Asbury Park, N. J., appeared on the market with a new direct-projection theater TV system exclusive national distribution rights to which were given to Motiograph, Inc., of Chicago.

The system consists of two complete units for double protection, each duplicating the picture tubes, optics, high voltage and scanning control equipment. To change from one unit to the other in case of trouble requires merely the flipping of a switch located in the projection booth. The system, low-priced, is made up of small compact units the installation of which assertedly requires no special electrical wiring. It is claimed to be simple and economical to operate, with no technicians called for.

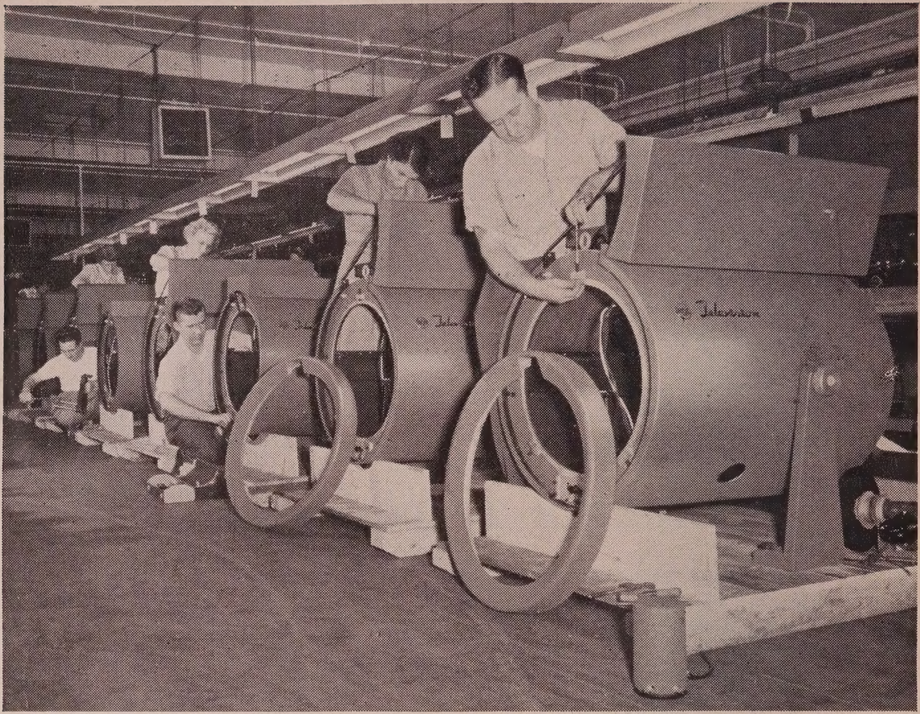
The equipment permits throws up to 150 feet. This, it is pointed out, will enable it to be set up in the booth of the stadium or single-floor type of theater, making installation cheaper and simpler. The system also can be used in rear projection, with a minimum throw of approximately 32 feet. Attainable is a picture of any size up to 24 feet by 18. The equipment is said to provide uniform light distribution on the screen. Projection tubes employed are described as "highly efficient and low cost, requiring a maximum of only 30,000 volts." A built-in ventilating system guards against heating of component parts.

Simplex Direct-View System Announced by Gen. Precision

GENERAL PRECISION LABORATORY announced the Simplex direct-view theater television system, which was credited with offering one of the fastest optical systems ever created. Based on the Schmidt optical system but departing radically from it on some points, the GPL development features a precision corrector lens for perfected image and balanced light distribution over the entire screen. The speed of the lens is f./0.67 basic. A diaphragm is provided for reducing off-axis aberrations at the edges of the screen.

The Simplex system is constructed with many features to make theater installation simpler and to produce consistent high-quality pictures in routine daily use, according to GPL. The projection tube has a suspension mounting that permits removal for cleaning without disturbing the positioning adjustment. The tube is suspended from the top of the barrel, and the tube mounting bracket may be removed through the top with the tube in place. All adjustments and controls for the barrel are at the top, easily accessible without using ladders or catwalks.

GPL designed a re-circulation system for cooling the optical barrel, with the result that it is dust-proof. The same cooling system controls the humidity in the barrel and eliminates arc-over of high voltage. All circuits are protected by a "fail-safe" design. Failure of one component cannot cause failure or injury to any other component. With the preferred throw distance of 65 feet, a picture 20 by 15 feet is obtained. However, the Simplex system may be operated over a wide range from 32 feet and an eight-by-10 picture up to 80 feet and a picture approximately 25 by 19 feet.



Production-line assembly of RCA Theatre-TV projection units speeds equipment deliveries.

THROUGH COOPERATION with Paramount Pictures Corp., Century Projector Corp. of New York was able to offer a high-quality, big-screen theater television system, using 35mm film with high-speed processing. The sytsem was installed in a number of theaters.

RCA Service Continues to Expand Theater TV Efforts

THE RCA SERVICE CO. continued to expand its theater TV activities in 1951. New test equipment was supplied, additional intensive training courses were conducted, and literature on the subject was prepared and distributed to projectionists and exhibitors throughout the country. The number of RCA television equipment installations was quadrupled, and operation of these equipments was closely watched for peak performance. Contracts for record number of trouble-preventing service calls were taken. Another new record was established in the steadily increasing number of exhibitors contracting for parts and tube replacements. A special check-up program was launched early this year to assure peak sound quality and equipment performance for theaters using the RCA Service facilities. This program is designed to safeguard against possible shortages of critical materials and manpower.

International Chairs Designed For Greater Comfort, Luxury

ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE by the RCA theater equipment section of two newly styled theater chairs designed for greater comfort and luxury by the International Seat Corp. of Union City, Ind.

The new chairs, designated as the Padded Back International Model 2300 and the Spring Back International Model 2500, are variations of the International Model 2000 with panel insert back. Model 2300 has an unusually deep, soft, comfortable curved, padded back. The padding consists of one and one-half inches of "Tuflex," a new wood product that does not compress or mat together as do more conventional padding materials. The 24-inch back is made of 20-gauge steel and has a finished weight of approximately 10 pounds, including the metal panels. It is formed with a double curve for extra strength. Model 2500 follows the same general construction as Model 2300 except that spring construction is incorporated in the back, which is four inches deep, with an insert of 30 helical type coils tied to the border with spring wire. The springs are covered with a padding unit employing quilted cotton. The upholstered material is cemented and sewed to a steel rod which is curved to fit into the recess of the back. Popular features of Model 2000 International chair are retained in the new models. These include extra-width seat cushions with full coil-spring-edge construction, amply padded and removable from the seat pan for reupholstering.

A new low-priced, all-veneer theater and auditorium chair of extremely rugged construction, available with smartly styled aisle panels in either of two models, also was added to the catalogue of the theater equipment section of the RCA engineering products department. The chair, International Model 50, features the International hinge action without hinges. Both the back and seat are fashioned from one-piece face veneer of five-ply construction and seven-sixteenths of an inch thickness. The newly designed arm rests are of solid kiln-dried hardwood. The entire seat has been specially engineered for theaters, schools and public auditoriums demanding an economical chair which will provide the ultimate in durability and low-cost maintenance. Either of the end panels may be had in a number of DuPont enameled finishes to match the over-all color scheme of the auditorium.

Stronger Chair Is Placed In Production by Kroehler

PRODUCTION WAS STARTED by the Kroehler Manufacturing Co. of Naperville, Ill., in 1951 on an auditorium chair of new design and appearance designated as Model 1050. The seat features a new type of end overlay and completely new underconstruction said to have been proved by tests to be 75 per cent stronger than the old-type construction. The arms have been streamlined to improve the looks of the chair.

The firm also introduced a new covering for theater seats, a product of DuPont. Chairs upholstered in the new material, a supported vinyl plastic called "Fabrilite," were made available to exhibitors during the year. "Fabrilite," which possesses the appearance of soft fabric, comes in two types, one called "Brocatan" and the other "Tapelle." It is described as tough, cool, cheaper in cost, resistant to stains and easy to clean, only soap and water being required. It is made in a full range of colors.

their homes, the American Seating Co. of Grand Rapids has gone "all out" to make reseating better and more beautiful for theater-owners all over the country. It is pointed out that, coupled with the trend toward modernization, has been the sincere desire on the part of the theater owners to give their patrons that special feeling of "stepping out" for an evening, and they have recognized that personal comfort in attractive seats has a lot to do with creating that feeling. As their part in this situation, American Seating has improved further the styling, comfort and durability of its chairs "so that the theater industry, as a whole, may be correspondingly benefitted in terms of increased activity at the box office," says the company.

American Seating had on the production line in 1951 its new Bodiform retractor theater chair which the firm credited with promoting comfort and relaxation. The seat backs are compound-curved to conform scientifically with the natural contours of the human body. Cushions have spring-arch construction to make them enduringly soft and comfortable. The extra-soft construction at the fore-part of the seat eliminates numbing pressure on the under side of legs. With a slight bodily pressure, the retractor seat swings back on silent, self-lubricating bearings to allow easy access or egress for seatmates and eliminates the need of rising.

1951 "Good" Year for Theater Seating Division of Heywood

THE HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD CO. characterizes last year as "a good one" for its theater seating division, "measured by any kind of yardstick." It holds that "what lies ahead is closely entwined with material allotments and a plant's ability to produce in spite of restrictions."

The firm asserts that TV may prove a blessing in disguise to the theater industry. "It may be the beginning of a new era in theater entertainment in which the physical facilities are the 'added attraction,' not the second feature and the shorts," it argues. "When we talk of making the theater as comfortable as the home, let's keep in mind that many homes don't have seating as comfortable as a good theater chair. Of course, many homes do, and that's the rub! Many theaters haven't added equipment since the advent of sound; they can't compete with television, or any other medium of entertainment. Those houses that have made some major improvements will have to make more in the way of comfort, cleanliness and general appearance."

Griggs Worked to Improve Models in Its Seating Line

WHILE THE GRIGGS EQUIPMENT Co. of Belton, Tex., did not introduce any new models the past year, considerable time, effort, and money has been invested in improving the various models in the firm's All Star theater seating line. Particular emphasis has been put on more durable finishes on the Griggs chairs so that their beauty will be retained under severe use. During the past year the Griggs plant installed a most modern metal cleaning automatic washer. In addition to thoroughly cleaning the metals the washer applies a phosphate coating. The resulting enamel finish baked on in the Griggs infra-red oven provides a tough durable finish on all metal parts on Griggs chairs. Also, improvements have been made to provide greater comfort. An increasing number of solid foam rubber seats and foam rubber padded backs were furnished by the Griggs plant in the past year.

Big Turnout of Replacement Seat Covers by Century

THE CENTURY SEATING CO. of New York City discloses that since the announcement of its seat rehabilitation program last year it has manufactured "upwards of 20,000" replacement seat covers. "This has helped to preserve the appearance and cleanliness of public seating," according to the firm. "There are," asserts the company, "many theaters, first run situations too, that have substantially good chairs, sturdy and without faulty hinges, but with hard box-spring seats. It is mainly in this category that Century has been directing its energies."

To meet the situation the firm turned to the manufacture of a six-inch spring-edge seat with two-piece cover described as "tailor-made to fit the standards of this type of chair, economically priced and affording the greatest degree of comfort short of a new chair."

SOUND EQUIPMENT

Improved In-Car Speaker, Soundhead from Ballantyne

THE BALLANTYNE CO. of Omaha laid claim to a revolutionary development in in-a-car speakers for drive-ins with the announcement by J. Robert (Bob) Hoff, sales manager, of the firm's new AX-90 series speaker bearing the trade name Dub'l Cone. The newcomer to the company's line is credited with remarkable long-lasting properties. The ill effects of sunlight and dampness suffered by present in-car speakers are said to be eliminated by the Dub'l Cone.

The Dub'l Cone four-inch speaker consists of two cones, one superimposed over the other, with an air space of three sixteenths of an inch between. The outside cone floats and operates completely independently of the inside cone, the one being for protection and the other for projection of the sound. Both cones are completely weather-proofed. The sun can dry or bake out, or water can soak the outer cone until it goes to pieces without damage to the inner cone. If the outside cone should be destroyed it can be replaced with a new cone and ring by the drive-in theater owner in a few seconds at the cost of a few pennies. The speaker unit has a heavy 1.47 ounce Alnico 5 magnet which gives two to three times the power of earliest magnet materials. The larger magnet is said to increase the sensitivity of the speaker and to allow for greater-than-standard clearance for the voice coil in the gap.

Ballantyne also unveiled its Royal Soundmaster Model 9 soundhead, which is credited with simpler operation, greater accessibility and flawless fidelity. The all-new soundhead has cushion-mounted exciter lamp assembly in separate housing and standard pre-focus base exciter lamp. The entire unit tips out of the housing at an angle of 45 degrees for simple replacement of exciter lamp. The assembly uses new compression type coil spring lock. The exciter lamp is easily focused with both lateral and vertical adjustments.

The device comes complete with special milled projector mounting plate that attaches to the base of the projector before placing on the soundhead. The plate is channeled for simple, exact positioning and locking, making gear alignment between projector and soundhead a simple matter.

Portable Magnetic Recording Equipment Disclosed by RCA

NEW PORTABLE EQUIPMENT said to represent a marked advance in the usefulness and economy of magnetic recording for motion pictures and television was disclosed by RCA. Substantial savings in costs of both equipment and film stock, as well as increased convenience and flexibility, assertedly are offered by the new equipment (RCA Type PM-64). By using half-width (17½ mm.) at half of the standard release film speed (45 feet per minute instead of 90), the equipment achieves a 75 per cent reduction in film costs, a 40 per cent reduction in recorded weight and a 50 per cent reduction in recorder size, it is claimed.

Altec Lansing Increases Its Production Facilities

THE ALTEC LANSING CORP. opened a new plant in Beverly Hills, Calif., to supplement the production facilities in Los Angeles and New York. The two Hollywood offices were consolidated with the new facilities at 9356 Santa Monica Boulevard. Over 30,000 square feet are devoted to the assembly and testing of loudspeakers and amplifiers and to the complete fabrication of microphones. New testing facilities include several floating "dead" rooms, a plane-wave tube and many racks of testing apparatus. The plant at South McKinley Avenue in Los Angeles was given over to the manufacture of Peerless division transformers and to the machine and metals departments for the fabrication of chassis and other components. Engineering facilities in the new plant and offices were greatly improved, providing what is said to be one of the most up-to-date research and testing labs in the United States for the development of audio and electronic devices for use by civilians and the armed forces.

1951 Proved to Be Banner Year for Westrex Corp.

A BANNER year was celebrated by the Westrex Corp. in 1951. Westrex sound reproducing systems shipped throughout the world showed an increase in 1951 over 1950. Additional lines were taken on during the year to augment the range of quality materials offered by Westrex and its subsidiaries. The same progress was made in orders for studio recording equipment. In addition to the 120 Western Electric and Westrex photographic and magnetic post-war systems installed in the United States shipments of recording channels to foreign countries reached a total of 134 since 1946. These equipments are now in operation in 23 countries.

Westrex' developments during the year included the Series 1100 standard magnetic recording system and the multi-track-magnetic recorder-re-recorder. The Westrex Series 1100 system consists of two principal units, the two-position mixer transmission unit and the magnetic recording machine which also contains the power and auxiliary equipment. This magnetic film equipment has an exceptionally low noise level to take advantage of the high signal-to-noise ratio of magnetic film. The equipment is quiet in operation and is easily transportable. Including microphones, accessories, and interconnecting cables, the complete channel weights only 175 pounds. Westrex developments also featured the RA-1506 multi-track magnetic re-recorder which included the new plug-in variation of the RA-1474 equalized amplifiers.

Big Demand for Equipment Is Disclosed by Reevesound

A BIG DEMAND for equipment was disclosed by the Reevesound Co., Inc., of New York. Among major clients were leading studios in Italy and Brazil and the governments of Iran and Israel. The company furnished sound installations to the Bell Aircraft Corp. and the Rockefeller Foundation. Magicorder systems were delivered to the U. S. Air Force and the Department of State, as well as to Soundmasters, Inc., M.P.O. Productions, National Cine Labs, Byron, Inc., Camera Equipment Co., and the Photo-Magnetic Sound Studios. Technical units were supplied to Eastman Kodak, NBC and Lillis and Murphy, and Magicorders and Magidubbers were shipped to Cairo, Singapore and Israel. Reevesound enlarged its facilities and is featuring new mixing consoles and combination optical and magnetic dubbers for studio rerecording.

Device for Marking Tape Is Developed by Fairchild

THE RESULTS of two and a half years of development work were revealed with announcement of a tape-marking device by the Fairchild Recording Equipment Corp. of Whitestone, N. Y. The device completes the Fairchild Pic-Sync tape recording and playback system, the fourth and last step required to permit the visible marking of quarter-inch tape so that it may be accurately edited, frame by frame, with sprocketed motion picture film.

Visible markings are made on the tape by the new device, including footage, "take" or scene number, frame identification and the equivalent of sprocket holes. While the Fairchild system has used "magnetic sprocket holes" on the tape since the inception of the Pic-Sync technique several years ago, the lack of visible identification of the frame on the sound tape has been a major obstacle in editing the tape quickly and accurately. With the new tape marker it is now possible to employ the same techniques of editing sound and picture tracks as have been in use for many years in the moving picture industry, according to the firm.

A newly designed turntable designated as Model 530 which is said to provide for the first time a third speed without usually required auxiliary attachments also was announced by Fairchild. Model 530 has a built-in three-speed drive for synchronous speeds of 33.3, 45, and 78.26 rpm. A turntable clutch is provided for instantaneous shifting to each speed during operation, which also aids in smooth stopping and starting. This model is the successor to the Fairchild 524 and it includes all the time-proven features of the previous model. Model 530 assertedly provides guaranteed accurate timing at all speeds within limits of AC line frequency to meet exacting requirements for "dubbing" operations as well as on-the-air broadcasting and laboratory applications, turntable noise, rumble and vibration are practically non-existent.

16mm Recorder-Projector Is Announced by Ampro Corp.

AMPRO CORP. of Chicago announced a professional, theater-quality magnetic sound-on-film recorder-projector said to provide an economical means of recording musical accompaniment and commentary, separately or simultaneously, on otherwise silent 16mm. film. The outstanding quality and features of the Ampro "Premier" projector are retained and improved with the added flexibility of the magnetic recording and erasing heads. The "Premier" projector has all of the basic features, including silent and sound speeds, reverse, still picture and fast motor rewind. Cited as an important feature of the newcomer to the Ampro line is the fact that it permits playing of both magnetic and optical recording on the same film without the necessity of switching. Starting and stopping of the projector can be controlled remotely or at the machine. For playback only the operator has all controls at the projector.

AIR CONDITIONING

Its Line for Theaters to Be Expanded by Typhoon

THE 1952 LINE OF TYPHOON air conditioning systems available for theaters will be considerably more flexible and more comprehensive. This year, for the first time, Typhoon will offer water chiller systems for indirect expansion application and multi-packaged systems for larger theaters with space for central plant installation.

Now sold nationally through the theater supply division of RCA, Typhoon packaged units are designed to give maximum cooling at a minimum cost. Wherever possible ductwork is eliminated, and "Zone Control" feature keeps all patrons comfortable regardless of varying degrees of occupancy. The new model 81 unit has been developed especially for theaters and other places of assembly where high latent heat loads create a cooling problem.

During 1951, Typhoon added to its experience in engineering combinations of units to form "multi-package" installation, which combines the advantages of a central plant installation with those of packaged equipment. Typhoon water chiller systems can be applied where zoning ordinances restrict the use of direct expansion systems. Typhoon evaporative condensers, engineered to match each unit size, save up to 95 percent on water bills and are essential where water shortages exist. The new air conditioning units and systems now offered by Typhoon will take care of any theater air conditioning problem or requirement which may arise, according to the firm.

U. S. Air Issues New Models Of Refrigerated Kooler-Aire

REFRIGERATED KOOLER-AIRE, the air conditioning unit which contains all the elements of a central station air conditioning plant including evaporative condenser, in a single package, was offered by the United States Air Conditioning Corp. of Minneapolis in a series of new models featuring two complete refrigeration circuits. The units which have been designated DRK, were designed for economical operation at either full or half capacity, providing self-contained equipment suitable for installations which involve load variations and require true capacity control. Separate refrigeration circuits are arranged to provide effective dehumidificaiton when operating at reduced capacity. The dual-circuit refrigerated Kooler-aire was offered in capacities of 12, 20, 25, 30, 40 and 50 tons. It includes all of the features of the standard RK unit, including easy conversion to a heating plant through addition of a steam or hot water heating coil, built-in evaporative condenser for conservation of up to 95 per cent of the cooling water, minimum space requirements and simple and economical installation. The unit requires only three connections—to ducts, to water supply and drain and to power supply.

Complete Line of Carrier Equipment Available to Exhibs

A FULL LINE of air conditioning equipment designed for use in theaters and other auditoriums was offered last year by the Carrier Corp. of Syracuse, N. Y., within the limitations of the defense program. The list included five models of packaged Weathermakers for air conditioning large spaces, an improved cooling tower for recirculating water used by the Weathermakers, a complete range of central station equipment and reciprocating, centrifugal and absorption refrigeration units for larger air conditioning installation.

Savings in scarce materials were achieved through elimination of certain models using a high proportion of critical metals and increasing unit capacities in others. The five self-contained Weathermaker models were improved functionally and in appearance and produced in three, five, seven and a half, 10 and 15 horsepower sizes. Humitrol controls on the two larger units were simplified, and these two models also were equipped with new, higher horsepower fan motors for easy adaption to either plenum or duct air distribution. Color was changed from copper beige to surf green.

Carrier's sales volume for fiscal 1952 was expected to expected to be "a little better" than that for last year when it came close to $81,000,000, a record for the company. The anticipated increase would make the firm's 1952 profits as large as 1951's.

Trane Brings Out Automatic Unit for Chilled Water

AMONG MAJOR CONTRIBUTIONS to theater air conditioning in 1951 was an automatic unit for supplying chilled water for air conditioning systems introduced by the Trane Co. of La Crosse, Wisconsin. Named the "Centravac," this brand-new unit is a centrifugal compressor. It adjusts its cooling output and power consumption to the requirements of the air conditioning system. During "standing room only" periods the compressor operates quietly and efficiently. As the house thins out or peak cooling periods are passed, the "Centravac" automatically cuts down its cooling and at the same time requires less electricity. Freon, non-toxic and non-inflammable, is employed.

Trane also offers a complete line of other air conditioning equipment—fans to circulate air, coils to heat and cool, humidify and dehumidify the air, reciprocating compressors, climate changers, and self-contained air conditioners.

SCREENS

Wide-Angle Screen of New Type Is Disclosed by RCA

A MAJOR IMPROVEMENT in the pictorial presentation of motion pictures which does away with the conventional black masking of the screen was disclosed by the theater equipment division of RCA. The improvement consists in a wide-angle screen of a new type that features side wings and a top panel which pick up and reflect diffused light from the picture, imparting to the patron a new and dramatic sense of realism by making the action on the screen appear to occupy a larger portion of his field of vision.

Designed by theater architect Ben Schlanger and his associate, William Hoffberg, the new screen, which is marketed by RCA, is made of RCA Snowhite screen material, a heavyweight Firestone "Velon" plastic. Because the wings projecting from the screen are not directly lighted but only pick up illumination from the screen, the intensity of light and the predominant color these panels reflect will vary and remain continuously proportionate to those present in the picture on the screen.

cloramic" screen manufactured by the Pacific Coast equipment house. The company reported it had to work around the clock in an attempt to keep pace with the demand for the screen from exhibitors in all sections of the country.

"Steady Progression" in Sales Reported by Raytone Corp.

RAYTONE SCREEN CORP. of Brooklyn, N. Y., reports that volume of sales in 1951 moved "in a steady progression that started in 1949." The firm says that Pantex, its all-vinyl film projection screen, "has found wide acceptance in both the domestic and foreign markets." The screen assertedly has the advantage of lower cost, is completely fireproof, mildewproof, essentially tear-proof, indefinitely pliable, can be shipped folded, has higher brightness gain and is impervious to stains of all kinds, being easily washable without any ill effects. Absolutely clean perforations are possible with this new material. Pantex exceeds by far all the requirements and specifications of the SMPTE for whiteness and brightness. Its high performance makes it acceptable for the projection of both regular suprex and television images.

Raytone has been much concerned with panoramic vision for theaters. Exhibitors can achieve this wide angle viewing by increasing the size of projected images to as much as one-third the maximum viewing distance, as was done in many progressive theaters during 1951. House and stage lighting are an important factor in this regard. The Ballantyne Co. of Omaha now handles Pantex screens.

Plant Facilities Expanded By Radiant Manufacturing Corp.

WITH THE ADDITION of a new finishing plant and executive offices, the Radiant Manufacturing Corp. of Chicago, producer of projection screens, increased floor space by 20 per cent. The new building houses sales, advertising and additional engineering offices. The addition will increase efficiency and allow room for additional expansion, the company says.

Trans-Color's Convex Screen In Production This Year

WORD FROM OTTO HEHN, president of the Trans-Color Screen Co., Charlotte, N. C., as 1951 faded out was that the firm's new convex screen "will be in production during the year 1952." He asserted that "the output will be limited only by the quantity of materials available."

The Trans-Color screen is constructed according to a mathematical formula which approximates the structure of the human eye. The illusion of figure, depth, space and distance results. The picture is said to be free from distortion no matter from what angle it is viewed. Eye strain assertedly is eliminated due to polarization of light upon the surface of the screen. Economy in operation results from the use of the screen since the light from the projector is concentrated by reason of the construction of the screen, according to Hehn.

Da-Lite Activity in Theater Field Reported "Very Mild"

THE DA-LITE SCREEN CO. of Chicago describes its activity in the theater field in 1951 as "very mild." A reason cited by the firm was the necessity of withdrawing its Vinyl mat white projection screen fabric resistant to mildew and flame. The company later was able to restore the V-1 fabric to its theater screen line. Da-Lite announces that its activity in the theater field this year "will be stepped up." It says plans for 1952 activities "should reach their peak about the middle of the year."

SCREEN TOWERS

Ballantyne Made Distributor Of Prefab Screen Tower

THE BALLANTYNE CO. of Omaha was designated as exclusive distributor of the new Boyer prefabricated screen tower. The tower, completely prefabricated and manufactured under Ballantyne supervision in Omaha, was designed to comply with the restriction on the use of steel imposed under the National Production Authority's amended M-4A order. It requires less than half a ton of steel.

The picture area on the Boyer screen tower is 35 feet high by 48 wide. The entire structure measures 56 feet from ground to top. Constructed of first-grade lumber and using heavy bracing timbers measuring four by four inches to eight by eight inches, all members are precut and drilled, with Teco split ring timber connectors used on all stress joints. The tower is close braced for maximum strength. Cited as one unusual feature of the tower is that the entire picture screen and border area are covered with shiplap for strength and protection, with a transite screen facing placed over the shiplap to insure a flat picture surface.

Because of its simple construction and assembly, it is estimated that the tower can be completely assembled and ready for use within four days after arrival at the drive-in site. The price includes all hardware and the transite screen facing, as well as a ladder and catwalk which are an integral part of the tower.

CARPETING

Contemporary Treatment Marks Smith-Masland Line for 1952

PAUL GARST, manager of the contract division of Alexander Smith, Inc., and C. H. Masland & Sons, announced several additions to the firm's line of contract carpeting for 1952. All the additions are up-to-the-minute concepts of modern design and have a distinctly contemporary flavor.

In the Smith line, two new versions of Touraine and Saxony qualities have been added in grey, beige and green colorations. These are available in blends of wools and carpet rayons, as well as in all wool. A new pattern in the Edgewood quality made its appearance in a brand-new moresque color line—beige, grey and green. It is the first time Edgewood has been available in "moresque" colorations, which have a dark and light pebbled look. Edgewood also comes in two plain greys, plain walnut and plain green. Among the additions to the Masland line are three new figured velvets: Amber, a contemporary floral for modern interiors; Donora, an abstract design in three colorations, and Tyrone, a modern treatment of a leaf design in self colors. All three new patterns are excellent choices for theaters, restaurants, motels, hotels, etc. In Masland's Oakdale quality, new colors made their debut. News in the Oakdale quality centers around the dark red and green mottled colors in a basket-weave effect.

Last year Alexander Smith announced a large-scale modernization program and plans to increase the firm's carpet output. It was estimated the modernization program would set the firm back as much as $14,000,000 plus. Between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 was earmarked for complete realignment and modernization of the company's mill at Yonkers, N. Y.

Wool-Rayon Carpet Created By Leedom for Theaters

THE THOMAS L. LEEDOM CO., which makes a special line of theater carpet distributed through RCA, developed "one or two numbers" of wool and rayon for the theater field, it was revealed by Dwight L. Lawton, president of the firm. Lawton asserts that wool-rayon blends, which are being more widely adopted in an attempt to beat the mounting costs of manufacturing all-wool carpets, "are here to stay and will gradually cut in very badly into the wool business."

Lees' Line for 1952 Called Greatest in Firm's History

THIS YEAR'S CARPET LINE of James Lees and Sons Co. is termed by J. L. Eastwick, president, as the greatest in the history of the firm. A total of 73 new items were on display at the winter markets held from coast to coast. In discussing the outlook for this year J. H. McFarland, vice-president in charge of sales and marketing director, asserts that "in order for the carpet business to capitalize on the anticipated 1952 prosperity, goods will have to be made attractive enough to make the consumer want to buy them."

Many New Designs for 1952 Are Added by Karagheusian

AS A LARGE SUPPLIER of theater carpeting A. & M. Karagheusian of New York, manufacturer of Gulistan contract carpeting, installed many thousands of yards of carpeting in theaters throughout the nation in 1951 and is even better equipped to do so in 1952, says the firm, which has added many new designs for 1952. Asserts the firm: five and a quarter inch silvered glass re- "A definite change of pace is the desire for softer colors. Many theater owners are now seeking to create a relaxed, home-like atmosphere in formerly elaborate theaters and in the new theaters being built. And many have asked Karagheusian to design special patterns for them with this idea in mind. In addition to this, A. & M. Karagheusian has included several softer designs in its wide range of available contract patterns."

LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

Strong Out With Incandescent Spotlight for Small Houses

A NEW INCANDESCENT spotlight for small theaters, known as the "Trouperette," was introduced by the Strong Electric Corp., Toledo, in 1951. This spotlight projects six and a half times brighter head spots, with a sharp edge from head spot to flood. As contrasted to conventional incandescent spotlights, with which the spot size is varied solely by irising, to result in substantial light loss, the "Trouperette" utilizes all the light through most of the spot sizes. It has a variable focal length objective lens system, five and a quarter inch silvered glass reflector, Fresnel lens, and uses a standard 115-volt, 1000-watt prefocused projection-type bulb. The horizontal masking control can be angled at 45 degrees in each direction. A fast operating color boomerang accommodates six slides. It comes with a height-adjustable mounting stand and plugs into any 110-volt convenience outlet.

Important Kliegl Development Won Acceptance Last Year

ONE IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT in the field of lighting last year was the acceptance of the new-style Kliegboards and Rotolector switchboards for theaters, schools and television studio production. The simplified control and superior flexibility of the equipment, made by the Kliegl Bros. Universal Electric Stage Lighting Co. of New York, eliminate the use of great quantities of dimmers and at the same time produce more perfect control of the lighting systems. At press time the company said it expected to announce this year its new electronic switchboard with pre-set controls to be used in conjunction with its Rotolector (selector) circuiting.

"New modern stage lighting methods coupled with new lighting equipment wiring methods and switchboards," says Vice-President Herbert A. Kliegl, "means that the market for stage lighting in theaters and schools has reopened and will once again give us the finest stages anywhere and reactivate the interest of the public in the theater as a whole."

Its Lighting Equipment Is Strengthened by Chas. Ross

SO CONFIDENT was President Charles Ross of an increase in Eastern production that he put into effect plans to augment still further the stock of equipment carried by Charles Ross, Inc., of New York, sole Eastern agent for Mole-Richardson Co. of Hollywood.

The firm, one of the world's largest handling lighting and grip equipment and generators, announced it was experimenting with new and larger lighting equipment to be distributed for the Mole-Richardson Co. According to Ross, this new equipment would add considerably to the success of production in the East. Ross said that Mole-Richardson was at work also on other equipment which would be added to his firm's stock.

LAMPS

New Hertner Transverter To Power Excelite Lamps

A NEW POWER supply unit designed for use with the new Excelite 55,000 type lamps in drive-in and large indoor theaters was announced by the Hertner Electric Co. Known as the Type "HS" transverter, it incorporates all of the outstanding characteristics of other Hertner transverter models as well as a new power conversion application for the new type lamps and carbons. The "HS" transverter is equipped with a 20 H.P. motor operating at 1750 R.P.M. and a 75-volt generator. The generator is extremely economical for operating carbons at 50 to 63 volts. This new transverter incorporates sufficient amperage output rating for 115 amperes with an ample capacity for 230 ampere changeover, thus providing greater range of flexibility, according to the firm. The entire power supply equipment for the new lamp consists of the "HS" transverter motor generator set, a control panel, and a new "HSD" dual ballast rheostat with 5 to 51 volt range with 65 to 100 ampere rating.

CARBONS

Improvement in Projection Set As Aim of National Carbon

THE MAJOR CONTRIBUTION of National Carbon during 1951 was the maintenance of the supply of carbons well above actual demand in spite of the shortage of materials caused by the requirements of the national defense emergency. Supplies are currently being kept at this same relative level.

The firm said its objective for 1952 was to bring about an improvement in projection conditions as revealed by the report of the SMPTE screen brightness committee.

"A consistent effort will be made to show that the exhibitor has within his power, and in many cases with his present equipment, the means of increasing his screen brightness merely by increasing the operating amperage on the carbon trim," said the firm. "Studies have shown that the screen lighting of about one in four theaters is inadequate. A small increase in amperage will materially aid these theaters in showing their pictures to the best advantage."

Many Advances in Drive-in Field Reported by Lorraine

LORRAINE CARBONS, INC., of Boonton, N. J., made many advances in the drive-in field. The firm specifically manufactured a "Super 8" grade 544-10C trim for small operations requiring increased light. This trim will operate economically from 65-72 amps., 35-40 volts. In these same lamps, many drive-ins have changed the jaws to take an 8mm and 9mm copper-coated carbon. Lorraine met this demand with an 8mm and 9mm pairing that many drive-ins are using up to 80 amps. Available is a new special copper-coated 9mm carbon and special coring rated for 85-90 amps. The Lorraine positive black carbons, 9mm, 10mm, and 11mm, in the 20-inch lengths, paired with their proper negatives, have a range from 70 to 115 amps. When paired with their proper negative are said to give a brighter, smoother, snow-white, projection light, plus even distribution on the entire screen.

Lorraine carbons were being improved in the interests of better projection. Not only are the high intensity Lorraine carbons capable of performing in drive-ins today at 200 amps., but there are carbons now available for the new Ariarc lamps and the Ventarc lamps now in operation in foreign fields.

Norpat Acquires Distribution Of Hanover Carbon Burner

NORPAT SALES, INC., of New York took over world-wide distribution of the Hanover continuous carbon burner, which assertedly cuts carbon costs in regular operation by as much as 25 per cent besides improving the quality of projection. Manufactured by the Hanover Continuous Carbon Burner Co. of Philadelphia, the device is said to enable the exhibitor to burn carbons "right down to the last inch without loss of light, without risk." Better projection is achieved through improvement of light distribution on the screen and the creation of more light, according to M. D. (Doc) Faige, managing director of Norpat.

LENSES

Snaplites in "Reasonable Quantities" from Kollmorgen

IN SPITE OF the National Production Authority's establishment of controls on essential materials, such as aluminum, which is used in making lens mounts, the Kollmorgen Optical Corp. of New York was able to make its Snaplite lenses available in "reasonable quantities" in 1951.

Loew's Turns to New B&L Lens to Aid "Vadis" Showing

THE NEW HIGH-SPEED long-range projection lens developed by the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. of Rochester, N. Y., to give greater picture clarity went into some 150 Loew's theaters in the United States so that M-G-M's Technicolor spectacle, "Quo Vadis?" might have the benefit of the finest possible projection to the boxoffice advantage of the production.

According to M. H. Stevens of Bausch & Lomb's scientific instrument division, the six-element f/2.0 lens "was designed specifically to improve screen illumination and provide greater center-to-edge picture clarity in long-throw houses and drive-in theaters." Focal lengths for the new Super Cinephor lens series range from five and one-quarter inches through seven inches. The lens combinations are joined permanently by means of a heat-resistant cement and are mounted securely in a one-piece, dirt and moisture-proof aluminum barrel.

Projection Optics Cancels New Products for Pic Biz

PROJECTION OPTICS CO. of Rochester, N. Y., set aside all plans for new products for the motion picture industry because the firm "is slowly but surely going all-over to war production" and found itself "unable to fill many present commitments," it was disclosed last year by President Fred E. Aufhauser. It was made clear by Aufhauser, however, that the firm "will continue to produce its present line of Superlite lenses" and is pledged to keep up its efforts to improve its product as new ideas are developed.

Back's New Wide-Angle Lens Available for 16mm

NEW YORK'S F. G. Back Video Corp.'s new F/1.3, 15mm., wide-angle Balowstar lens was made available to 16mm motion picture camera users. Designed by Dr. Frank G. Back, creator of the Zoomar lens of motion picture and television fame, the lens is said to be the fastest fully-corrected wide-angle type in the history of lens making. Providing speed to spare, the new 12-element coated lens makes it possible to make films under the most adverse light conditions, according to Jack A. Pegler, president. Scenes that heretofore were out of reach of the camera's eye now can be reached faithfully in either black-and-white or color. What is held to be the highest resolving power ever to be built into a high-speed, wide-angle lens assures brilliance, detail, and contrast over the entire picture frame, with no falling off of light values around the edges nor any perceptible reduction in resolution toward the corners.

SIGNS

Plan for Stocking Letters Put Into Effect by Wagner

A PLAN WHEREBY the theater owner can purchase a minimum font of changeable letters on his original order and then purchase additional letters for each change of copy until he has on hand an adequate stock was instituted by Wagner Sign Service, Inc., Chicago. This contribution to the theater equipment field was made possible by the establishment and maintenance of ample stocks of letters in the leading theater supply houses in most film centers.

Among the theater supply companies carrying such stocks are: Albany Theater Supply Co., Albany; Alexander Theater Supply Co., Pittsburgh; Capitol Theater Supply Co., Boston; Eastern Theater Supply Co., Buffalo; Joe Hornstein, Inc., New York; Missouri Theater Supply, Kansas City; Modern Theater Equipment Co., Dallas; Monarch Theater Supply Company, Inc., Memphis, Tenn.; Oklahoma Theater Supply, Oklahoma City; B. F. Shearer Co., Los Angeles, Portland, San Francisco, Seattle; Southwestern Theater Equipment Co., Dallas and Houston; Western Service & Supply, Denver.

Economical Drive-in Signs Turned Out by Poblocki

A GROUP of economical luminous fluorescent drive-in attraction and name signs was presented by Poblocki & Sons Co. of Milwaukee. The signs are available in either single or double face. Intended especially for small drive-ins, the signs serve the same purpose as incandescent illuminated changeable letter attraction signs at one half the maintenance cost, one half the original cost and one fourth the electrical current, according to the firm. They are designed for the use of Adler or Wagner changeable letters, also for low-cost letters manufactured of tempered presswood that can be used for a year or two until the exhibitor's budget warrants buying permanent cast aluminum letters. The signs are entirely of metal. Illumination is maintained with three 150-watt and six 40-watt fluorescent lamps with black light filters.

TITLING EQUIPMENT

Paillard Offers Bolex Titler With Professional Features

PAILLARD PRODUCTS of New York put on the market a new Bolex movie titler credited with possessing many professional features. The device is said to be of an ingenious design that speeds up and simplifies the operator's work considerably. It assertedly eliminates entirely the need for a lengthy preliminary adjustment of the camera position and the use of flimsy and hastily-contrived settings and makes it possible to produce with ease and accuracy the most varied cinematographic tricks. The titler can be set up either vertically or horizontally and operates equally well in either position, according to the company. The titler can be supplied either alone as a basic titling set intended chiefly for making simple titles or equipped with a set of accessories for the most complicated trick effects when shooting fancy titles or special types of settings.

POPCORN EQUIPMENT

Manley Presents Newcomer For Over-Counter Sales

A POPCORN MACHINE for counter service was shown to theater men for the first time by Manley, Inc., of Kansas City. Except for the fact that it permits over-the-counter service the machine is identical to the company's Aristocrat. The newcomer has the same features as the Aristocrat. The kettle has a capacity of 12 to 16 ounces of corn for popping. The machine is held capable of popping $45 worth of popcorn per hour.

Cretors Manufactures Popper Considered Aid to Economy

A POPCORN MACHINE promoting economy was the newest of the equipment made by C. Cretors & Co. of Chicago. The popper is designated as the Hollywood Jr. 55. Thirty inches wide, 20 deep and 66 high, the compact unit has an automatic cover lift, illuminated one-piece plexiglas dome, hinged plexiglas doors and stainless steel corner trim. It pops corn directly in salt and seasoning. Ample storage space is provided in the base. All parts are easily accessible for rapid cleaning.

Supurdisplay on Market With Popcorn Butter-Mat

SUPURDISPLAY, INC., of Milwaukee was on the market with a butter dispenser called the Butter-Mat which assertedly enables theater men to realize greater profits from the sale of popcorn. Speed and accuracy of operation are advantages held of importance where there is a heavy business in popcorn. Measuring 12 by 15 by 15 inches, the Butter-Mat can be placed on top of the popcorn warmer or attached to the machine or warmer. It has a transparent plexiglas dome permitting customers to see the revolving pan of butter. Serving as an attractive eye-catcher is an illuminated translite in brilliant natural color. The device is constructed of stainless steel for durability, cleanliness and beauty. The spout is drip-proof. A handy trip bar releases an accurate charge of butter when the box of popcorn is pressed against it. The Butter-Mat operates on AC current at 700 watts and 120 volts.

PROCESSING EQUIPMENT

Bridgamatic Processor for TV Film Offered by S.O.S.

ADDED TO ITS LINE of equipment last year by the S.O.S. Cinema Supply Corp. of New York was what was held to be the most compact 16mm reversal automatic machine ever designed. The machine was the new Bridgamatic TV Special. Measuring slightly under eight feet long by three wide by two high and weighing 400 pounds, this latest in a long line of Bridgamatic processors is credited with many outstanding features. It contains nine stainless steel tanks (two more than usual), feed-in elevator with rising indicator, daylight loading magazine with unique swinging door and spraybar in final wash tank. The Bridgamatic TV Special develops and dries automatically 720 feet of fast process (DuPont 330) film per hour, positive at 800 feet per hour, negative at 180 feet per hour and soundtrack at 250 feet per hour. The film leaves the machine dried and reeled ready for projection or printing.

PRINTING EQUIPMENT

EK Sprocket Aids Making Of Prints from Old Pix

MAKING NEW PRINTS from shrunken, older motion picture films will be less of a problem through use of a new variable-pitch sprocket developed in Eastman Kodak Research Laboratories. The device has a unique sprocket tooth whose driving face is a plane lying on a radius of the sprocket. This is used to improve longitudinal registration of the film over that obtained with conventionally shaped, curved profile teeth. The sprocket, with a supporting drum, accommodates shrinkage through varying pitch. Flutter in sound prints and steadiness in picture prints made on a sprocket of this type in a 16mm printer are substantially independent of film shrinkage and markedly better than in prints made on conventional printers, according to Eastman Kodak.

Printer From Holland Is Offered in U. S. by S.O.S.

A CONTINUOUS PRINTER known as the "Micop," imported from Holland, was offered to laboratories by S. O. S. Cinema Supply Corp. of New York, exclusive U. S. distributor of the equipment. Built along existing professional lines, the "Micop" is intended for small producers as well as microfilmers, TV, schools and colleges. Printing speed is 25 to 35 feet per minute. Large laboratories assertedly have found the device handy for printing small runs of film without disturbing normal production.

A removable slide for sound track allows full aperture and a weighted roller provides for continuous loop film strip printing. A diaphragm built into the slit adjusts the density of the print with 10 numbers illuminated on a dark-green glass, visible in the darkroom. This also serves as a pilot light. A special six-volt five-ampere lamp regulated by a sliding resistance coupled to a voltmeter provides light control.

To fill the demand for a larger production machine, S. O. S. made available high speed "Micop" printers with 90-foot per minute capacity. They are similar to the standard "Micop" except for its special 100-watt lamp with cooling blower and 1200-foot flanges. All "Micop" models are available in either 16mm. or 35mm.

CURTAIN CONTROLS

Two-Phase Expansion Plan Adopted by Automatic Devices

AT THE BEGINNING of 1951 the Automatic Devices Co. of Allentown, Pa., announced expansion plans calling for the introduction of several new products to the trade. Later in the year the first phase of this plan materialized with the introduction of "Steelite," a new curved cyclorama track. Available for three types of assembly (endless cord, single direction cord, and walk-around) this track is believed to be the answer for stages where diversified settings are desired and where it is necessary that the size of the stage be increased or decreased at regular and various intervals.

At the turn of the new year the company found itself in the second phase of expansion with the appearance on the market of a compact miniature curtain control called "Tom Thumb." Recommended for lightweight draperies, this smallest addition to the ADC curtain control line is most adaptable for short track spans. It is a versatile machine, modern in design, and can be placed on the floor, wall, window sill, or on the track itself. It can be remotely operated and can be stopped, started, or reversed at any point along the travel.

FILM SPLICERS

Maurer Comes Up With Simple Splicer for Magnetic Film

J. A. MAURER, INC., of Long Island City placed in production what it holds to be the simplest type of splicer for magnetic film so far to make its appearance. The device was designed by the Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C. The present model is for use with double-perforated magnetic film, but the splicer will be available also for single-perforated stock, it was said. The splicer, which is medium-priced, was described as small and compact and capable of being operated by anyone "without the least training or experience." It makes a diagonal splice said to prove "extremely strong." Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. adhesive tape is employed as the holding agent. The tape is automatically notched by the splicer.

COIN CHANGERS

New Models Are Placed in Production by Coinometer

NEW 1952 MODELS of the Coinometer were placed in production in 1951 by the Coinometer Corp. of Chicago. President D. H. Finke disclosed that "some new innovations" were incorporated into the equipment to enhance its value to the theater operator. An upward trend in the business of the firm was reported by Finke.

Provides Means for Converting Coin Changer to Roll-Out Type

METAL PRODUCTS ENGINEERING, INC., of Los Angeles brought out a base for the conversion of its "M. P. Jr." coin changer to a roll-out type. The changer fits on top of the base. There are no attachments. Coins are released in the usual manner and are caught in a coin cup on the left side of the base. The base is made to accommodate either old or new "M. P. Jr." changers.

TICKET TAKERS

General Registers' 2-X-1 Automaticket Is Presented

NATIONAL THEATER SUPPLY in 1951 introduced the 2-X-1 ticket control system designed and built for it by General Register Corp. of Long Island City, N. Y. The 2-X-1 system employs as a basis for its control a radical departure from former control systems in that the ticket used is of a different design and shape. The ticket is two inches wide by one inch long. The old-fashioned ticket has always been one inch wide and 2 inches long. Reversing the dimensions on the 2-X-1 ticket enables it to be cancelled without folding. The doorman simply has to separate the issue along the preprinted vertical perforation regardless of whether the issue is for one, two, three, four or five tickets.

In 1952 no radical new equipment is planned by General Register. Modifications and improvements to both the standard Automaticket and National's 2-X-1 Automaticket have been made. "Our concentration will be on sales and advertising to help the industry to standardize on proper box office control systems," says W. C. Stober, general sales manager. In 1951 Saul Hammer was made general manager of the firm. His plans for 1952 operations include a rather heavy emphasis on the theater trade. "He feels that regardless of our past successes in installation of our equipment in practically all first-class theaters many improvements on complete control can still be offered to the theaters," asserts Stober.

REELS

Two Advancements in 1951 Are Claimed by Tayloreel

THE TAYLOREEL CORP. of Rochester, N. Y., announced two advancements. In the 35mm field it developed a reel with a new center core that reduces wobble to a negligible factor. In the 16mm field, for high quality projection and export use, the company developed flared reels. These reels are so engineered as to bend away from the film instead of toward the film. There is also a novel loading method that prevents breakage of trailer and leader. In larger capacities this design has become the standard for government agencies.

Tayloreel's project for 1952 is a completely new long-wearing, true-spinning cast projection reel which it proposes to market for the fall season.

VELON PLASTIC, made by the Firestone Plastics Co. of Pottstown, Pa., a subsidiary of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., was put to use by the Page Panel Co. of Cresskill, N. J., in the manufacture of a new product for covering walls. The washable covering consists of 12-inch square blocks called "Page Panels" which have bevelled edges and are tongued and grooved for perfect fit. The panels are of high-quality insulating board permanently covered with durable Velon plastic sheeting resistant to stains and everyday soil. The plastic has an antique-leather finish and comes in a variety of wood tones and smart colors. The panels are easy to install and moderate in cost and promote economy since they eliminate expense for upkeep. The velon merely has to be wiped clean. The panels are applied directly over concrete, cinder block, brick, wood or plaster.

Goodrich Produces Plastic Tile Flooring for Lobbies

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO. was out with a new type vinyl plastic asbestos tile flooring for use in theater lobbies and rest rooms. The addition to the company's line combines toughness and beauty. Available in 18 colors and measuring nine inches by nine, the flooring is resistant to fire and mild solutions of acid, gasoline, naphtha, alcohol and other solvents.

TICKETS

Int'l Develops Equipment for Making Tickets of New Type

THE INTERNATIONAL TICKET CO. of Newark last year kept abreast of the times by developing special equipment for the production of the new type of machine-folded tickets for use in connection with the new General Register machine. The ticket employs a new and more positive accounting method. The firm also improved its equipment in the interest of better quality. It expanded its production of all forms of amusement tickets, covering machine-folded, roll, reserve-seat and coupon-book type tickets.

Globe Turns Out Ticket With Snap Perforation

THE GLOBE TICKET CO., Philadelphia, added to its production an improved ticket with snap perforation for use with the 2-X-1 Automaticket admissions control system made by the General Register Corp. The ticket has a hole smack in the middle. The stub is separated from the ticket with a snap, saving time and assuring neatness. According to the company, the ticket avoids all chances of palming, hiding or other hocus-pocus on the part of the ticket taker and eliminates folding, errors and waits.

ELECTRIC PLANTS

New 3,000-Watt Diesel Is Put on Market by Onan

A NEW 3,000-WATT Diesel electric plant, powered by an air-cooled full-Diesel Onan engine, was announced by D. W. Onan & Sons of Minneapolis. Simplified plant design makes it possible for anyone to operate and service this Model 3DSP-1E Diesel unit, according to the firm. Push-switch control for electric cranking, manual compression release and an electrically heated glow-plug for cold weather starting are provided. The plant is driven by an improved four-cycle single-cyl- porate many new engineering features that have increased power output and operating efficiency. The firm says exceptional operating economy has been achieved.

The compact and easily installed Model inder Onan DSP Diesel engine said to incor- 3DSP-1E generates 115-volt, 60-cycle, single-phase current. Other AC models available in single-phase produce 23 volts and 115/230 volts. A 32-volt battery charging model can also be supplied. All models are conservatively rated to provide ample overload protection.

VENDING EQUIPMENT

Supervend Provides Drink Dispenser of Improved Type

A THREE-FLAVOR cup-drink vendor of improved type was claimed by Supervend Sales Corp. of Chicago. The machine has a width of 33 inches, a depth of 25 inches and a height of 68 inches. The capacity of the carbonator is 5 gallons per hour, making 320 six-ounce drinks. The machine is equipped with Dixie automatic dispensers with a capacity of 600 cups. Fiberglas insulation, change maker, anti-jack pot, germicidal lamp to insure sanitation, adjustable carbonation to meet popular approval and fully automatic controls are features of the machine, which has pre-cooling tank of stainless steel. Servicing is said to be a "very simple" job.

MATTING

American Matting for Use Behind Refreshment Counters

THE AMERICAN MAT CORP. of Toledo added to its roster of products a floor matting for use behind refreshment counters and in theater aisles. The newcomer is called Air-Tred. The matting is of sponge rubber with a resilient and long-wearing top surface. Assertedly it does not stretch, mat or break down, is mothproof and cleaned with ease with vacuum or damp mop. It is one-fourth inch thick and comes in widths of 36 and 48 inches and in any length up to 60 feet. Air-Tred can be had in black or maroon.

Matting With Geometrical Pattern From U. S. Rubber

A NEW RUBBER MATTING with a geometrical design which is highly decorative and non-slip and has excellent foot-cleaning properties was developed by the United States Rubber Co. According to the firm, it has a unique three-dimensional pattern which combines attractiveness with practicality. It is available in the standard size mats of 24 inches by 30 inches or by the yard in 30-inch widths. It comes in four colors—black, maroon, red and green.

FIRE-FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

More Equipment to Battle Theater Fires from Alfco

THREE NEW LIGHTWEIGHT stainless steel fire extinguishers—foam, soda-acid and water types—were additions to the American-La-France-Foamite Corp. line of equipment regarded as an aid to theater safety. The extinguishers, which have a capacity of two and a half gallons, are assertedly "twice as strong as the old style fabricated copper units" besides being half as heavy without the charge. They are of all-welded construction and are corrosion-resistant inside and out. Elbows and collars are silver brazed. There are no lead solder banks and no acid fluxes. All three carry new indestructible labels in color that are an integral part of the shells and are unremovable, more legible and more easily cleaned, according to the firm.

Alfco also made available during the year a one-quart stored pressure extinguisher of the most modern design held extremely simple to use.

WOODEN ENCLOSURES

Habitant Looks for 30 to 40 Per Cent Boost in Sales

ITS 1951 SALES of rustic wood fences to drive-ins were under the 1950 total, reports Habitant Fence, Inc., of Bay City, Mich. Last year some 20,000 feet of Habitant stockade type fencing was installed. Sales Manager John H. Farley says the firm looks for "an overall increase of at least 30 to 40 per cent for 1952." Farley explains that the firm "feels that many of the outdoor theaters that originally used a temporary type of enclosure will be making improvements from an appearance standpoint and will replace these temporary installations with those of a more durable and pleasing nature."

The firm is now fabricating a design of fencing which can be attached to any existing framework if in good condition and with only the screening material being replaced.

SLIDE CHANGERS

Optimistic View of Biz Is Reported by GoldE

A GENERALLY OPTIMISTIC outlook on the company's business was taken by Ernest W. Goldberg, president of the GoldE Manufacturing Co. of Chicago. The firm offered a new line last year, including its new index automatic two-by-two slide changer, which was chief among its new developments of the year.

MISCELLANEOUS

Government Restrictions Hit Dit-Mco Production Last Year

DIT-MCO. (the former Drive-in Theater Manufacturing Co.), of Kansas City, "just marked time for the first seven or eight months of 1951 because of governmental restrictions. Then," says the firm, "there was a spurt for several weeks in which we worked three shifts a day. This slackened off and we had a subnormal business for the balance of 1951." The company discloses that "there have been more exhibitor inquiries and dealer activity during the first six weeks of 1952 than we have experienced for over a year. In spite of all the controls" it expects 1952 to be "a splendid year."

The firm expanded its line, adding atomic Jet lamphouse blowers, aluminum ladders, rotary power lawn mowers in gas and electric models and directional lights for drive-ins. It also expanded its transformer manufacturing facilities.

Plant Expansion Program Is Completed by Neumade

IN 1951 NEUMADE Products Corp. of New York completed a plant expansion program more than doubling manufacturing facilities in Buffalo. This expansion was accomplished during the period when no new theaters were being built and the theater supply industry was hit the hardest. The company says it feels that such a condition is temporary, and, with the new facilities available, stands ready to supply an ever-growing market as soon as restrictions are lifted with new and better products in ever-increasing amounts

Peerless Devises Process To Restore Shrunken Film

A PROCESS WAS DEVELOPED by which motion picture negatives stored for use in vaults and considered unusable because of excess shrinkage could be reconditioned to permit making commercially acceptable prints on continuous contact-printing equipment. The treatment is called "Peer-Renu." Peerless Film Processing Corp. announced that it was offering this treatment at its New York and Hollywood plants. The company offers without charge its advisory service on the possibility of restoring any such negatives to economic usefulness." "Peer-Renu" is held capable of reducing the amount of shrinkage by 25 to 40 per cent. The treatment is applicable to both 16mm and 35mm films. It can also be used in duplicating positives and Kodachrome and other color originals, and even color prints that have shrunken beyond projector tolerance, according to Peerless. It is believed that "Peer-Renu" will make available for television and for theater revival many film subjects that previously would have been impracticable or too cotsly to reproduce satisfactorily.

Maurer Is Busy on Special Equipment for Armed Forces

J. A. MAURER, INC., of Long Island City, N. Y., asserts that during the past year "the majority of our engineering staff has been busy in connection with special photographic equipment for the armed services, largely cameras," adding that it anticipates that "this condition will continue for an indefinite period."

CONCESSIONS AID INCOME

THEATER OPERATORS LAST YEAR TOOK greater cognizance of the importance of concession trade as a source of income. The result was a sizable expansion by theater men in facilities for providing refreshments for their patrons and a wave of improvement in concession areas and equipment. In their quest for larger earnings from concession sales exhibitors found a solid ally in the equipment industry, which made available to them machines and devices designed to operate more profitably.

An idea of the larger role assigned to concession operations by theater men was had from the fact that the 1951 Theater Owners of America trade show, held in New York in conjunction with the national exhibitor organization's annual convention, went all-out on items designed to boost theater business. Never had the exhibitor been made so aware of the opportunities for profit-making offered by the business booster. The makers and distributors of concession items bent every effort to impress the theater man with the sales power of their products.

The consensus last year was that theater concession business had gone up and would continue to climb, no reason being seen why it should not go up. The optimistic outlook was grounded in great measure in the fact that more patronage was being drawn to the theaters as a result of the better film product being made available to them. The "Movietime U.S.A." campaign was credited with bringing benefits to the manufacturers and distributors of dispensing equipment, candy, beverages, popcorn and other items sold at concession stands in the nation's theaters. The Allied States trade show, which was held in New York later in the year as part of the national theater organization's annual convention, provided further evidence of the increased interest in business boosters on the part of exhibitors.

Theater men operating candy stands were expected to reap dividends in 1952 from what those in the confectionery field predicted would shape up as the most competitive year in the history of their business. The candy industry based its forecast for 1952 on the fact that production was at a high peak and that numerous candy firms were planning their greatest advertising and merchandising programs. The candy industry was seen anticipating a better year in 1952 as against 1951, when the vast majority of the confectionery people made smaller profits than in 1950 although sales were bigger. Sales of the nation's confectionery industry in 1951 were estimated at $999,626,000 by the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce early this year. That would be four per cent better than the year before. The final report is expected to boost the volume to more than a billion. It was estimated by the National Confectioners' Association last year that theaters sold more than $138,000,000 worth of candy in 1950.

Sales of automatic vending machines to theaters were reported extra good. Disclosed was a trend toward the stabilization and improvement of present models rather than toward reaching out for innovations and new models.

Prospects of a big increase in the popcorn business of theaters were seen in a report by the Popcorn Processors' Association on the latest developments in new hybrid popcorn experiments underway at Purdue University with the cooperation of the PPA. These developments were said to hold promise of bringing "new taste thrills" to popcorn eaters.

A smaller popcorn harvest last year was reported by the Government. Growers in 11 commercial popcorn-producing states were credited with harvesting approximately 192,000,000 pounds of popcorn in the ear. That was 21 per cent less than the 1950 total of 242,000,000 pounds for the same states.

Although popcorn business was up in 1951, it was the contention of those in the industry that they had not even scratched the surface of their potential market. Some answers to the question of how to increase sales still further were offered at the 1951 Popcorn Industries Convention and Exhibition held in Chicago under the sponsorship of the National Association of Popcorn Manufacturers.

The NAPM came up with a constructive program of national scope for the financing of public relations, agricultural research and sales promotion in a move to increase the nation's popcorn business to the profit of the theater man. It set its sights on a billion-dollar year within five years. In a step which was expected to help the theater man's popcorn business the association sponsored a series of regional popcorn educational conferences in key cities throughout the country.

Price ceilings on popcorn (popped and unpopped) were removed by the Office of Price Stabilization with the understanding that they might be restored "should inflationary tendencies develop."

A survey last year disclosed that 91 per cent of film theaters running concessions sell ice cream, hard or soft. Four per cent of these were found to make their own ice cream.

On the Record

SINCE 1933, and again during 1951, it has been our privilege to make a sizeable number of motion pictures for Industry.

One of our productions which is having a continuing success is "CLEAR TRACK AHEAD" produced for The Pennsylvania Railroad. We are now completing "PROGRESS ON THE RAILS" for this same sponsor. "PUREBREDS—AN EPIC OF DAIRYLAND" is doing a good job for The Texas Company. Another is "STOP FIRES—SAVE JOBS" produced with the cooperation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Factory Insurance Association to help reduce the number and cost of industrial fires. And a series for McGraw-Hill on "PSYCHOLOGY IN EDUCATION" is winning wide acceptance throughout the teaching profession.

In appraising the qualifications of a producing organization, no yardstick can take the place of the question, "What have you done?" It is on that basis that we solicit opportunities with prospective clients.

LEGISLATIVE RESTRICTIONS IN FOREIGN FILM MARKETS

By NATHAN D. GOLDEN

Director, Motion Picture-Photographic Products Division, National Production Authority, United States Department of Commerce

THE INTERNATIONAL FILM MARKET in 1951, with regard to film remittances, was generally regarded as considerably better than it had been during the past several years. Estimates as to dollar remittances from abroad during 1951 ranged as high as $125,000,000. Probably the chief factors in this brighter picture were the agreements on film remittances which were completed for such important market as the United Kingdom, France, and Italy.

GOLDEN

Although production of feature films in a number of foreign countries has increased considerably in the past few years, the strongest competition offered to United States films in the international field comes not from the products of other countries but rather from legislative restrictions imposed by Governments on the free importation and distribution of films. These restrictions are designed not only to conserve dollar exchange, but in a number of countries are imposed in an effort to assist the development of a domestic national film industry. Representatives of the United States film industry carried on negotiations throughout 1951 seeking to arrive at a mutually satisfactory solution to many of these import and exchange problems.

The future prospects for United States film distribution in the foreign market throughout the world are very difficult to forecast. U. S. films, with their broad appeal to all audiences, continue to be the favorites of movie-goers throughout the world. Occasionally an outstanding film from a non-United States producer is successful in the world market. In box office appeal, however, and in acceptance by local audiences, U. S. films in general far surpass those of other countries.

There follows a country by country resume of the various restrictive controls affecting the distribution and exhibition of United States films throughout the world:

EUROPE

ALBANIA—All motion picture theaters in Albania have been nationalized and the importation, distribution, and exhibition of films is entirely in the hands of the Albanian government which has shown no desire to import any films except those of Soviet production.

AUSTRIA—No quota or contingent measures are in effect in Austria which might reduce or prevent the distribution of United States motion pictures. Import licenses are required. Transfer of foreign exchange for motion pictures is prohibited except in occasional individual cases when limited transfers of foreign exchange may be obtained through the Austrian National Bank. An agreement has been reached between the United States and Soviet element in Austria whereby exhibition of United States films in the Soviet Zone of Austria, hitherto prohibited, will be permitted. The agreement provides that the same number of United States films are to be shown in the Soviet Zone as Soviet films in the United States Zone.

BELGIUM—The most significant development in the motion picture industry in Belgium in the past year has been the development, by the Belgian Government, of a program designed to reduce the imports of United States films and to increase Belgium's imports of films from other sources, in particular European countries. Belgium has been running a large export surplus with European countries and at the same time has been incurring a trade deficit with the United States. In summary the program of regulation which the Belgian Government has informally communicated to the motion picture industry consists of the following: (1) Prohibition of payment for advertising accessories in dollars. (2) Prohibition of the importation of positive prints from the United States except for all color prints and films of an exceptional character, thus requiring all prints to be made in Belgium or other European countries. (3) The imposition of some import quota limitation on the number of United States pictures to be imported annually. (4) Placing limitations on the remittance of dollars in payment of currently accruing royalties on the exhibition of United States films.

Distributors and exhibitors in Belgium have made several counter-proposals to the Ministry of Economic Affairs which they consider would be as effective in accomplishing the Government's objectives as the program prepared by the Government, however, as late as January 1, 1952, these counter-proposals had not met with the approval of the Ministry.

BULGARIA—All theaters in Bulgaria are nationalized and the importation and distribution of motion pictures is controlled by the state monopoly.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA—The Government of Czechoslovakia has established a State monopoly that controls the production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures. No imports may be made without a license; an allocation of foreign exchange automatically follows issuance of the import license. While there are no regulations restricting the distribution of foreign films, measures controlling the distribution of films are implied in the institution of the monopoly. No new United States films are known to have been released in Czechoslovakia in recent years.

DENMARK—Danish regulations covering importation of motion pictures in 1951 incorporated a new restriction on remittance of revenues, which affects rental receipts from foreign films leased on a precentage basis only. Distributors are required to deduct the costs of prints, titling, etc. from gross receipts before crediting the foreign supplier's account with 60 per cent of the revenue. Prior to this the payment of these expenses was permitted out of the 40 per cent balance credited to the Danish subsidiary.

The Danish Government allotted a total of 3,500,000 crowns for dollar remittances for films in the calendar year 1951, a reduction of 300,000 crowns from the 1950 allocation. (One Danish crown equals U. S. $0.1447. Film rental receipts due United States producers in excess of these dollar remittances will continue to be blocked to the account of the producer. No proposal has been made as yet for use of these blocked funds. Films can be imported only when an appropriate license has been issued by the Board of Supply.

In November, 1949, legislation was passed providing financial assistance to Danish film producers. The law provides for 25 per cent of the entertainment tax receipts from exhibition of Danish films to be remitted to the producer of the film. In June, 1951 ceiling prices on theater tickets were abolished and prices have increased by an estimated 12 to 15 per cent.

FINLAND—There are no quotas limiting the number of films which may be imported into Finland, however, restrictions on the transfer of foreign exchange may tend to reduce the distribution of imported films. Import licenses are required and are granted to distributors who state in each license application that they will not require foreign exchange before the Bank of Finland is ready to grant it.

FRANCE—In July, 1951, French foreign exchange authorities issued instructions removing all restrictions on the transfer of United States film earnings. However, the Franco-American Motion Picture Declaration still provides that only 121 United States feature films that are dubbed into the French language may be imported into France each year. This agreement expires on June 30, 1952, and distributors of United States films are hopeful that the number of films allowed to be imported will be increased. Playing time regulations require French films to be exhibited five weeks out of each thirteen. In September 1948 the French Government created a fund for the temporary subsidy of the French film industry. Revenue for the fund is supplied by taxes on theater admissions and a meterage tax based on the length of the film. The bulk of the revenue for this subsidy is derived from taxes levied on United States films. As of July 1, 1951, approximately 5,000,000,000 francs had been put at the disposal of the French film industry from this fund, about 3,000,000,000 francs of which was used for assistance to feature film producers. (350 francs equal U. S. $1.00.)

GERMANY—During the past two years, the importation of United States films into Germany has been limited to 160 feature films. For the year beginning September 1951, no import regulations have been put into effect. However, a draft screen quota law had been submitted to the Federal Parliament in June 1951 which provided for reservation of from 21 to 35 days each quarter of theater screen time for German films. It is estimated that this screen quota will average about 27 per cent of all films shown in German theaters. This draft law would also provide for the establishment of a film bank which would make credits available to established producers on a reasonable basis. As late as December 15, 1951, this draft law had not been approved by the Parliament, however, it was reported that passage of the law was assured. All revenue earned by United States film companies in Germany is blocked. The Economic Cooperation Administration has guaranteed current expenses of United States film producers for operations in Western Germany during the past several years. In 1949 a total of $1,163,539 was approved for this purpose, approximately $3,500,000 was made available in 1950, and for the year ending August 31, 1951, United States film companies shared in guarantees amounting to $2,167,870. Import licenses are required for importation of films and are obtained through application to the Federal Ministry of Economics.

GIBRALTAR—All booking of films into Gibraltar is done through London. Applications for dollars are made to the Financial Secretary of the Colony, and dollars can be had for the purchase of United States films only if the British Financial Secretary in England approves. A Gibraltar Ordinance provides that all U. S. dollars acquired must be surrendered to the Government. It is unlikely that permit to import films and export currency from Gibraltar would be granted.

GREECE—The Bank of Greece issued a resolution dated June 7, 1951 authorizing an allocation of $500,000 for the importation of United States motion picture films during the year ending June 30, 1952, the same amount that has been allocated in the two previous years. The $500,000 shall be made available in four quarterly installments of $125,000 from free dollar holdings of the Bank of Greece. The amount authorized shall be used in the first place to cover print costs of motion pictures imported from the United States, as well as the value of pertinent advertising material and transportation charges to the port of destination for all types of United States films including short subjects and newsreels. Any balance left over after these initial payments shall be used for the payment of film royalties. Import licenses are required and are obtained from the Ministry of National Economy.

HUNGARY—Production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures in Hungary have been nationalized and are completely under Government control. A contract which was signed with the Motion Picture Export Association in 1948 was never honored and the films under the contract were never released in Hungary. No new U. S. films are known to have been released in Hungary in recent years. MPEA reported that in March 1950 the Hungarian Government issued an order requiring it to surrender all motion picture prints of member companies on hand in Hungary to the Ministry of Education.

ICELAND—Imports of motion pictures into Iceland have been curtailed since the beginning of 1948 because of shortage of foreign currencies, especially dollars. Import and currency licenses are required. The currency permit does not guarantee foreign exchange which is dependent upon exchange available and a priority determined by a foreign exchange committee.

IRELAND—The importation of motion pictures into Ireland continues to be handled from the United Kingdom. All United States films that are exhibited are obtained from the British subsidiaries of United States film companies and payment is made in sterling. No quotas or other import regulations are in effect in Ireland that restrict importation and exhibition of United States films.

ITALY—Probably the most important development in the Italian motion picture situation during the past year was the agreement reached in May 1951 between representatives of the major United Stats film companies and representatives of the Italian film industry. This agreement is reported to provide for the immediate release of 50 per cent of blocked United States film money to the American film companies on July 31, 1951, with 25 per cent to be loaned to the Italians to aid in film production and for promotion of Italian pictures in the United States, and 25 per cent to be used for other purposes including production and co-production in Italy by United States companies. After July 31, 1951, United States film earnings were to be released on this fixed formula every three months. The first installment under this agreement, amounting to $3,200,000 was authorized in August 1951 and $1,000,000 was remitted in October 1951. United States film companies agreed to impose a voluntary limitation on the number of United States films exported to Italy. Import permits are required for motion picture films.

The Italian film law, effective January 1, 1950, required exhibitors to reserve a minimum of 20 days each quarter for the showing of Italian feature films, established a Government contribution to feature film producers equal to 10 per cent of the gross receipts and provided that exhibitors screening Italian feature films have the right to retain 20 per cent of the taxes payable by law on admissions. Italian exhibitors must include in each program the showing of at least one national short film, either documentary or newsreel. In August 1950, the Italian Government invoked Article 10 of the film law of July 1949, and established provisions governing film rental contracts. Under this regulation, rental contracts must be drawn up in accordance with one of the following procedures: A fixed price; a fixed price plus a percentage to be applied whenever receipts exceed a given amount; and a straight percentage rental with a maximum of 42 per cent, which may be increased to 50 per cent only in the case of one-fourth of the films distributed by any single company in the course of a season.

LUXEMBOURG—There are no trade restrictions which might prevent, retard, or hinder United States films being shown in Luxembourg and no such measures are contemplated. Import permits are not required. Films rented by the Luxembourg theaters are paid for through Belgium and adequate foreign exchange has been available for this purpose.

MALTA—All United States and British films entering Malta are brought into the country through London and are distributed by the Malta United Film Corporation, a subsidiary of the Kinematograph Renters Society in London.

NETHERLANDS—An import license is required for the importation of motion pictures and is obtained from the Nederlandsche Bioscoop Bond (Netherlands Motion Picture Association). Regulations governing playing time of films during 1951 as established by the Bioscoop Bond provided that exhibitors should show for at least 12 weeks feature films that had not been made in the United States and for which no dollars were to be paid or from which no dollar debt would arise. According to the Bioscoop Bond, the amount of foreign exchange made available by the Nederlandsche Bank for the importation of motion pictures from the United States in 1951 was fixed at the dollar equivalent of 4,800,000 guilders (one guilder equals about U. S. $0.26). The Association estimates that this amount will cover about 70 to 75 per cent of actual imports. The remaining 25 per cent will be credited to the distributors' non-transferable guilder accounts. The Bank further stated that the maximum percentage which may be paid from the net box-office income for film rentals has again been fixed at 32½ per cent, exclusive of newsreels. With respect to films payable in dollars a maximum of 65 per cent of the above 32½ per cent is transferable to the foreign producer. The conditions attached to the 1951 foreign exchange quota are virtually the same as in the two previous years.

NORWAY—There are no pertinent quota or contingent measures in effect in Norway for the import of United States films. Import permits are required. Arrangements for the transfer of dollars remained the same during 1950 and 1951. Restrictions on the transfer of royalties and the estimated amount of crowns to be set aside for operating expenses out of 1951 earnings were as follows: 1,400,000 crowns could be transferred in dollars, 1,400,000 crowns were to go into a blocked account for transfer in equal parts during the next four years (1951-1955), and 1,200,000 crowns were made available for Norwegian distributors of United States films for operating expenses. (7.14 crowns equals U. S. $1.00.)

POLAND—Government owned "Film Polski" has a monopoly of production, distribution, and exhibition of motion pictures for the entire country of Poland. All transfers of foreign exchange are subject to the approval of the Polish Government. Due to the serious shortage of foreign exchange in this country, the obtaining of such permits is extremely difficult. To date no foreign exchange has been secured for U. S. films. Import permits are required.

PORTUGAL—Remittances of accumulated royalties has been free of complications during recent years, however, from date of August 1947, they have become subject to prior sanction of the Bank of Portugal. Theaters must exhibit Portuguese films one week to every five weeks of foreign films, except when national productions are not available. Since February 9, 1948, licenses have been required for all imports. Distributors have not yet experienced difficulty in obtaining licenses for films. On August 6, 1948, distributors were officially notified that they would be permitted to remit in 1948 the same amount of dollars remitted in 1947 and that U. S. film imports could not exceed those of 1947. During the past several years a total of $600,000 annually has been allocated for motion picture films.

RUMANIA—On November 2, 1948, a decree was approved nationalizing all motion picture enterprises in Rumania, which covered all studios, laboratories, import, export, rental and marketing concerns with all their properties, equipment, furnishing and inventories. Foreign exchange may be transferred only upon approval by the National Bank of Rumania and as far as is known no transfers for U. S. films have been made during the past year.

SPAIN—The Spanish Government some years ago embarked on a program of encouragement to the domestic industry by direct and indirect subsidy. Licenses necessary to import foreign feature films are granted only to Spanish film producers, the number of import permits issued being dependent upon the classification of the domestic films produced. The producer could use the import license to bring in under his own name foreign films or he could sell the licenses at whatever the market would bear. In effect this provides a subsidy for the Spanish producer and limits the number of films that may be imported to the number of licenses earned by the Spanish producing industry. The number of import permits issued have ranged from 50 to 60 per year during the past few years. Imported films must be dubbed into the Spanish language in Spain, and dubbing permits are also issued to producers on the basis of the number of films produced. These dubbing permits are sold on the open market and provide an indirect subsidy to the Spanish producer. No foreign exchange is being granted by Spanish foreign exchange authorities for film earnings.

Spanish theaters must show a Spanish film one week out of six unless the film industry cannot provide the exhibitor with a Spanish production in which case he may continue to show foreign films. This is often the case. A newsreel must be shown on each theater program and the only newsreel permitted in Spain is the nationally produced "No-Do."

Lengthy negotiations were carried on during 1951 between the Spanish Government and representatives of the United States film industry in connection with the import and distribution of U. S. films. Although an agreement was reported in the trade press, it was not ratified and at the close of 1951 had not been put into effect. It is encouraging, however, that the Spanish authorities have agreed to negotiate with the United States film companies in an effort to reach a satisfactory solution to some of the problems that have been hampering distribution of American films in Spain.

SWEDEN—The Swedish foreign exchange control regulations make no provision for the allocation of dollar exchange for the transfer of any amount of current film royalties. As the result of discussions between the United States Government and the Swedish Government, and in the light of the improvement which has been noted in the Swedish balance of payments and the Swedish gold and foreign exchange holdings during the past two years, the Swedish Government in April 1951 somewhat liberalized its restrictions on the transfer of dollar payments of blocked funds which have accumulated as the result of the deferral of dollar payments during the past several years. Import licenses are required for motion picture films, but are readily granted with the notation that approval of the import license does not authorize allocation of foreign exchange. Up to the present time it has been possible to obtain rawstock film, negatives, and prints as have been needed to maintain normal distribution in Sweden of United States films.

SWITZERLAND—Imports of films are controlled by the quasi-official Swiss Film Chamber in Bern, which issues import permits to holders of quotas. Quotas for the importation of films into Switzerland are based on the Federal Decree of July 7, 1939, which granted distributors the right to import feature films to the same extent as imported during the 4-year period January 1935 through December 1938. The usual quota assigned to an importer is equal to at least 50 per cent and at most 70 per cent of the average number of 35-mm. features he imported during this four-year period. During 1949 and 1950, the import quota was fixed at 70 per cent of the base period, however, for 1951 it was reduced to 60 per cent. Provision is made for special cases, both for extra quotas for established importers and for assignment of quotas to importers who did not exist in the market in 1938. Contingents are based on titles and are allotted to individual importers and not to countries. There are no restrictions on the transfer of foreign exchange.

TURKEY—No quota or contingent measures which might reduce or prevent the distribution of U. S. motion pictures are in effect in Turkey. An import and foreign exchange permit must be obtained from the Turkish authorities. This permit can be obtained only after the motion picture has been approved by the Turkish Censorship Board. Although the transfer abroad of foreign exchange is strictly controlled, up to the present time, no difficulty has been encountered in obtaining dollars to pay for imported motion pictures.

Because of the nature of exchange regulations, United States film companies are not operating in Turkey as distributors of their films. Copies of their films are sold outright to Turkish distributors rather than leasing them on a percentage basis as is done in practically every major market in the world. The absence of use of the lease basis of distribution arises from the fact that the proceeds of any foreign capital invested in Turkey are blocked and can be transferred only in the form of certain domestic products, except when special arrangements have been made by foreign firms with the Turkish Ministry of Finance.

Motion picture imports are subject to a transaction tax, which is assessed on most types of processed and semi-processed goods, imported into Turkey at a rate of 18 per cent of landed cost (which is defined to include customs duties and various miscellaneous taxes). In March, 1948, the Turkish fiscal authorities ruled that not only was the motion picture films involved in imported copies subject to this tax but that the royalties or their equivalent were to be included in calculating the basis of the tax, in spite of strong protests by importers and distributors, since that date the 18 per cent transaction tax has been levied on the royalty as well as the cost of the films used in imported copies.

There is also a substantial admission tax differential in favor of Turkish films which gives a strong impetus to the domestic industry. All efforts to have this differential reduced or removed have failed.

U.S.S.R.—The Soviet film industry is a Government monopoly under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of the Motion Picture Industry, and both domestic production and importation of foreign films are subject to the regulations of this ministry. In September 1948 an agreement was negotiated providing for the purchase of United States feature films for showing in Russia with payment to be made in dollars. However, delays were encountered in obtaining final Soviet approval of the agreement and no United States films were released in Russia.

UNITED KINGDOM—The new Anglo-American Film Agreement of October 1, 1951, again provides for the transfer of $17,000,000 annually in equal monthly installments, but contains bonus provisions which are expected to make total remittances in the neighborhood of $25,000,000 annually. In addition to the $17,000,000, a sum equal to 33 1/3 per cent of the amount expended on British productions by United States companies, plus the equivalent of money expended for United States rights to British pictures, may be remitted. The British Government has also guaranteed convertibility of a minimum of $4,000,000 annually as the United States film companies' share of the Eady Tax Plan, which provides for subsidies to producers, distributors, and exhibitors in the United Kingdom.

Government trade restrictions on the showing of foreign films have been in effect in the United Kingdom since 1927. Effective October 1, 1951; 30 per cent of the first feature films exhibited in British theaters and 25 per cent of the supporting films (second features and shorts) must be British productions. The so-called Eady Plan to assist the British film industry was put into operation in September 1950. This plan calls for an increase in the entertainment tax to establish a subsidy to be used by the British film producers, distributors, and exhibitors.

Separate import licenses have been required for all motion picture films except newsreels since May 1948.

The National Film Finance Corporation was established in March 1949 and was given 5,000,000 pounds sterling as an operating fund from which loans could be made to assist British producers. In July 1950 Parliament voted an additional 1,000,000 pounds sterling to be used by the Corporation. In its annual report for the year ending March 31, 1951, the Corporation reported that all but about 900,000 pounds of their operating capital had been advanced as loans to British producers. Unless further funds are voted to the Corporation by Parliament, the National Film Finance Corporation will have to rely on repayments of loans already made.

YUGOSLAVIA—The motion picture industry in Yugoslavia has been nationalized and all phases of the industry including production, distribution, and exhibition are entirely controlled by the Government. In October 1948 an agreement was signed with the Yugoslav Government providing for the purchase of a number of United States films with payment to be made in dollars. This agreement was significant in that U. S. films again entered this market and also it represented a reversal in the film policy of the Yugoslav Government. Prior to the agreement of the official attitude was one of hostility to U. S. films and to encourage showing of Soviet pictures. There is an indication that the trend toward re-appearance of U. S. films has been accelerated and it may be accurate to state that U. S. films are now predominant in Yugoslavia. The chief problem in connection with the importation of United States films into Yugoslavia is that of transferring the growing balance of blocked funds.

CANADA

On December 14, 1951 the permit requirements for foreign exchange remittances were removed. Th Canadian distributor is permitted to remit, at the going, or current, rate of exchange, to the United States producer the net profits on rentals and royalties, less a withholding tax of 10 per cent. United States motion pictures enter and are distributed freely throughout Canada without quota or exhibition restrictions.

SOUTH AMERICA

ARGENTINA—After not granting import permits for United States films since March 1949, the Argentine Government on June 29, 1951 suddenly invited American film distributors to apply for import permits in unlimited quantity and promised that in due course the Argentine Central Bank would consider authorization for pertinent remittances. Upon receiving the announcement, United States film distributors immediately applied for import permits and the Central Bank approved in short order the import of some 480 feature pictures consisting largely of the finest United States productions of 1949, 1950, and 1951. Although film earnings in Argentina are accumulating, as of the end of 1951, no applications had been made for remittances.

The Argentine Government issued a decree, dated August 9, 1950, affording Argentine producers protection in the exhibition of their films. Under this decree, first-run theaters and other principal theaters of the suburbs, called intermediate theaters, must show Argentine pictures one week out of every month, while all other theaters must exhibit Argentine pictures three weeks out of every six. The decree also states that should the receipts from the Argentine film be equal to 80 per cent of the "holdover requirement" for foreign films, the Argentine film will continue in the first-run theater for another and subsequent weeks. The decree augments the minimum percentage of gross receipts which the Argentine exhibitor must pay as a rental for Argentine films. First-run thetaters must pay as rental at least 50 per cent, intermediate theaters 45 per cent and other theaters 40 per cent during the first week of exhibition, and 30 per cent during subsequent weeks.

BOLIVIA—Import permits are required for motion pictures and are granted on the basis of the amount of foreign exchange allocated by the Minister of Finance. An amount of $140,000 was allotted for the importation of 35-mm. entertainment films for the year 1950. The allotment is distributed among the three importers. Two of the importers bring in films on the basis of a fixed cost with payment made at the time of importation, the other imports films on a percentage basis. Because of the restrictions in the granting of foreign exchange fewer new pictures are being imported into Bolivia and theaters are maintaining their operations by using old films which have already been exhibited in Bolivia several times.

BRAZIL—Import permits are required, however, no difficulty has been encountered in obtaining such permits for motion picture films. The Bank of Brazil in September 1950 informed the film companies that new import quotas beginning with the second quarter of 1951, would be allocated on the basis of average imports for the preceding four years (1946-49). Dollar remittances for film earnings as of the close of 1951 were reported to be satisfactory. On November 17, 1951, the President of Brazil signed the new decree regulating the motion picture industry in that country. Article 1 of the decree provides that all theaters in Brazil are required to exhibit Brazilian features in the minimum proportion of one Brazilian for eight foreign films. The decree also states that the rental of domestic features shall be made for the same run as foreign films and shall cover Saturdays and Sundays. Another provision of the decree states that the Censorship Service shall not permit the exhibition of foreign short subjects and newsreels unless the applicant has proof that he has acquired on the national market, for export, films of the same kind in the proportion of 10 per cent of the meters imported by the applicant during the previous year.

BRITISH GUIANA—Other than the regulation that 10 per cent British feature films and 50 per cent British newsreels must be shown annually, there are no quota measures which might reduce or prevent distribution of U. S. films. All film revenue from British Guiana is remitted to the film distributors who maintain head offices in Trinidad.

CHILE—No special restrictions are imposed on the entry of United States motion pictures into Chile. For the past several years United States motion picture distributors in Chile have been encountering difficulties in obtaining foreign exchange to remit to their principals. Budget allocations for entertainment films from all sources (35-mm. and 16-mm.) in 1950 were fixed at $360,000 in U. S. currency and $110,000 in other currencies, which is practically the same amounts as allocated in 1948 and 1949. However, in 1951 there was no official allocation of dollars for motion picture films and all foreign exchange for payment of rental on motion pictures had to be obtained at the free market rate of exchange, which is considerably higher than the official rate. In December 1951 the free market rate was approximately 93 pesos to the dollar while the official rate was 31.10 pesos to the dollar. Import permits were not required in 1951. No measures make it mandatory to exhibit national films nor are there any laws which require that a percentage of domestic films be exhibited in each theater.

COLOMBIA—There are no quota contingent measures in effect at the present time which reduce or prevent distribution of United States pictures in Colombia. Import permits are required for all merchandise brought into the country. Distributors of United States films have encountered no difficulty in obtaining import permits. The problem of remittance of film royalties on foreign films has largely disappeared. Royalty remittances are almost up to date and there seems to be little reason to expect that remittances will again be held up.

ECUADOR—There are no trade restrictions which prevent or restrict distribution of United States films in Ecuador. Motion picture films imported into Ecuador are included in the "C" or "luxury" list of imports and foreign exchange for film remittances must be obtained in the legal free market. It is reported that dollar exchange is available for such remittances. At the close of 1951 the average selling rate of the dollar in the free market for "C" list imports was about 17.40 sucres plus a tax of 44 per cent ad valorem, calculated on the official rate, making the exchange rate approximately 24 sucres to the dollar.

PARAGUAY—Under the multiple exchange system established by the Bank of Paraguay motion picture films are classified in Group III requiring payment for United States films to be made at the rate of 9 guaranies to the dollar. Import licenses are not required. The Bank of Paraguay, the organization having exclusive control of imports into Paraguay, permits each of three companies annually to import 27 sets (features plus shorts and newsreels) at $1,000 per set and 25 sets at 11,000 Argentine pesos per set. Thus for 1951 the Bank will have allotted $81,000 for United States films and 825,000 Argentine pesos for importation of films from Argentina. Distributors feel that this action requiring almost 50 per cent of the imported films to be of Argentine origin will cause the motion picture exhibition business to suffer a serious setback as Argentine production is insufficient to supply present demands.

PERU—Motion pictures may be entered without license or authorization of any kind. The status of remittances of film earnings remains unchanged. Applications for the revalidation of official exchange purchase permits granted through August 1948 still are pending action. Foreign exchange for remittance of film earnings since August 1948 must be obtained in the free market which in December 1951 was at the rate of 15.50 soles to the dollar.

SURINAM—In Surinam each exhibitor of films is limited in his exhibition by currency exchange restrictions. Remittance of the film companies for showing of films is 32½ per cent of the gross receipts. Each exhibitor is allowed exchange for U. S. currency in proportion to his volume of business, 75 per cent of the allowed quota may be remitted in dollars and the remaining 25 per cent in pounds sterling. Import licenses will be granted for motion picture films only by special permission of the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

URUGUAY—Import permits are required and applications must be made to the office of the Contralor de Exportaciones e Importaciones for both an import license and the necessary foreign exchange. While no quantitative restrictions are imposed on the importation of motion pictures, United States distributors encounter difficulties on account of the strictness of the exchange control authorities in the allocation of dollar for imports. Film imports are included in the list of non-essential or luxury items (Category 3) for the purpose of allocation of exchange. This means that exchange will be granted after all items in Categories One and Two are given full consideration. Remittances of film royalties is effected at the free market rate which in December 1951 was about 2.50 pesos to the dollar. No difficulties are encountered in transferring film earnings.

VENEZUELA—No permits are required for the importation of motion pictures nor the the purchase of exchange in payment of such imports. There are at present no import or foreign exchange restrictions which would serve to restrict the showing of U. S. films in Venezuela.

MEXICO AND CENTRAL AMERICA

MEXICO—Since February 1949, an import permit has been required for motion picture films. There are no quantitative restrictions on the importation of motion pictures and no difficulty has been encountered in the transfer of dollar exchange for film remittances. The distribution of United States films in Mexico during 1951 did not proceed altogether smoothly. Various delays in obtaining import permits were experienced, particularly with regard to United States films that had been produced in England. There has been considerable agitation to reserve playing time for Mexican films, and in August 1951 a decree was issued fixing the minimum screen time for Mexican films at not less than 50 per cent. Distributors of United States films were joined by Mexican exhibitors in taking a firm stand against the decree. As the result of injunction proceedings instituted by a number of Mexican exhibitors against various articles of the decree, the Second Federal Judge of the District gave a decision in September 1951 suspending the articles which authorized the Directorate General of Cinematography to determine the number of days of exhibition which would have to be devoted to Mexican and foreign films. The result of this decision is that exhibitors will continue to show national and foreign pictures in whatever proportion of screening time they prefer until a final decision on the constitutionality of the decree is given by the Mexican Supreme Court, which may take a year or two.

The Trade Agreement between the United States and Mexico expired at the end of 1950 and higher tariff rats were established effective January 18, 1951. Duties for 35-mm. positive developed motion pictures are now assessed at the rate of 25 pesos per legal kilogram plus 10 per cent of the value of the film. The value of the film is the declared value or an o. .cial value calculated at 96.65 pesos per kiogram, depending on which is higher. (In December 1951 the Mexican peso equaled about 11.5 cents in U. S. currency.)

COSTA RICA—No quota or contingent measures are in effect in Costa Rica that might interfere with the showing of United States films. There are no restrictions prohibiting or limiting the transfer of foreign exchange, however, all exchange required for the payment of rentals on films must be obtained in the free market. At the end of 1951 the official rate of exchange was 5.67 colones to the dollar while the free market rate was 7.52 colones to the dollar.

EL SALVADOR—There are no trade restrictions designed to reduce or prevent the distribution of United States films in El Salvador. Import permits are not required and no difficulty has been encountered in the transfer of foreign exchange. All distribution of films is handled by the Circuito de Teatros Nacionales, a government monopoly. The budget of the Circuito for the year 1950 provided for payment of 504,000 colones (U. S. $201,600) rental on films released in El Salvador during the year.

GUATEMALA—Import permits are not required and there are no foreign exchange restrictions in Guatemala.

HONDURAS—Import permits are not required, and while foreign exchange for films, as well as all other foreign exchange transactions, must be cleared by the Foreign Exchange Control Commission, no difficulty has been encountered.

NICARAGUA—Importation of motion picture films into Nicaragua has remained unrestricted and import permits are not required. The banks, however, do not authorize foreign exchange at the official rate of 5 cordobas to the dollar for the importation of motion pictures. Distributors are forced to procure necessary dollars at the curb exchange rate, which in October 1951 was about 7 cordobas to the dollar.

PANAMA—Import permits are not required. United States currency is the medium of exchange in Panama and there are no restrictions prohibiting or limiting the transfer of funds.

CUBA—There are no laws in effect in Cuba that restrict the importation or exhibition of U. S. motion pictures; neither are there any exchange controls or quota restrictions which might hamper the marketing of pictures.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC — No restrictions on importation of films or transfer of foreign exchange.

HAITI—No restrictions on importation of films or transfer of foreign exchange.

AFRICA

ALGERIA — Regulations continue in effect which stipulate a reservation of four out of each thirteen weeks for the showing of French films. The direct importation of films from foreign countries have practically ceased and normally all films are sent to Paris for dubbing and then brought into Algeria from France. Film earnings are either deposited locally or remitted to Paris.

BELGIAN CONGO—Import permits are not required for motion pictures and although licenses are required for the transfer of foreign exchange, no difficulties have been experienced in securing dollars to pay for U. S. films.

BRITISH EAST AFRICA — All imports into British East Africa are licensed. Despite the fact that British East Africa lies within the sterling area and suffers from an acute shortage of dollars, U. S. films continue to dominate the market and it seems unlikely that any measures are contemplated to reduce the number of films imported.

EGYPT—United States film companies in Egypt are currently operating under a provisional agreement whereby only 35 per cent of film earnings are eligible for remittance in dollars. Earnings in excess of 35 per cent have been blocked since July 1947. The ban on dubbing remains in effect and not more than 3 pictures can be dubbed annually. There are no quantitative restrictions on the imports of films, although import licenses are required.

ETHIOPIA—Practically all United States films shown in Ethiopia are obtained through the distributors in Cairo and payment is made in sterling or Egyptian pounds. Reports indicate that while dollar exchange for imported films is being refused by the State Bank of Ethiopia, the granting of Egyptian pounds continues without objection.

FRENCH MOROCCO—Import permits are required for all goods, including films, arriving from all countries except France. Since almost all U. S. film companies have their distribution offices in Paris, films usually enter without formalities. The transfer of foreign exchange is subject to approval of the Protectorate Government, which has not been inclined to make dollars available for film revenues. In actual practice, U. S. film companies send their franc profits to their head offices in Paris.

FRENCH WEST AFRICA—Exchange authorities in French West Africa are not allotting dollars for the importation of motion pictures. Practically all films are imported from France and distributors are forced to handle their revenues in francs.

GOLD COAST—An import permit must be secured before goods can be imported into the Gold Coast and imports from the United States are allowed only if the item is essential and cannot be secured from the sterling area. All films, including those originating in the United States, are imported from the United Kingdom or from Nigeria.

LIBERIA—Import permits are not required and there are no restrictions on the transfer of foreign exchange. No 35mm. films are exhibited in Liberia, only 16mm. films being shown in the three theaters in operation. There is one 35mm. theater in Sierra Leone which imports all of its films through the United Kingdom.

MADAGASCAR—Import licenses are required for motion pictures imported from countries other than France. Because of the dollar shortage and exchange restrictions, films are imported from France and are paid for in francs. This does not mean that all films are of French production, about 60 per cent of the films received are of United States origin, but all films are dubbed in the French language in France before being imported. Regulations require that one-third of the pictures shown must be French films.

MOZAMBIQUE—Import permits are required, but film exhibitors have not had any difficulty obtaining films since most South African distributors have found it possible to accept payment for their rental fees in South African pounds. In those few cases where dollar payments were required, the exchange has been made available.

NIGERIA—The Government of Nigeria and the Gold Coast have agreed to a consolidated dollar allocation for both colonies for the purchase of United States motion picture films. Films imported into one colony are also shown in the other. Prior to August 1949 all films shown in this area were brought in from agents in the United Kingdom for which sterling was paid. Import permits are required.

TANGIER AND SPANISH MOROCCO—Import permits are not required. Tangier is a free money market and foreign exchange is available, though expensive. Most Tangier exhibitors pay film rental in either Morcocan francs or Spanish pesetas. In Spanish Morocco exhibitors customarily show all Spanish produced films, although there is no requirements to do so. Spanish Moroccan exhibitors obtain their films from Spain and foreign exchange is made available only through Madrid.

TUNISIA—Import permits are required for all importations involving foreign currency. Practically all of the United States films shown in Tunisia are imported from France, generally via Algiers, and enter Tunisia without import permit. Foreign exchange offers no immediate problem since films, whether foreign or French are usually paid for in francs. Trade sources state that there are now no limitations on distribution of foreign films that have been dubbed into the French language. According to film distributors, each United States producer is limited to 14 films each year but this rule is not strictly enforced. The obligation for each theater in the country to show at least 12 French films yearly is still in effect, and in practice this quota is usually exceeded. Foreign films that have not been dubbed must have French sub-titles and the showing of such films is limited to two runs in Tunisia, irrespective of length of run, usually one or two weeks.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA—In November 1948 the South African Government announced new exchange and import controls which substantially affected imports from the United States and other non-sterling countries. Importers of United States motion picture films were permitted to remit in dollars only 50 per cent of the total amount they remitted to the United States companies in the calendar year 1947. This exchange control scheme was replaced by a comprehensive import licensing system effective July 1, 1949, governing all imports from all countries including the sterling area. Under this system, importers of United States films are permitted freely to import their product under open license, but are still allowed to remit in dollars only 50 per cent of the total amount remitted in 1947. Money which cannot be remitted is being held in blocked accounts and no indications have as yet been given of the Government's plans for its eventual release. There has been no notable decline in the number of United States films shown in South Africa since the introduction of these exchange restrictions.

SOUTH PACIFIC, ASIA, AND THE EAST

AUSTRALIA—The most serious restriction imposed on the distribution of United States films is that covering remittances to the United States of film royalties earned in Australia. From 1948 through 1950 payments of film royalties were restricted to 50 per cent of earnings returned in the base year 1946, however, the trade papers reported that in 1951 the Australian Government permitted the U. S. film companies to remit a larger percentage of their current earnings and permitted the transfer of some of the blocked funds. Import permits are required but there are no restrictions on the number of films to be imported. In the states of New South Wales and Victoria there are quota laws, determined yearly, which govern the percentage of Australian and British films to be shown. In New South Wales distributors are required to distribute a number of Australian films equal to three per cent of the total number of films distributed, and exhibitors are required to exhibit 2.5 per cent Australian films and 15 per cent British films. In Victoria the law provides a quota for Australian films which is the same as in New South Wales, but does not require the showing of British films. When it is not economically feasible to maintain this quota the restriction is waived and in practice the quotas are seldom adhered to.

BURMA—There are no quota or contingent measures which might restrict or prevent the distribution of United States films in Burma. Import licenses are required but are generally issued without much difficulty. The principal problems encountered in Burma are the scarcity of dollar exchange and the difficulty in remitting film earnings. In principle no importation of any article is permitted unless foreign exchange for the payment is available. However, while little restriction is imposed on the issuance of import licenses for motion pictures, earnings derived from the exhibition of these films are blocked. Producers' agents are prohibited from remitting rental receipts abroad and the Burmese currency must be transferred to some free exchange market, such as Bangkok or Hong Kong, where it may be used to purchase dollars.

CEYLON—On June 28, 1951, motion picture films were placed under open general license and the import restrictions on imports from dollar areas were withdrawn. Previously it was necessary to obtain an import license for films from dollar areas. Exchange controls which came into effect in June 1948 have not seriously hampered the importation of films. Transmission of foreign exchange is controlled by the Controller of Exchange. The annual quota for motion pictures is about $200,000 established on a historical basis, using the year 1946 as the base period.

CHINA—The communist regime has taken over over complete control of production, distribution, and exhibition of motion picture films in all areas of China under their control and so far as is known, United States films are not being exhibited.

FIJI ISLANDS—Most films shown in the Fiji Islands are imported from New Zealand and payments is made in New Zealand pounds. Films imported directly from the United States would be subject to license requirements applicable to imports from hard currency areas.

INDIA—Imports of motion pictures into India are regulated by licenses issued by Governmental import control authorities. Licenses are granted against quotas prescribed for individual importers on the basis of their past imports. The ultimate object in restricting imports is to conserve foreign exchange. Transmission of foreign exchange is controlled by the Reserve Bank of India and is automatically limited by restricting imports.

INDOCHINA—Import permits are required for films brought into Indochina from all countries other than France. Because of Indochina's foreign exchange position import permits are not generally granted to dollar areas and practically all films are brought into the country from France, including those of United States production. The most popular method of obtaining United States films for distribution is by purchase since the question of dollar remittances on earnings is a very delicate one and exchange control authorities are endeavoring to curtail dollar expenditures. Films may be distributed only by firms authorized by the Government. Theaters must show French films five weeks out of each thirteen. French influence is expected to remain strong and every effort will be made to push French motion pictures.

INDONESIA—The principal difficulty encountered in distributing United States films in Indonesia is that of securing foreign exchange with which to remit film earnings. The film companies' already large blocked balances, which increase steadily as the bulk of their income cannot be remitted abroad, continued to be the major problem confronting distributors of U. S. films. Negotiations were carried on during 1951 endeavoring to reach some solution for the disposition of at least a portion of these blocked film earnings. However, at the close of the year, no satisfactory agreement had been reached.

JAPAN—Under the provisions of the Ministry of Finance ruling of June 28, 1951, imports of feature films into Japan were limited to 215, of which 150 were to be United States productions, during the fiscal year 1951 (beginning April 1, 1951). Of the 150 U. S. films to be imported, an agreement was reached allocating the nine major United States film companies 120 features and the independents 30 features. The Motion Picture Export Association, which had been acting as a combined distribution agency for the nine major U. S. companies since 1946, ceased to function effective January 1, 1952, and each member company began establishing its own distribution set-up. The Ministry of Finance stated that approximately 30 per cent of film earnings during the fiscal year 1951 would be convertible to foreign currencies.

NEW CALEDONIA—Import permits for foreign films are not required, however, special authorization is needed to purchase foreign exchange. There is strict Government control of all transactions which require the transfer of foreign exchange. Permits for the use of foreign exchange are issued theoretically only for items considered of prime necessity. However, in actual practice it has been possible for film importers to obtain the foreign exchange required to fill most of their needs.

NEW ZEALAND—New Zealand law makes it mandatory for film distributors to acquire British feature films to the extent of not less than 20 per cent of the number of foreign feature films exhibited. There are no restrictions prohibiting or limiting the transfer of foreign exchange for films.

PAKISTAN—Import permits are required for individual films only if the motion pictures are imported directly from a foreign country in the hard currency area. United States films have been distributed in Pakistan from headquarters in Bombay and entered Pakistan on a general license. However, on July 1, 1951 applications for licenses to import exposed motion picture films were "invited" from all areas, except the German Republic. The transfer of foreign exchange is limited by the Foreign Exchange Regulations Act of 1947. While severe restrictions are possible under the Act, the Government's dollar position has so far been such that the Act has been liberally administered. Receipts from the exhibition of U. S. films in Pakistan which are to be remitted to the producer are paid by the exhibitor in Pakistan rupees into accounts of the U. S. distributors, who may draw the full amount in dollars.

PHILIPPINES — In June 1949 an Act was passed requiring theaters to exhibit pictures made in the Philippines to the extent of 10 per cent of their annual exhibitions. However, the playing time requirements of this Act have not been strictly enforced. The present Philippine import control law requires that all imports be licensed. There are no quantitative restrictions placed on the imports of motion pictures, however, there are limitations on the remittance of film earnings. Licenses are granted to remit an amount equivalent to 72 per cent of the producer's share of current earnings provided that in no case shall such remittances exceed 72 per cent of the producer's share of earnings during 1949.

SINGAPORE AND MALAYA—An import permit is required for the purchase and importation of motion pictures into Singapore. In considering an application for an import permit the Controller of Imports and Exports is guided by the advice and recommendation of the Official Film Censor. According to the Foreign Exchange Regulations, the purchase of foreign exchange for outward remittances is prohibited except with special permission of the Controller of Foreign Exchange. Each of the major U. S. film companies operating in Singapore has its own agreement, with the Controller of Foreign Exchange. It is estimated that the remittance of profits homeward by U. S. film distributors in Singapore for 1950 amounted to about 80 per cent for each company. Ten per cent of the playing time, specifically 7 days out of each 70-day period, must be devoted to British films.

THAILAND (SIAM)—No import permits are required for films imported into Thailand. The Foreign Exchange Board which had authority over the transfer of foreign exchange was dissolved at the beginning of 1948. Foreign exchange for the purpose of importing films may be obtained at the open market rate which in January 1951 was about 22 baht to the dollar compared with the official rate of 12.50 baht to the dollar.

ADEN—Import permits are required for all goods originating outside the sterling area. Aden, as a British Crown Colony, has regulations which state that no import permits will be granted for goods from Western Hemisphere countries except for articles which cannot be obtained from the sterling area or from European sources and the purchase of which cannot be deferred without serious loss to the community.

IRAN—The market for United States films is not restricted in Iran by any laws or regulations. The importation of films is subject ot annual import quotas which are fixed in rials. The quota for the year ending March 20, 1952 is 10,000,000 rials, however, the quota is not hard and fast and quotas are frequently increased when exhausted. Films are classified as non-restricted goods and no import permit is needed. Foreign exchange may not be transferred abroad without the permission of the Foreign Exchange Commission. U. S. film companies usually sell the distribution rights to their films to an Iranian distributor for a specified period of time, the films to be destroyed at the end of that period. Payment is made at the free market rate of exchange, which fluctuates between 53 and 56 rials to the dollar. The official rate of exchange is 32 rials to the dollar.

IRAQ—Since 1947, the Directorate General of Imports has allocated the sum of $200,000 yearly for the importation of United States motion pictures. For 1950 this amount was divided among 8 firms to purchase U. S. films and each firm was authorized to enter into a contract with one of eight specified United States producers. Permits are required to import films into Iraq whether the transaction is outright purchase of the film or a joint-account percentage rental arrangement.

ISRAEL—No quotas or contingent measures exist for the distribution and exhibition of motion pictures in Israel. The scarcity of dollar exchange may tend to restrict the volume of business of United States distributors. In principle, no importation of any article is granted unless foreign exchange for payment of such article is available. For U. S. motion pictures, however, an agreement was made in June 1949 whereby the importation of film prints was secured, leaving the question of dollar transfers for later negotiations. No dollar remittances are permitted for film royalties.

LEBANON—Import permits are required. Foreign exchange problems still plague United States companies endeavoring to remit their dollars. The only source of foreign exchange is the open or free market at rates considerably higher than the official rate of exchange.

SYRIA—The dissolution of the Syro-Lebanese Customs Union in March 1950 has created some problems relative to film imports. Since the break, the Government's policy has been "Syrian trade by Syrians." To carry out this policy the Government generally grants import licenses only to firms established in Syria. In addition it requires foreign firms, having direct or agency representation in Syria, to be represented either by a Syrian or a national of the parent company. This law is directed against the practice of having Syrian trade handled by Lebanese or agents residing in Lebanon. The result is that Lebanese distributors who have been receiving films first and then distributing them in Syria, must now sell or distribute them directly to one Syrian firm or exhibitor which in turn distributes throughout Syria. Egyptian distributors have opened branch offices in Syria. Dollars for the importation of films must be purchased on the free market at rates considerably higher than the official rate. At the close of 1951, the free market rate was about 3.50 Syrian pounds to the dollar, while the official rate of exchange was 2.20 Syrian pounds to the dollar.

TO FORECAST IS DIFFICULT

By BERNARD CHARMAN

Managing Editor, "Daily Film Renter"

LONDON

TO FORECAST the trend of business in Britain becomes progressively more impossible each year, so swiftly do events move. The train of international events and economic crises speeds like a jet-propelled missile into the distant horizon, leaving no time in which to assess what its destination might be.

At the time of writing the British industry is under the threat of possible readjustment of the Anglo-American film agreement, with the implication that any such adjustment might be to the disadvantage of American pictures. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his crisis speech of January last, indicated that before the expiration of the first year of the two year term of the present agreement in September the Government will be reconsidering its attitude towards its considerable annual dollar outlay on importing films to sustain theaters in the United Kingdom.

CHARMAN

Both R. A. Butler, present holder of the office, and his Socialist predecessor, Hugh Gaitskell, have been subject to intense pressure to foreclose on dollar remittances for films rather than on payments for commodities considered more essential to the national well being.

While Britain has been subject to a radical change of Government through the 1951 election victory of the Conservative Party, it cannot necessarily be implied that the Government policy in relation to films will automatically be revised. Whatever conflicts there were between the two main political parties when the Socialists were in power, there seemed little basic disagreement on policy in relation either to encouragement of British production or maintenance of supplies from overseas in order to satisfy the market and give the British people the type of entertainment for which they make the most regular demand.

Today governments in Britain, whatever their political color, appear wedded to two beliefs in relation to pictures. The first is that maintenance of a virile British production industry is a national essential, and the other is that in times of greatest emergency the movie theater is one of the best safety valves which the country can possess.

Although supporting every device to afford financial security to British production, neither of the last two governments has lost sight of the reality that without a steady flow of American pictures the theaters could not be sustained and that in such an event the essential entertainment of the people would seriously be in jeopardy.

Under the agreement as it still stands American companies operating in the United Kingdom are entitled to remit a basic total of $17,000,000 annually. To this is added certain increments from the purchase of rights of British pictures and from their exhibition in the United States, the effect being to increase the total remittable sum to an estimated figure of between 20 and 25 million dollars. In relation to Britain's total indebtedness and financial stress this is a relatively modest figure, but economies effected in other directions to yield a saving of even smaller amounts indicate that Hollywood must not be sanguine about the outcome of any future discussion arising from a re-opening of the agreement in September.

In the conflict of views which the situation creates for the British industry the exhibitors will line up solidly alongside the American distributors. The contention of the former, which there appears to be no gainsaying, is that to leave theaters purely to the mercy of British films in insufficient quantities to sustain week by week programs, together with such re-issues as the American companies may be prepared to offer, would be equivalent to a sentence of death. This is not to suggest that British films lack popular appeal but simply means that there are just not enough of them to keep the business alive.

Memories of the chaos caused by the incomparable blunder of Hugh Dalton when, as Socialist Chancellor in 1947, he imposed the ad valorem duties which caused the MPAA to declare an embargo on film shipments, are too fresh in the minds of exhibitors and of the trade generally to allow the future to be viewed with equanimity. No Government would wish to invite a recurrence of that situation.

Nevertheless, it is still conceivable that the sheer demands of national economy might, in the mind of the present Government, force new restrictions either in regard to remittable sums or in the freedom of import which American distributors at present enjoy.

Whatever the outcome of a re-opening of the agreement, American producers must view the future with renewed apprehension. At a time when their freedom of trading is threatened in almost every part of the world their guarantee of revenue from what was formerly regarded as their greatest foreign market is particularly shaky. Britain's need of American films is as great in 1952 as it has ever been; the only problem for the nation to answer is whether it can afford to satisfy that need.

The effect of any proposal to eliminate or heavily restrict the circulation of American product in the United Kingdom can be gauged from recent figures released by the Board of Trade relative to the playing time devoted to British pictures during 1950 and 1951. These showed that during a year in which the law demanded a 30 per cent quota for British features, the average proportion of British films actually exhibited was 28 per cent. That more than 80 per cent of theaters achieved or exceeded their allotted quota (scaled down in certain situations to as low as 10 per cent) does not mitigate the fact that producers in this country, even supported by compulsory showing, could not fill much more than a quarter of the playing time required to satisfy the 4,650 theaters in the United Kingdom. Indications are that output from the studios during 1952 cannot improve on the 1951 figure.

Much could be written in praise of British production because its general level stands very high and in the domestic market at least the best home produced pictures are quite the equivalent of major offerings from Hollywood. Standards have indeed improved to such a degree that in the minds of millions of people British films are given the first preference.

Encouraged by the so-called Eady scheme, whereby a small proportion of the seat tax is set aside to refund to British producers, the studios are more happily situated than they have been for many years. Whereas their constant problem has been to restrict production costs to a limit which will allow them to recoup expenses in the domestic market—an almost impossible task—today the effect of the Eady contribution, which is based on the earning capacity of British pictures, is that any reasonable production cannot come out at a loss. The exhibitors do not like what they regard as a compulsory subsidy which they are called upon to pay to the producers, but they are prepared to accept it as long as it is a guarantee of a sufficiency of entertainment to put on their screens.

Looking at the British industry through wide angled lenses its whole problem is still, as it has been for some years, one of economics. The one question it has had to face—and is still facing—is: can the box office produce sufficient grosses to maintain production?

The complication which makes the question difficult to answer is the monstrous level of the entertainments duty or seat tax imposed on movie theaters. While the legit houses enjoy a relatively low level of taxation, the film houses must remit dues to the Treasury representing upwards of 40 per cent of the gross intake at the box office. Experience has shown that under present conditions there can be little hope of attracting more patrons or more money, and while 40 per cent of what the public is prepared to spend on movie entertainment becomes the Government's rake-off, the value of the British film market is very much less than its potential.

American distributors are not so greatly concerned in this matter, so long as their remittable earnings are restricted, but the physical existence of British production is inevitably threatened just as long as the market cannot produce the revenues which the studios require in order to feed the screen with entertainments comparable with the lavish productions which Hollywood can still afford to offer.

Aside from the producers, the exhibitors, too, are shackled by the extortionate rate of duty which the box office is compelled to bear. Most of them are making a living—thanks, as the cynics would say, to American pictures—but their surviving share of the take does not permit the most essential maintenance and improvement work necessary to keep their theaters at standards of comfort and amenity which the industry would desire.

The Treasury, whose vassal the whole British trade now appears to be, is concerned only with extracting the very maximum of revenue in taxation from a reluctant nation. Seat tax is an easy and convenient manner of adding appreciably to the national revenue. In recent years the harvest to the Chancellor has been at a rate of not less than $120,000,000 annually. Armament programs, threats of national bankruptcy and all such factors, have caused the Government to view its needs from a short rather than a long term basis.

Treasury officials cannot see, or if they do they cannot consider, that they may be killing the goose that lays the golden eggs and that in squeezing a none too prosperous industry as they have remorselessly been doing since the end of the war, they may ultimately bring it to ruin.

The industry in the United Kingdom did not embark upon 1952 in any spirit of optimism. It has the dogged will to survive, which it only does by virtue of the unconquerable hope that the tide may turn in its favor. To maintain that hope, alas, needs almost superhuman fortitude!

ENGLAND - A SURVEY

HIGHLIGHTS

NOW almost becoming a hardy annual of the British industry, discussions again took place in 1951 between the Government and the MPAA on conditions under which American films might be imported into Britain. At the writing of this survey, in February 1952, it appears that further talks, based on Britain's economic plight, will be inevitable before the year is through.

The 1951 discussions brought a small degree of relief to the companies. The Anglo-U.S. agreement reached the previous year at meetings between Eric Johnston and the then BOT President, Harold Wilson, granted them a valuable increase in their remittable earnings. While the basic remittable figure of $17,000,000 remained unchanged, concessions were granted last year whereby the additional figure of 23% of their outlays on British production which could be paid out of the country was increased to 33-1/3% and whereby their share of receipts from the so-called Eady Pool (referred to later in this summary) would also be available for transmission to the United States.

Estimates indicate that the effect of these reliefs would, in the first year of the revised deal (ending in September 1952), permit an aggregate remittance of American film earnings of between $23-25 millions. Fears have been entertained both in London and New York that the effect of reopening the Agreement this year may be a further slashing either of the basic remittable figure or of the volume of film imports to the U.K.

The Eady Pool is the system whereby the Treasury, agreeing variations in the incidence of entertainments duty (seat tax) on the theaters, stipulated that sums varying from one farthing to three-farthings per seat be set aside as a subsidy to British producers. These discounts on the tax created a fund from which British films in the first year of its operation have drawn an estimated total of £1,200,000. In four thirteen-week periods, producers were paid in proportions ranging from 12½-20% of the gross earnings of each picture. So great has been the intake that, in the first quarter of the second year, the payments will have been increased to 30% for features and 75% for shorts. In the result, producers are now virtually guaranteed a profit on their ventures, as it is a very poor picture that cannot break even with the assistance of so handsome a bonus on its own earnings.

Coupled with this outside aid, British films are making determined efforts to restrain budgets to an economic figure, it having been painfully demonstrated over recent years that only exceptional productions can hope to recover outlays of £200,000 in the domestic market. Significance of the need for cost-cutting was given emphasis when a picture, "Worm's Eye View," which cost less than £50,000, yielded one of the four top grosses of any British picture. Sir Alexander Korda also embarked on a policy of curtailed shooting schedules, successfully producing "Home at Seven" in six weeks of studio time. Noteworthy, too, is the experimental production set-up financed by the Government-backed National Film Finance Corporation under the title of Group 3, which is endeavouring to complete six pictures a year on budgets not exceeding £50,000 each. Even if these do not measure up to top box office standards, they are aimed at the popular first feature market.

Further highlight of Britain's 1951 was the complete adoption by distributors of safety stock. Importance of this advance was that it has stalled off Government plans to introduce drastic legislation governing theater safety which would have cost exhibitors several million pounds if adopted. Now it is proposed that both 35mm and 16mm films should be governed by the same legislation, representing an admission by the Home Department of the Government, which is the responsible authority for matters of public safety, that the fire hazard in motion picture theaters is far less today than was generally regarded when the original Cinematograph Act was passed in 1909.

COMPETITION

IN THE MOTION PICTURE film market of the United Kingdom competition is practically limited to that between British-made and American films. Board of Trade statistics showed that in the year to September, 1951, an average of 28.5 per cent of the first feature product played in U.K. theaters was British. Other foreign pictures account for an entirely insignificant proportion of the total shown and are practically confined to a few theaters in the largest centers which specialize in this type of entertainment. French, Italian and Scandinavian pictures form the major part of this product.

Considerable efforts are, however, being made to popularize the foreign language films, principally by means of dubbing or post-synchronization. British associate company, Archway Films, scored a big success with nationwide release of "Bitter Rice." They have since dubbed their big Italian version of "Les Miserables" and several other subjects. Dubbing in the U.K. is virtually monopolized by a concern called De Lane Lea Processes, whose laboratories and post-recording studios have, despite being doubled in manpower, been operating at capacity throughout 1951 and into 1952.

In Britain today, about 50 out of 4,650 theaters constitute the entire market for "specialized" (foreign language) pictures. London's West End contains nine, aggregating approximately 6,000 seats, or as many houses as those which feature new pre-release British and American product.

CENSORSHIP

AN ORGANIZATION established by the trade years ago, the British Board of Film Censors, deals with the censorship of films in Great Britain. It is not a statutory body, and whether a film is accepted or rejected, the final decision rests with the local licensing authorities throughout the country —about 1,000 in number—but almost universal acceptance is given to the decisions and control exercised by the Board, and generally the situation is considered satisfactory.

In connection with the power of local authorities, it should be noted that when a film is rejected by the Board of Film Censors, an application for special review can be made to local authorities, and a few notable instances have occured where the procedure has resulted in local exhibition of the rejected film.

It might be mentioned that there are three grades of certificates issued; "U" relating to a film which has been passed for universal exhibition; "A" is recommended more especially for adult audiences, and under most licensing authorities, children must be accompanied by adults when attending.

The third category, formerly known as "H" (meaning horrific), was replaced in 1951 by a new "X" certificate. This legally limits the showing of pictures so labelled to persons of over 16 years old. Neither an "adults only" or "horrific" classification, it serves for both, but also permits exhibition of sophisticated, adult entertainment, chiefly French, which a grandmotherly Censor Board formerly rejected. The "X" certificate has servived the early danger of being regarded by patrons as the hallmark of lurid entertainment, but has caused concern to American distributors who have found their more brutal pictures put into this group instead of the more acceptable "A" category. About 25 titles have been so classified since the new certificate was introduced, the most notable being "Quo Vadis."

EDUCATION

IN 1946 EDUCATION AUTHORITIES and teachers, in conjunction with the Ministry of Education, set up an organization named the National Committee for Visual Aids in Education. One of the Committee's main functions is to collate the views of education authorities, teachers and bodies concerned with education. Other functions include the consideration of the production, assessment and distribution of visual material.

An important link in the organization of production is the Scrutiny Committee, which views the completed film and has the power to accept it on behalf of the National Committee. The Educational Foundation for Visual Aids then receives the film. This organization was set up to ensure the production of the films planned by the National Committee and their distribution throughout the schools. Where local authorities are considering setting up a visual aids library a local joint visual aids committee is usually also set up to advise on the choice of material.

TAXES

IN ADDITION to the national Entertainments Tax which is specific in amount for each price category of tickets, there are income taxes and local rates which are applicable to kinemas.

While not considered in the direct category of taxation there is a special related feature worthy of note under the Sunday Entertainment Act, 1932, which gave local authorities permission to open and regulate cinematograph theaters on Sunday. The local authorities alone have the power to give such permission and it is estimated that nearly 70 per cent of the approximate 5,000 theaters in England are now permitted Sunday opening.

It is provided under this Act that the local authority shall demand from the theater a proportion of the profits for that day, part of which sums collected shall be used for local charitable purposes and another proportion paid into the Cinematograph Fund. Under the direction and control of the Privy Council for the purpose of encouraging the use and development of the cinematograph as a means of entertainment and instruction. Something like nine or 10 thousand pounds sterling is now received into this central fund annually and the principal use for it has been in supporting the British Film Institute, which is active in the promotion of the use of motion pictures for educational purposes.

The amount paid into the national "Cinematograph Fund" is only equal to about five per cent of the total collected by the various local authorities, the balance collected under the Sunday Entertainment Act, 1932, being devoted to local charitable purposes. Last year £438,900 was paid in Sunday tax by theaters.

In order to provide facilities for the troops to see films on Sundays, an emergency law regulation was passed in 1939 whereby, on application from local councils, licenses to open on Sundays were granted to 290 kinemas which ordinarily did not open on that day. The Act empowering this came to an end in February, 1946, but it was open to local councils to put in force the Sunday Entertainments Act of 1932, or apply for a draft order, so that the Sunday opening of kinemas can continue without interruption. Most of the local authorities of areas where Sunday opening was permitted have now applied for permanent powers to grant Sunday opening.

An important point in regard to Sunday kinema performances, was brought into prominence by a High Court decision that licensing authorities could impose a condition excluding children under 16. Later it was decided not to ban children under 16.

COPYRIGHT RELATIONS

UNDER BRITISH LAW and practice the interest of the author and producer are fully protected. The ordinary legal reference is the Copyright Act of 1911 as amended. Great Britain entered into copyright relations with the United States on July 1, 1891; extended April 9, 1910; further extended January 1, 1915. Great Britain is a member of the International Copyright Union at Berne.

Remittances to America in respect to films before the war were estimated at about £7,000,000 annually. During the war they had been; to October, 1940 — 4.8 millions sterling; 1941—5.7 millions sterling; 1943—26.5 millions; 1944—15.6 millions; for the five months to July, 1945—13.3 millions. Estimated remittance in 1951 under the Anglo-U.S. agreement was between eight and nine million pounds.

CANADA IN 1951

By CLARE J. APPEL

Executive-Director, Canadian Motion Picture Distributors Association

THE STORY of the Canadian motion picture industry in 1951 is an interesting and cheerful one, but it was only a chapter in a great and glowing one, not leather-bound, but pursued by readers in stimulating newspaper reports, especially during the latter months of the year. The Canadian dollar, which had been freed on the world market in 1951 found equality with the U. S. dollar in the early days of 1952 for the first time in 25 years. Financial experts predict that the Canadian dollar will be at a premium on the world market.

Nineteen fifty-one saw an upward swing in external trade reaching more than eight billion dollars. The general economic improvement also provided a tremendous upward swing in the index cost of living of approximately 20 points during the year putting it above the level of the United States, and in the matter of some consumer goods, the cost in Canada rose considerably higher. No one cares to predict what 1952 has in store for the family buyer, but retail and other businesses are generally worried about the close relationship of the pay envelope to the cost of living.

During the late months of 1951, the total number of workers with jobs had increased over last year by 122,000, bringing the total employed in Canada to 5,343,000. Higher wage advances in collective agreements were signed in the late months of the year with increases varying from 10 to 15 cents per hour to the largest groups. Weekly wages (not including those paid on farms) reached a new average peak in December, 1951 of $52.35. This compares with an average of $46.63 at December 1, 1950. No Government control of wages or prices exists in Canada, although the Government has been given authority to impose them.

Preliminary figures of Canada's population to June 1951, time of the latest census, stands at approximately 13.9 million, a gain of 20.7 per cent on the previous decade with Newfoundland coming in as a province. British Columbia was the fastest growing province during the decade with a gain of 41 per cent for a total population of 1,153,059. Ontario with 32.8 per cent of Canada's total population was second in growth percentage wise, and Quebec with 28.8 per cent of the total was next. Complete final returns may show the population of Canada to be over 14 million.

During 1951 approximately 175,000 Europeans found their way into Canada. Based on earlier reports it is reasonable to estimate that 57 per cent of the newcomers took up residence in Ontario—19 per cent settled in Quebec, and Alberta, with its oil boom, attracted eight per cent and British Columbia seven per cent of the total immigrants.

Only two per cent went to the Maritime provinces. The formidable barrier of language exists for most of these people, and it is not until the next generation that the true results of this heavy influx of tongues in foreign languages will be seen when they adapt themselves to the newer and higher standards of living that exist in Canada.

The prevailing pattern of new arrivals to Canada is that 60 per cent are under 30 years of age and more than 80 per cent are less than 40 years old. Should the pattern continue to be followed, the future of Canada is perhaps summed up in the preceeding sentence.

An example of Canada's attractiveness to the war-shattered and worried citizens of the countries of Northern Europe is illustrated in the number of French migrating to Canada. In 1950 less than 1,000 entered the country. Estimates are that five times as many have taken up residence in 1951. Most of these have probably made their homes in the predominately French province—Quebec.

THEATER CONSTRUCTION

Bans placed on the use of steel in January, 1951 for theater construction have necessarily impeded new theater building. Unless a community can show the steel controller excellent reasons for the need of a theater, none can be built. Certainly a permit will not be granted an individual without the support of the community. Controls will not permit major repairs where steel must be used in the renovations. Most provinces regulate theater construction in matter of public safety, and steel being a prime requisite, it can be safely predicted that Canada will see little theater construction in 1952 and the years ahead unless some relaxing of present controls is made, or world conditions change.

Many of the new theaters opened in 1951 obtained permits for construction before controls were legislated. Seventy-nine new theaters were opened in 1951 as compared to 118 in 1950. Eighteen new drive-ins were constructed and started operation in 1951 as compared to 32 in 1950. During the Summer and Fall of 1951, 11 additional drive-ins were under construction and these will be opened for business at the commencement of the 1952 open-air season.

THEATERS

Attendance at theaters in 1951 reflected the gain in population and it continued to show progress along with the general economy of the country. In 1941 there were 1,241 licensed 35mm theaters. In 1951 the total is 1,934, a number of which operate on a part-week, while others are on a seasonal basis. Canada has a relatively poor standing in the rating of attendance per person as a movie-going nation. It stands seventh according to the 1950 UNESCO survey. This is understandable because of the widely scattered and sparsely populated districts that make up much of the country. There are presently 71 theater seats per 1,000 population.

In 1941 there were 161,677,731 paid admissions to motion picture theaters — the figure for 1950 is 245,020,000. Receipts totaled $41,369,259 in 1941 while the final figure for 1950 was $86,713,357. It is believed that these figures will be exceeded substantially in 1951.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics is more than a year behind in furnishing complete compilation and the actual figure for 1950 is unknown. It would be a conservative guess to say that a gain of 10 per cent over the 1950 figure will be posted for 1951. That would bring theater net receipt in Canada to close to 95 million dollars.

The $86,713,357 net estimated for 1950 is $8,153,557 higher than 1949. The 1949 figure showed a gain of $8,902,500 over 1948. The Toronto Daily Star recently published a studied report in which men in the industry were said to have forecast a 16 to 20 per cent improvement in box office take in 1951 over 1950. That would bring in a net in the neighborhood of 100 million dollars receipts in Canadian theaters regularly classified as motion picture houses. It would be a tremendous increase over the figure posted a decade ago. The increase in money returns is accounted for by the construction of a number of modern theaters which set a higher scale of admission prices, and the minor increases that went into effect generally during the past three years when restrictions on prices and other conditions were removed.

TELEVISION

A Government report issued in October, 1951 showed there were 135,000 TV sets in Canadian homes. It is estimated that another 5,000 had been installed by the end of the year. Most of these are in the receiving areas of Buffalo and Detroit stations i.e., Toronto—Niagara penninsula and the Windsor—Lake Erie district stations i.e., Toronto—Niagara penninsula and the Windsor—Lake Erie district. Canada will have its first TV station in 1952. Located in Toronto, it will be operated by the Government controlled Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Others will follow at Montreal and Ottawa.

General Theater Supply will offer Simplex equipment and Canadian General Electric the Fox-Eidophor Swisscolour system when the market opens for them in Canada. No information is available at this time as to the source of other systems. The imperial, Toronto (F.P.C.C.) is the only theater in Canada equipped for television, and it is presently engaged in erecting receiving installation for picking up a clear theater TV signal reaching Buffalo on a closed circuit.

Exhibitor groups have been watching closely the effects of TV on theater attendance in the areas in which signals can be picked up. It is known that attendance has been off from six to eight per cent in some districts, but the general opinion is that television will reach the public in slow degrees and by the time a district has reached the saturation point with sets, many of the earlier owners will have returned to the theaters for their movie entertainment. Certain it is that film will provide practically all telecasting of Government operated stations for the simple reason that live entertainment is very limited, and if it was available it is believed that its cost would be beyond the reach of Canadian advertisers. Theater TV is something else again, and it will develop in a very limited relation to its development in the United States.

DISTRIBUTION

Distribution of fiilms and its facilities are, in the main, as reported in the FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK of 1951. Exceptions are the additional theaters opened in 1951 as noted previously, and the first drive-in theater to open in the Maritimes. Two more drive-ins will open in the Maritimes in 1952, one at Moncton, the other at Grand Bay, both are to be operated by Famous Players Canadian Corporation. Quebec is still without drive-ins, and unless the law prohibiting children under 16 to attend theaters is rescinded, which is unlikely, no drive-ins will appear in the province. It is unlikely that drive-ins will ever open in Newfoundland, and Price Edwards Island has only one in operation.

The large influx of new potential citizens —the fact that salaries and wages continued to rise and in addition to their buoyant level, more than 200 million dollars of Government money is due to enter the spending stream yearly via old age pensions—with cash farm incomes at record high levels—with vast sums pouring into Canada's oil fields and expanding industries—all of these factors point to another boom year in 1952. A lull in consumer buying recently influenced the Federal Government to ease controls on some installment buying. However, Canada's production volume per capita is unmatched by any other country and with 40 per cent of capital expenditure going for modern industrial machinery and equipment during 1951-52, it is reasonable to predict that as a nation Canada will continue to forge ahead and with it will rise the benefits to its people.

Foreign bankers speak in glowing terms of Canada—its stable Government, good industrious citizens, sound economy, good banking system and wonderful natural resources—minerals, oil and gas, forests, its water power and productive land. Many feel that Canada has a tough fight on her hands against inflation in 1952. The optimists however, point to the happy industrial revolution that is going on within her borders and they say that it spells nothing but a continuation of the records broken in 1951 for the next five years ahead.

CANADIAN EXCHANGE TERRITORIES

TORONTO

Ontario has about 35 per cent of the total seats in Canada and provides almost 40 per cent of the total theater admissions in dollars. Servicing this market are the Toronto exchanges who supply all of Ontario with the exception of 10 theaters in the North-West section of the province, who in order to avoid excessive express charges, and by permission of the Ontario Board of Censors, are supplied film by the Winnipeg exchanges. Ontario's 528 regular theaters provided $34,083,166 of the 1950 national net income of $86,713,357 recently reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for all theaters in Canada. Twenty-five new theaters opened in Ontario during 1950.

Nothing affecting exchanges has happened in the past year or more to change the manner in which films are released or distributed in the province.

MONTREAL

The predominantly French-speaking Province of Quebec with its 406 theaters is served by exchanges located in Canada's largest city—Montreal. This area is the second highest contributor to Canada's theater box offices, and in 1950 it furnished 24.5 per cent of the national theater income with a figure of $21,310,810.00.

Quebec is the only province that permits Sunday opening of theaters, yet for more than 25 years has had a law forbidding children under 16 years of age to attend theaters. Children are permitted to view pictures in parish halls, and theaters in small towns have bitterly complained about this type of competition. This competition is not regular, but in a number of places children do become "movie conscious" in parish halls throughout the province at least once a week.

Less than half of the 406 theaters use an entire program of English dialogue pictures regularly. Approximately one third of the total use French-dubbed pictures as one program each week. The dubbed picture is usually released about a year after the English dialogue print has had its showings. Strangely enough, the pictures that do the biggest business the first time around are usually the biggest grossers when they appear in their dubbed-version.

About 70 theaters use an entirely French-made or French dubbed program regularly. There are a few Parisian stars who have a big following in Quebec and one or two French films made in Quebec with radio favorites have been sensational box office attractions. But, it is the American-made and an occasional British-made dubbed picture that keeps the Quebec box office take at its high level.

SAINT JOHN

Saint John is the not too well located distribution center for the four Maritime provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. Their respective contributions to the box office totals in 1950 were—$2,053,595.00 for New Brunswick's 60 theaters; $3,266,536.00 for Nova Scotia's 79 theaters: $286,334.00 for Prince Edward's 14 theaters and $863,734.00 for Newfoundland's 38 theaters. In a year in which 147 new theaters were opened across Canada, the four Maritime provinces contributed only 11 new houses to the total. Eight of the 11 were opened in Newfoundland.

WINNIPEG

Exchanges located in Winnipeg serve theaters operating in North Western Ontario (10) of Manitoba and 154 theaters in Southern and Eastern Saskatchewan. This arrangement has been set up with the cooperation of the censor boards of the three provinces in order to give the exhibitors considerable savings in express charges. Indeed many small community theaters in these areas could not exist unless through such arrangement. The Winnipeg exchanges serve 135 theaters in the province in which they are located—Manitoba.

The Saskatchewan Censor Board views films at Winnipeg and the chairman of the Winnipeg Censor Board is given authority to authorize films for showing in the North Western section of Ontario. Films condemned in Ontario are the only exception, but condemned pictures are a rarity in these days of self-regulated production.

Manitoba's 135 theaters contributed $4,197,205.00 to the nation's 1950 box office total.

CALGARY

Here again the distributors furnish films to theaters in three provinces. The province in which Calgary is located, Alberta, is of course its main market with 178 theaters. Calgary exchanges also supply eight theaters in Eastern British Columbia and 45 theaters in North Western Saskatchewan. One theater in Yellowknife, North West Territory is also serviced.

Many of these houses are located in communities of a few hundred population and they operate only one and two days pers week. Obviously, express rates are important to their existence and the rentals received are regarded as good-will by the distributors rather than profitable bookings.

Alberta's 178 theaters that are within the province provided $5,314,331.00 of the 1950 total box-office take.

VANCOUVER

Only 92 cities and towns with a total of 164 theaters are serviced by the exchange center—Vancouver. It is the fastest growing of all provinces percentage-wise, but its growth is mainly confined to the cities and towns along the coast. It has the highest box office spending per capita of all the provinces as seen in the $7,826,356.00 net figure for its 164 theaters in 1950. An interesting comparison is the economy of the East and West coasts is to note that British Columbia with its 164 theaters contributed $1,356,157.00 more to the national box office total than the combined totals of all four Maritime provinces with 191 theaters. Weather is a contributing factor but spending money in the pocket is the more potent argument.

ITALY IN 1951

By EITEL MONACO

President of ANICA and of Italian Film Export

AT THE END OF 1951 we find the Italian motion picture industry in a phase of satisfactory improvement covering its three subdivisions: exhibition—distribution—production.

Exhibition

The number of theaters has increased during the year 1951; about 1,000 newly-constructed theaters have been opened; thus, there are actually in Italy 12,000 theaters in full activity, 9,000 of which with paying entries.

On account of the progressive penetration of the movies in small centers, country places, new quarters of key towns, the audiences and consequently box office receipts have constantly increased, as is shown by the following figures: the total number of tickets sold in 1938 amounted only to 300 millions, whereas in the last five years they went up constantly:

1948	579,000,000,000 lire
1949	607,000,000,000 lire
1950	653,000,000,000 lire
1951	700,000,000,000 lire

The gross box office receipts have increased in the same way:

1938	500 million lire
1947	28,400,000,000 ire
1948	41,900,000,000 lire
1949	53,300,000,000 lire
1950	61,450,000,000 lire
1951	70,000,000,000 lire

This figure of 70 billions Italian liras, representing the total gross box office receipts (equal to approximately $120 million), is very satisfactory. It exceeds by 40 per cent the total box office receipts during the same period in France.

Unfortunately there are very heavy taxes on Italian box office receipts, which render the operating of theaters more difficult and reduces the profits of film owners.

Import and Distribution

A large quantity of foreign films has been released on the Italian market. Obviously the U. S. production keeps the first place, as the quantity of films imported from the States is far superior not only to the national production but also to the total imports from other foreign countries. In fact, during the motion picture season running from the Oct., 1950 to Sept., 1951, there have been shown in Italy, in the first-run and dubbed edition: 280 American films, 207 of which were distributed through the direct correspondents of Companies associated with the M.P.A.A.; 105 Italian films; 26 French films (dubbed); 20 English films; 8 Mexican films; and others, totaling altogether about 460 films, against 550 shown during the previous season. This reduction resulted in a better average exploitation of every single Italian and foreign picture.

Production

In 1951 the Italian film industry made large progress in comparison to the previous years. At the end of 1951, the volume of production is at its highest point, with 110 feature-length films, 350 shorts and 300 newsreels.

The production plants have utilized 80 per cent of their production capacity. All workmen, technicians, artists, have been continuously occupied and unemployment in this particular branch does not exist anymore.

Particularly favorable technical conditions in the Italian film production assured a higher quota of receipts in relation to Italian films: in 1948 only 13 per cent of the receipts of Italian theaters came from Italian films. In 1951 this percentage jumped up to 24 per cent. However, U. S. production is still on top with about 60 per cent of the total receipts.

The film agreement signed by the MPAA and ANICA in April, 1951 in New York had a considerable effect on the industrial sector of the Italian industry. The favorable repercussions on the mutual relations—which was the purpose the negotiators had in mind—have materialized, removing all barriers which had separated for so many years the interests, companies and individuals of the respective American and Italian industries.

In an atmosphere of cordiality fostered by this agreement, the American industry has assured an extremely satisfactory volume of exports and distribution in Italy for a period of three years, as well as the immediate payment of a part of the proceeds; on the other hand, the Italian industry has got a direct support for its own exports to the U. S., and has already settled many single agreements with the main American companies, for an efficient cooperation covering production as well as exploitation of Italian films both in Italy and abroad. The third—but not the east—mutual advantage is the possibility of controlling the market, respecting however the justified requirements of the exhibitors, but preventing all abuses, cartels and refusals.

In conclusion, considering both the Italo-American motion picture relations and the improvements of the Italian production—as to quantity and quality—we may look forward to 1952 with optimism and confidence.

FRANCE IN 1951

By P. A. HARLE

FOR THE PAST three years, despite economic conditions, French exhibitors have been able to rehabilitate most of their theaters, thus facilitating a tilt in the grosses after several years on the downbeat.

Modernization of the equipment is noticeable in most of the main houses, ensuring good projection and sound. Also the offerings have been stretched from 10,500 feet per program to 11,900 feet thus permitting to better the shorts offered before the feature.

Also, despite economics, the total exhibitors gross, including the 28 per cent state tax, upped from 14 billion frs in 1947 to about 30 billion francs in 1951, approximately $100,000,000. Admission scales have reached the same coefficient of increase as salaries, without detracting patronage from normal weekly attendance.

During 1951, 100 features and 500 shorts were produced in France; also, 186 French dubbings and 200 subtitling jobs have been completed. Though in this amount of new production the "Bs" are plentiful and the "A"s too scarce, can it be said that the creative spirit has disappeared in France?

Men hep in the industry agree with us that some methods ought to be changed, and that the shake up of the end of 1951 will have brought some good if it can help do away with some unduly stiff administrative regulations, and also if it has made the industry "bookkeeping conscious."

But the French cinema "crisis" is not one of creative talent nor of the exhibition branch. It is merely one of financing, of industrial organization and of governmental steering.

Which totals to the fact that those who look upon the French cinema industry with fondness, or who merely consider it as a worthwhile market, should retain towards it a sympathetic and confident attitude.

At the present moment the French picture industry seems to be in an impasse, and cries "Wolf!" to call Heaven's attention to promote a miracle, or their Government's attention to promote a fat subsidy which their last estimates brought to about two billion francs, which is a lot of francs when you call about $Six million that way.

Before echoing the current cry of "wolf," the French industry leaders should do well to take stock of their own resources. They would find that, time and again, the French have pulled themselves, on their own power, from much narrower straights. Their basic resources are unimpaired: There is in France an unlimited wealth of creative talent, as fine a body of technicians as can be desired, and, judging by the fact that most studios are dark, more equipment than required. Admitted that the financial end is currently a shambles what is wanted more than a subsidy is reestablishing credits from the banks, based on leadership with organizing knowhow.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating: Whenever the French have made a picture on a sound basis that savored more of the industry than of a wildcatting promotion, they have cleaned up. Even in the States, few pix have garnered, in proportion of the outlay, as much as Ray Ventura's "We shall go to Paris" which put Hoche Productions definitely on the map. It is not from their Government, which possesses no cure all, but from their own leaders, that the French must expect to work their salvation.

The little general of Arcole, after keeping on the front page for some time and having his picture painted, promoted himself to Emperor and incepted a select body of men called Conseil d'Etat, which survived his own Government. From that source emanates the current head of the French Cinema Administration, Michel Fourre-Cormeray, whose job is about as popular and easy as was Eric Johnson's stint as U. S. Economic Coordinator. It wuold be far better for the French industry to have its leaders work out their problems with him than drag their Government into the current mess, and to seek light in the reports of their accountants than in the preachings of politically inspired Messiahs.

SPAIN IN 1951

By ANTONIO CUEVAS PUENTE

Statistical Department Head, Spanish Motion Picture Syndicate

MADRID

SPANISH MOTION PICTURE PRODUCERS considered 1951 the year of crisis for the industry here. However, this apparent crisis was not due to economic or technical factors of an industrial character. It is due to the fact that the Government, which has established a rigid, but not very efficient system of protection of the industry, announced a revision of the protective measures in force, causing producers to immediately suspend all projects and activities, while awaiting the new protective regulations.

The waiting period, however, has lasted too long, especially since new regulations are conditional to the accord with MPAA and SIMPP, (reached on Jan. 22, 1952).

In any event, the number of features filmed in Spain during 1951 was 42 (28 in Madrid and 14 in Barcelona), less than the 1950 total of 51 features, but more than 1949's 36 productions.

Consequently, 1951 cannot be considered a bad year insofar as production is concerned. As to quality, it can be asserted that notable progress has been achieved, even though, as in former years, many mediocre films were turned out. It must also be pointed out, however, that during the year, Spanish producers achieved a sustained series of successes, such as had not been seen in many years.

The industry here even had the interesting situation of having five Spanish productions playing at the same time in the best theaters of Madrid's Gran Via, most important film center of Spain, and therefore, the commercial "barometer" of the industry.

It is necessary to point out, however, that this increase in the exploitation of Spanish films within Spain was due in great part to the shortage of foreign films, especially American films. Since 1942, there had not been a year of such great scarcity to films on the market.

Breakdown of the 151 features shown in Spain during 1951 is as follows: Germany, two; Argentina, five; Spain, 36; France, 16; England, 10; Italy, four; Mexico, 13; U. S., 62; Sweden, two, and Switzerland, one.

As far as U. S. films—greatest commercial importance to the industry—were concerned, they have diminished considerably in recent years, to the point where in 1951 they amounted to only 40 per cent of the 1946 figure, and the lowest since 1943. Restrictions on import licenses for U. S. films were very rigid, due to the necessity of reducing foreign spending, but the European films also showed a noticeable decrease compared to previous years.

Without arriving at an exact figure for the "absorbing power" of the Spanish film market, we can accept the figure of 300 films per year as the necessary number for normal programming. This indicates how inadequate the total of 151 films shown last year was for the requirements of the Spanish theaters.

This shortage of new titles caused a decrease in theater attendance. Programs are not changed frequently enough, and it is necessary to keep films for longer runs than are commercially productive. All this results in a decrease in box office receipts, hurting both distributors and exhibitors.

Situation, nevertheless, appears to be transitory. Construction of new theaters continues at a good pace, with new houses being opened frequently, not only in the cities, but in the small towns, where there had not been a theater. An estimate of the census of theaters in Spain, now being carried out by the statistical department of the Motion Pictures Syndicate, indicates a total of more than 4,000 film theaters.

Another very important aspect of 1951 was the greater activity displayed by Spanish films in the export market, showing gains not only in the Latin American nations, but also in some European countries.

AUSTRALIA IN 1951

By J. GRIFFIN-FOLEY

SYDNEY

THE ISLAND CONTINENT Down Under in the Pacific, Australia is an immense country, which with its 2,974,581 sq. miles is almost the same size as the continental U.S.A.

Bulk of its population — 8,431,391 people at June 30, 1951 — is however concentrated in a comparatively narrow swathe adjoining the eastern and southern seaboards.

In the vast, sparsely populated hinterland 16 mm. has not flourished as might have been expected, because over the years 35 mm. shows had already taken root in almost all centers, however remote, of any consequence, albeit many screening only once or twice a week. Country folk think lightly of driving 40 or more miles, over bad roads or rough tracks, to town for a dance or a movie.

Australia is divided into six States and two mainland territories, and has eight capital cities. It has few provincial cities compared with other lands, owing to the peculiar population distribution.

In order of importance: New South Wales, 3,335,498 pop.; capital city, Sydney, 1,584,830 pop.; Victoria, 2,269,291; Melbourne, 1,326,400; Queensland, 1,211,240; Brisbane, 444,560; South Australia, 720, 040; Adelaide, 422,000; Western Australia, 581,486; Perth, 309,000; Tasmania, 290,838! Hobart, 83,600; Northern Territory, 16,422; Darwin, 8,400.

The Australian Capital Territory is small (24,892 pop.), and the Federal capital, Canberra (19,000 pop.), has only two theaters. There are two tiny shows elsewhere in the ACT.

With a vigorous immigration program, Australia is increasing its population at a rate said to be greater proportionately than the highest period of U. S. immigration. Total net migration gain in 1948 was 55,115; in 1950 it was 152,505; and 80,371 for the first nine months of 1951.

Australia is a wealthy country, with a national income now of around £A2.800.000.-

000 ($6,300,000,000), large sterling credit balances, but a perpetual dollar deficit. Its chief overseas income derives from wool and wheat. World wool prices had begun to decline by early this year (1952); and it was realised startlingly, in one of the world's larders, that food production had declined alarmingly.

Since the war years Australia has been riding a boom, or inflation. A basic wage system which automatically adjusts innumerable wage rates as the cost of living rises, and the pressure of more jobs than men to fill them, have given people ample spending money. Nevertheless individuals and businesses have been pinched in a costs-chasing-prices spiral. By late 1951 and early this year the Commonwealth Government was taking measures to brake inflation, mainly by control of capital issues and restriction of banking credit.

Because of the constantly adverse dollar balance, the Commonwealth of Australia imposes curbs on trade with America, with currency restrictions and import licensing. Film-wise, there are restrictions on remitting revenue to the U. S. By "agreement" with the industry, remittances are limited to a percentage of a base-year figure. This has not proved as severe as would seem; the base period, 1945-46, was a big year. 1944-45 was the peak year for rentals, but by June 30, 1948 rentals has slipped back by around £A800,000 ($1,800,000) combined Australian and New Zealand earnings. Also, with the industry's services to the country in wartime and the community in peacetime well recognised by the authorities, some liberalisation of currency control was won. The Commonwealth made an allocation of dollars gradually to liquidate the accumulation of frozen funds. The result has been that distributors' funds about equalled capacity to convert into dollars, and frozen coin has been small.

Now, however, distributors are again accumulating frozen funds for a box office upturn, and partly the result of increased admission prices, the current year (to June 30, 1952) is likely to top 1944-45 in rentals.

American films are by far the mainstay of Australian exhibitors. In the 1951 calendar year 427 features were imported into the country. Of these, the U.S. provided 347 (81.3 per cent. of the total), Britain 59 (13.8 per cent.) and other countries 21 (4.9 per cent.).

Thus the U.S. last year supplied an even greater percentage than in 1950, when American features represented 77.6 per cent. of the total features imported.

Decline of the British percentage is, of course, mainly due to curtailed production in the U.K. British pictures have won a successful place in Australia, though many of them have little box office strength outside the big cities.

Australian tastes are virtually the same as Americans', except that college football and baseball subjects are as strange as Punch is to puzzled eyes looking across the Atlantic.

Australians are enthusiastic moviegoers. Indeed, according to UNESCO they have proportionately more cinema seats than any other people in the world. UNESCO figures that Australia supports 183 seats per 1000 of population. That, however, is undoubtedly in error.

Australia has 1,650 picture theaters, with a total of 1,150,139 seats, and as careful calculation as has yet been possible shows (at September, 1951) that the country has 137.2 seats per 1000 population. This figuring ignores such indeterminate factors as occasional halls, itinerant exhibitors and 16 mm. fixed situations.

Sydney is shown to have 149.4 seats per thousand, Melbourne 117.8; the State of Queensland 164.2, Tasmania 94.7.

Australia is unshakably a double-feature country. The best first-run showcases in the biggest cities usually program one feature and shorts, made up to run about three hours. Nowhere does the grind policy operate. In the chief cities, theaters screen four sessions a day. The booking system of selling seats is in vogue (a legacy from legit.), lending dignity and prestige to motion picture entertainment.

Few neighborhood houses or subsequent runs show anything but double-feature bills, except when playing the longest epics. Consequently it is common to experience programs running three and one half hours (7.30-11 p.m.).

Theaters operate a six-day week, for the Australian States have bluestocking Sunday observance laws. A few theaters in Western Australia are exceptions in being allowed to show on Sunday nights. The theatrical employees' union is implaccably opposed to Sunday opening, and in this it is supported by exhibitors' associations.

Australia has many theaters which in quality measures up to the highest standards overseas, not only in the cities but neighborhood houses too. It cannot be pretended that sub-standard theaters don't exist, but Autralia's standards have earned unstinted praise from visitors.

The first de luxe theater was Sydney's Prince Edward, opened in 1924. It was followed by others, such as the chain of Regents, the States in Sydney and Melbourne, Adelaide's Wests Theater. Alongside those "dreadnoughts" (Melbourne Regent seats 3,250, Sydney State 2,579) are theaters of more intimate style and size, resulting from later thinking, such as the 918-seat Century in Sydney and — the country's most advanced in design, reconstruction from the burnt-out Liberty — the 917-seat Odeon in Melbourne.

Quality abounds also in suburbs and country. Most of Hoyts' 53 theaters in the Sydney and 45 in the Melbourne suburbs, and some of Greater Union's 40 Sydney suburban houses, are beautiful, modern and luxurious theaters.

Exhibition Structure

The two largest circuits are Hoyts Theaters, Ltd. and Greater Union Theaters Pty. Ltd. Hoyts is controlled by 20th Century-Fox (National Theaters Corp. before divorcement). Greater Union is 60 per cent. owned by the Rank Organization. In both cases management resides in Australian hands.

Additionally there is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Theaters. A small circuit, it comprises 11 houses; but they give M-G-M its own showcases in each of the capital cities, plus four theaters strategically located in the Sydney (three) and Melbourne (one) suburbs. Traditionally M-G-M's policy is one of supporting the independents who compete with the circuits. However, Metro is obviously ambitious to extend its neighborhood possessions in strategic locations; which causes independents fear.

Hoyts controls or participates in a total of 185 theaters, and Greater Union 128 theaters. It is sometimes argued that the big circuits control only a minor percentage of the total theaters of Australia. That, however, is a misleading argument, since they dominate most of the best-situated theaters.

The two biggest circuits have a mighty strong buying position. In addition to the numbers and importance of their theaters, their strength is heightened by an unwritten KOG ("keep off the grass") understanding which divides the product between them: 20th, WB, RKO, UA to Hoyts; Universal, Columbia, Paramount (except for two or three showcases which Paramount has by special arrangements) to Greater Union. This certainly applies to first-run dealings; buying for the subsequents has become more complex. In addition, Hoyts has Republic and London Films; GU has the Rank product. With this no-poaching understanding, unquestionably in a couple of cases the distributor would like to sell away from the circuit he's fathered with.

The exhibitors are banded together in associations.

Distribution Structure

The eight American majors operate in Australia, each with its own organization: head office in Sydney and branches in each of the five mainland capitals (Tasmania is handled from Melbourne). Columbia, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, RKO, 20th-Fox, RKO, United Artists, Universal International, Warner Bros., they are members of the Motion Picture Distributors' Association of Australia.

Republic has a distribution arrangement with 20th-Fox. The other principal distributor, with branches in all six States, is British Empire Films Pty. Ltd. (a subsidiary of Greater Union Theaters), which today handles principally the J. Arthur Rank Film Distributors' product. London Films has a small administrative organization and its distribution is handled by Universal International.

Twentieth-Fox is the largest exchange, in quantity of product handled. As well as its own and Republic it distributes Associated British-Pathe, Independent Film Distributors, and has been handling a bunch of Lippert films.

In addition there are three or four small distributors who handle a variety of revivals and reissues, vintage oldies ("Metropolis", Valentinos, Chaplins) and a few new releases. Two or three importers specialise on foreign-language films, mainly French and Italian, which have little distribution outside the few art houses.

Unlike America, printing, slides and trailers are handled by accessories departments of the exchanges themselves.

Theater Operation

Over most of the field, the standards of management, housekeeping, projection and sound reproduction are good to high. Almost all ushering is done by uniformed or gowned girls.

Showmanship, or ballyhoo, is pursued vigorously by the circuits, the distributors and numerous independent showmen.

Confectionary vending has become an important factor in theater revenue, chiefly exploited by the circuits. Hoyts particularly, and GU, have installed spectacular sweets bars. The two largest circuits are highly secretive about their confectionary operations: discretion with a wary eye to the distributors' feeling that they should get a cut from that extra revenue.

Popcorn is unknown — it is assumed impracticable to create a taste for it in Australians — but other confections and beverages are merchandised energetically.

Another considerable source of revenue comes from the short advertising films which pay exhibitors for screen time. Running two or three minutes, they are sound-recorded, sometimes shot in two-color process. They are screened in the program, immediately after intermission, in all the best theaters except the Metro houses, which won't play.

Drive-ins have not come to Australia. Open-air shows, or "gardens" alongside built-over theaters, in the hot climate of Western Australia and the North-East Coast enable exhibitors to show outdoors or indoors in season.

Equipment

Westrex and RCA Photophone operate nation-wide. National Theater Supplies (a Greater Union subsidiary) handles the Gaumont Kalee equipment. There are a couple of smaller equipment houses. There is considerable manufacture of projectors and arcs.

The equipment suppliers exist mainly on selling service and accessories. There is no great market for complete sound and projection equipments, for no one dreamed there would be virtually no theater building in the country for the past 13 years, since before the war. Prohibitions on building, because of building-materials shortages, may be removed this year.

Production

Ealing Studios' decision to close down the production unit it had maintained in Australia for some five years leaves the country devoid of any feature-production activity. Ealing withdrew after the Commonwealth Government's capital issues control refused approval for local capital to be invested in a joint Australian-Ealing production of an Australian classic, "Robbery Under Arms."

In 1951 20th-Fox shot "Kangaroo" on location; "Wherever She Goes" was released, a subject made by British interests and based on the life of Australian pianist Eileen Joyce; a misbegotten bushranger feature appeared; and another bushranging tale was made locally as an actioner primarily with an eye to U. S. TV.

Legislation

Entertainment tax is a Federal levy. The industry has abandoned hope of having a wartime impost removed or reduced. The Treasury collected total entertainment tax of £5,147,800 for the financial year ended June 30, 1951. No breakdown is available yet; but probably around 60 per cent of that would come from picture theaters.

Latest detailed returns are for the year 1948-49. The tax yielded £5,245,347, of which £3,341,409 come from taxing 129,872,000 admissions to picture theaters, £287,962 from taxing 4,193,000 admission to legitimate theaters, and the remainder from racing, sport, dancing and other amusements.

Censorship is exercised under the Commonwealth's customs powers. Though the States have sovereign powers of their own, they either officially or tactically leave film censorship to the Commonwealth Film Censorship. The result is a unified policy, a single censorship to deal with; and the Australian censorship is liberal in its exercise compared with various other countries.

NEW ZEALAND

THE BIGGEST FACTOR in film business in New Zealand is Robert J. Kerridge, whose Kerridge-Odeon circuit, in partnership with Rank, controls 122 theaters—25.5 per cent. of the total 35mm houses in the country. Second-largest circuit, Michael J. Moodabe's Amalgamated Theaters numbers around 50 houses. Altogether the major circuits control 185 of New Zealand's total of 480 theaters.

New Zealand has a total of 254,886 seats for a population (Sept. 30, 1951) of 1,955,480, including Maoris. A country of 103,416 square miles, it has four chief cities—Auckland, with a population (April, 1951 census) of 329,100; Christchurch, 174,200; Wellington, 133,400; Dunedin, 95,500.

The most authoritative calculation yet made (August, 1951) shows New Zealand to have 131.4 seats per thousand of population. Dissection shows marked variation between the cities: 130.2 seats per thousand in Auckland, 95.98 for Christchurch, 187.6 for Wellington.

In addition to its 480 standard cinemas, New Zealand then had 15 licensed intinerant exhibitors touring with 35mm, 65 fixed situations using 16mm and ten itinerants exhibiting with 16mm. Those have not been taken into consideration in the foregoing seating calculations.

New Zealand imports ample features for its needs (408 features for the year ended March 31, 1950). They are supplied chiefly by Columbia, London Films, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, Rank, Republic, RKO, 20th-Fox, United Artists, Universal and Warners. There are four small independent importers who handle some British and American independent product and a small number of European films.

New Zealand, a British Dominion, has a strong pro-British tradition and significant 1949-50 (the latest available) show 36,353,000 paid admissions for that year. That was a rise of 2,300,000—6.7 per cent—over the number of admissions recorded in the previous survey, of 1947-48 (regarded as an unfavorable year, which included a poliomyelitis outbreak). The statistician figured the annual average attendance per head of population at 19.2.

Gross theater revenue, including amusement tax, amounted to £3,018,932 for 1949-50. Admission charges contributed 92.4 per cent of that total, screen advertising 3.7 per cent and other revenue 3.9 per cent. Film hire represented 29.3 per cent of theater expenditure, salaries and wages 23.8 per cent, rent 11.1 per cent, advertising 7.4 per cent, amusement tax 5.2 per cent, repairs and maintenance 5.4 per cent.

New Zealand's admission prices are considered low. In his 1949-50 survey the Government statistician calculated the average admission charge as 18.4 pence (arrived at simply by dividing total paid admissions into total admission receipts, disregarding differences between adults' and children's prices and matinee and evening prices). That 18.4 pence average is believed lower than the average in Australia (for which no figure exists). Since then, however—late 1951—there has been, with Government permission, an all-round increase in admission prices.

In the equipment field, Westrex, RCA Pho- numbers of first- and second-generation people from the United Kingdom. Immigration is adding to the country's population; for instance, a net gain of 10,446 people for the year to June 30, 1951. The six months April to October, 1951 produced a net gain of 10,370. State-assisted immigration at present concerns itself only with newcomers of British or Dutch stock, so that such form the majority of immigrants.

With its people's pro-British partiality, British pictures do very well in New Zealand. Not only does the British studios' best command success there, as they do elsewhere, but average British product acording to trade authorities has a 10 per cent higher box office value than in neighboring Australia. Consequently possession of the British service (the whole year's line-up; block-booking prevails) is worth more to exhibitors than in Australia, and no doubt most other countries.

Nevertheless, American product is still the backbone of exhibition in the Dominion.

Statistics collected by the Government for tophone and Gaumont Kalee operate in New Zealand. Four native suppliers are in business, and there is some local manufacture of equipment.

There is no native production, except for the Government Film Unit, which makes some shorts and documentaries, of creditable standard, and one or two private enterprises chiefly engaged on industrials, travel films and such.

A prosperous primary-producing country, whose future seems assured by world demand for food and by development of new industries, New Zealand is also a notably conservative country. Its advertising and exploitation of pictures is conservative compared with Australia's. Admittedly the showman is handicapped by a most conservative press, which scarcely acknowledges the movies to have any news value.

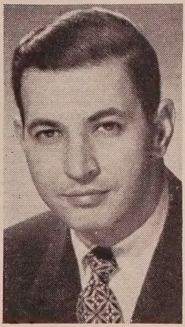
THEATRE TV READY AND ABLE

By NATHAN L. HALPERN

President, Theater Network Television

BY THE END of 1951, exhibitors all over the country had become aware that theater television was no longer merely an idea for the future; it had already evolved as a practical, working medium. The first network closed circuit theater TV programs—unavailable on free home television—clearly demonstrated that exclusive television attractions could draw big crowds of paying customers to theaters . . . and more than satisfy these customers.



HALPERN

Four of the six fights presented by TNT last Summer were sellouts, marked by large turn-away crowds. And admission prices were substantially advanced, in many cases coming to $2.60 per seat. Some theaters grossed over $9,000 for a single theater TV event.

In the fall, theater TV again demonstrated its dynamic appeal. Football, presented under proper competitive conditions, attracted Saturday afternoon crowds at advanced prices. The Cornell-Princeton game, for example, was a $2.40 sellout at the New York Guild theater—and over twice the theater's capacity was turned away—setting an all-time matinee grossing record for the theater.

As the box office records reflected theater TV's ability to draw paying customers, the number of motion picture exhibitors with theater television installations increased rapidly. Exhibitors, large and small, started joining the parade and by the close of the year, the early 1951 number of installations had been quadrupled . . . with an even large number of exhibitor orders for equipment waiting to be filled. Moreover, theater networking had passed out of the experimental stage, with the incorporation of the first theater TV network in TNT.

Theater Network Television (TNT) is the only program and distribution organization in theater television. Its functions include many broadcasting network duties . . . plus much that is handled by motion picture production and distribution companies. Entailed among these functions are production and creation of programs, from the negotiating and creative stages all the way through the actual TV camera pickups . . . the procurement of the necessary interexchange facilities from AT&T to transmit the programs from city to city . . . the distribution of programs to theaters equipped for TV . . . the creation of advertising and promotion campaigns for theater TV presentations . . . and the thousand and one other vital tasks involved in bringing programs (and audiences) to movie theaters through theater TV.

Since TNT is the only company currently networking exclusive theater TV programs to all exhibitors, a great many showmen contemplating theater TV installations in motion picture houses come to us for information, before ordering equipment. Because of our experience in the field. TNT is in a unique position to cast some light on the practical and economic prospects for individual theaters. In this advisory capacity, TNT has assisted many exhibitors in their planning for and operation of theater TV installations.

Once it has been determined by TNT that theater TV programs can be delivered physically to his theater, the exhibitor must evaluate the economic factors involved. Insofar as general costs are concerned, there are no specific answers—they vary with every presentation. The production costs, the telephone interexchange charges, and the number of theaters carrying a program are different each time. However, it is safe to say that as the number of installations increases, the unit theater cost to the exhibitor is decreasing. Naturally, when 100 theaters share in the cost of a program it costs less per theater than it does when 25 theaters carry it. And when there are several hundred theaters, the economics of theater TV will undergo a complete change favorable to theater profit-making.

Admission prices, too, must vary. The appeal of the program and the location of the theater determine what price can be charged. Some programs have sold out theaters in different cities at $2.60, but there is no reason to feel that should be taken as any kind of an average. Some events will be strong enough to make higher prices advisable while others may gross more at lesser prices.

Notwithstanding the variations in costs and the fact that experience in pricing is still being gained, the indications for 1952 are quite clear. The year will witness the industry-wide presentation of the important case for theater TV channels to the Federal Communications Commission. The first entertainment programs in theater TV will be networked to theaters, TNT's plans already including specially-made and ready-made entertainment. Obviously, these shows will be exclusive to theaters, and not for presentation on home television. TNT will also continue the networking of important sports and news events.

With a far greater number of houses already equipped, theater TV purchasing power will go up as costs per theater go down. And the bigtime theater TV entertainment shows will inevitably put exhibitors back where they belong . . . in show business.

MORE FACTS ABOUT PHONEVISION

By COMM. E. F. McDONALD, Jr.

President, Zenith Radio Corp.

LAST YEAR WAS a year of progress for Phonevision.

First—we had results from Phonevision's three-month test in Chicago which, with various substantiating surveys, proved that the public is willing and eager to pay for better programs than those now available on "free" TV.

McDONALD

Using the 90 feature pictures made available to us by nine major film producers, we brought to Phonevision's 300 families during the test a cross section of Hollywood production through the years preceding 1948.

All of these pictures had completed their first, second, and third theater runs. Some were reissues. Yet our experimental group bought Hollywood's entertainment at the average rate of 1.73 per week — about three times the national average attendance at motion picture theaters. And at all times during our trial run, Zenith's pay-to-see-it television for $1.00 per picture was in direct competition with the "free" offerings of four commercial TV stations on the air in Chicago.

By projecting our test returns to a theoretical 10,000,000 Phonevision equipped receivers we found in Phonevision a box office value for many of the features shown that was as great or greater than they originally yielded from motion picture showings. And remember there are already over 15 million TV sets in service, with millions more to come.

From the test we found out also that our families were highly selective in the choice of movies they decided to see on Phonevision-television. During the 90 days, patronage of individual films shown ranged from eight per cent to 60 per cent of the possible "full house."

There was also a significant indication of the depth of the new market that Phonevision opens for motion pictures. We found that on the average slightly less than 25 per cent of the people in our test audience had previously seen the pictures in movie houses. We also learned that on the average only 18 per cent of those that purchased each picture had seen it. In other words, 82 per cent of our audience was made up of people who had not seen these films during their first, second, or third runs in theaters, and 75 per cent of our possible audience had failed to see them during motion picture showings.

These are figures of tremendous importance to motion picture producers. They indicate that through subscription television, the motion picture industry can tap an almost entirely new audience, or as Hollywood calls it, the "lost audience." This is the group that includes people who for one reason or another seldom go out to the theater, as well as millions of shut-ins who find it physically impossible to attend the theater.

There is also another vast audience to be reached through the medium of subscription television. Motion picture producers who are aware of the box office value of subscriber TV in the domestic market are also eyeing its potential in terms of showing their films on TV abroad. During the past year, representatives of foreign governments and foreign broadcasting groups have expressed a decided interest in Phonevision. They, who are more familiar with subscription radio than we are, see in subscription TV a logical means of either introducing television to their home country or a method to secure additional revenue for an already established but financially limited system. It is entirely reasonable to visualize a coaxial cable network linking the capitol cities of Europe. Financing rather than engineering difficulty is the barrier of the moment.

Revenue is also the reason behind the strong boost that Phonevision has received recently from other groups. Many broadcasters, educators, civic leaders, advertising executives, and directors of professional and collegiate sports recognize the growing need for subscription TV if televsion is to fulfill its potential as the greatest medium of entertainment and education the world has ever known.

Many broadcasters favor the addition of a subscription system to television because it will make TV stations possible in smaller communities, as well as keep many important program features on the air.

Educators also have enthusiastically endorsed Phonevision. They are keenly aware of the fact that although the FCC has tentatively allocated a large number of TV channels for educational broadcasting, only a few colleges and universities have at their disposal funds large enough to meet the tremendous costs involved in television programming and station maintenance.

With Phonevision, their institutions have available an entirely satisfactory means of financing good operation of the stations alloted to them. With subscription from their public, they can meet the wide-spread demand for courses in adult education, classes in self-improvement, extension work at home and the like.

Also—so educators tell me—a college education would be possible for millions who cannot afford the time and money required for four years on campus but who could afford two years, for example, and secure the rest of their credits by means of Phonevision.

Sports leaders and promoters are another group which is giving Phonevision a boost. There's definite agreement that subscription television is the only method by which they can afford to telecast their events, and some see it as the only way they can survive the growing competition of home TV.

In intercollegiate circles, for example, only two sports—football and basketball—are substantial money makers. In most institutions, revenue from these two finance the entire college athletic program. If this income dips, then the entire broad program of physical education and intramural competition must be curtailed.

That is why the National Collegiate Athletic Association has been so critically conscious of the effects of television on stadium attendance, and has followed its program of either limited or "black out" broadcasting of football games.

That is also why so many collegiate sports directors echo the statement of Robert A. Hall, chairman of the Board of Athletic Control at Yale University, who says:

"Phonevision is the genuine solution to the problem of bringing athletics to all the people and particularly the youth of this country. At the same time, it would provide a method by which our athletic programs in the universities could be financed."

Yes—I think I have real reason for saying that 1951 was a year of progress for Phonevision.

In 1952, we hope to move along even further. We plan to petition the FCC for authorization of subscription television as a commercial service.

If the decision of the Commission is favorable to Phonevision, then television will soon be able to present to all of the American public almost everything of beauty and value in the field of entertainment, spectator sports, education, and information.

BOX OFFICE TV ASSURES FUTURE OF MOTION PICTURE EXHIBITOR

By ARTHUR LEVEY

President, Skiatron Electronics & Television Corp.

THE TELEVISION ERA, now in its fifth year of commercial fruition, has, in this short span of time, created more havoc in more industries than any inventive development since the dawn of the industrial revolution.

LEVEY

Confusion, panic and unallayed desperation has swept through many quarters. Radio broadcasters without TV station licenses or building permits, quivered with fear while awaiting the lifting of the seemingly endless freeze on new stations. Motion picture producers and distributors, eyeing the upstart industry that matches their own so closely, are deeply suspicious of what the toddling electronic tyke is likely to do to production and distribution practices that have been common for nearly a quarter of a century.

And the motion picture theater operator—the exhibitor whose whole existence revolves about the silver screen that looms large on the wall of his showplace and the entertainment he sells therefrom—is completely in a quandry, having come to grips with a competitive force that is so akin to his own business, and yet serves up its entertainment gratuitously. This business of something (no matter how tawdry) for nothing hits the exhibitor where it hurts the most: in the cubicle of survival, the box office.

Yet, despite the wonderment of this electronic miracle, its ability to mirror the national scene and instantaneously transform that picture into myriads of electronic particles that spray through the spectrum from coast to coast and etch themselves together again on luminescent TV screens of 16 million set owners, economic factors still exist that cast a long shadow over an otherwise glowing dream world.

History teaches that whenever invention stimulated the progress of man, the old invariably fell before the new, but the transition was gradual and economic factors dictated a merger of methods, rather than an immediate disintegration of services made obsolete by the emergence of newer, more efficient tools of operation.

So it is with television and its encompassing impact on all facets of the world of entertainment. Existing elements of this immense bloc on the American scene must harness television as a tool for future growth, rather than regard it as a force of evil. And a united motion picture industry, combining the forces of production-distribution with those of exhibition, and striking forward as men of goodwill, can take TV in its stride, bridle the "beast," so to speak and put it to work.

Subscriber-Vision, a method of television transmission that provides the combined forces of the motion picture industry with its surest tool of survival—the box office—can, and we are certain will, protect the future of the exhibitor; give to the producer-distributor sources of additional income that will make possible entertainment of a quality unmatched in the past, and will thereby permit the survival of a force on the American scene that has been a bulwark in our economy for nearly two score years.

It is abundantly clear that the American system of "free" broadcasting is here to stay, but it is equally clear that as long as programming is free to an audience that is already approaching the 100 million mark, doorways to stadia, arenas and other public halls where events that require a box office are staged, plus entry to exhibition of Hollywood's latest and best product, will forever be closed to the viewing public—unless. And that exception rests solely and completely in a system of subscription or box office television.

Economic factors simply require that the public pay for seeing certain events in their homes, just as they would pay—and most willingly—to see many of these events in person. There is sound logic in the plaint of amateur and professional athletic promoters that it is economically unsound to let millions of people "walk through the turnstiles" via TV to see a sports contest while an advertiser pays the equivalent of fractional mills per head on their behalf.

By the same token it is equally fantastic for Hollywood to permit its prime product to be wafted through the airways in a single transmission that might reach multiple millions without expecting a financial return at least equal to what the average moviegoer pays for screen entertainment at his neighborhood theater. To do less would be economically unsound.

Yet, if the public is inclined to see its film entertainment at home on the newest of our 20th century marvels, the television receiver, the exhibitor, who would normally supply this motion picture entertainment and the producer-distributor, who would normally film and ship his product, should get together and make this possible. And it is definitely possible—right now!

The only thing required is an electronic "ticket," and this is readily available with Skiatron's Subscriber-Vision method. By inserting a fool-proof, decoding card or "ticket" into a small, compact device attached to the rear of a regular television receiver, a set owner who has purchased one of these tickets for a specific event televised via scrambled image circuit, has access to the program for which he has paid a nominal price. The set owner who does not acquire a ticket simply doesn't "get in."

With this method—which absolutely insures the status quo of the motion picture industry—all branches of the film business cannot help but prosper. As the plan is envisaged, the FCC first must give its approval to subscription television as a necessary adjunct to television broadcasting in the interest of public convenience and necessity. And a hearing on such a service is inevitable.

Once this is established, the production-distribution segments of the industry must move in one or more directions: either apply to the FCC for a group of channels which might be designated as the "movie band," from which paid-for programs of latest feature films can be transmitted, or effect deals with present and future licensees of TV stations to acquire blocks of time during evenings from which to transmit the scrambled images of current attractions.

With 31 exchange areas, the producers and distributors might erect a central tower in each area, and by multiplexing signals off these towers, as many as six or more current features could be sent hurtling into space nightly.

The exhibitor's role would be identical with that which he plays today: selling tickets to patrons visiting his theater, to see the latest feature film, or providing Subscriber-Vision decoding "tickets" for those who desire to see the current attraction at home.

To make the plan as effective as possible, the distributor would book as many prints of a current feature into as many theaters as feasible within a 40 to 50 mile range of his exchange. Thus in a single night, more people would be seeing that same film either inside a theater or on a home receiver than might witness the picture in theaters alone over a period of a year!

The status quo of the industry remains completely intact: the producer-distributor sells his product to an exhibitor and the exhibitor sells it to the public. There is a complete check on every ticket sold, because there is a box office, but with the addition of TV, hundreds of millions of dollars more would pour into box offices. Tickets for home viewing of specific attractions could be sold at theater box offices weeks in advance—the public could either visit the theater or other places of public access, such as newsstands, chain stores, and the like, to purchase its tickets.

I am convinced we are coming to this form of television very quickly and at least one top exhibitor shares this view. Interviewed by a trade journal on our proposal that exhibitors share in the benefits of subscription television through cooperatively participating with producers in exhibiting current films via paid TV, Harry Brandt, president of the Brandt circuit stated he felt it was "a very conceivable idea." He believed the only future for films in the home and in theaters together rested in some form of subscription television, but "the exhibitor must be the cog in the wheel around whom the plan rotates."

And the radio editor of the New York Times only recently came to the conclusion that "if commercial television as it now exists is forced to acknowledge its limitations, then the viewing public has every right to turn to a supplementary system of TV that is capable of meeting public demand: box office television for the home."

To which we echo: no greater truth has been spoken!

A HOLLYWOOD LOOK AT TV PRODUCTION

By J. NEIL REAGAN*
Vice-President, McCann-Erickson, Inc., Hollywood

PERHAPS rather than "A Hollywood Look at Television Production" we should re-title these brief remarks, "Television Looks at Hollywood Production".

Until the recent completion of the cable-micro relay system linking the West Coast to the rest of the country we were isolated markets. The few examples of Hollywood productions reached the East as kinescopes and vice versa—certainly not a product designed to heighten mutual respect for abilities.

At the present moment the relay facilities are limited but it is expected that more will be available by the time the political conventions are under way. This will not, however, solve the time differential problem. The solution at the moment is origination on the West Coast and transmission via relay and cable to the East Coast at a prime time, and a quick "kine" off the tube for release at the prime hour in the West. The quick kine has been perfected to the place where it is acceptable to the public. This only works, however, on West to East transmission.

The time differential problem alone is sufficient to bring on a discussion of live versus film. In this debate on "Entertainment, Canned or al Fresco" there are many factors to be considered, but of paramount importance, of course, is the answer to the question, "Which will best serve the client?"

Let us take the case for films, and this is not by way of implying that "live" programming is well on the way to its death throes. There are many signposts which indicate that there is serious doubt, in the minds of the carriers, that we will see in television a duplication of networks as we know them in radio. There's evidence on hand to support the statement that the networks are giving considered thought to the role film will play in their futures. General Sarnoff has made statements that indicate the future of network television, as we now use the term network, is being questioned.

Facilities now under construction on the West Coast bear out this questioning. The 35 million dollar facilities CBS has under way on the Coast, plus their film department expansion which includes an influx of former movie personnel, could be more than a straw in the wind. The same holds true of the projected NBC plans which include utilization of the 49-acre property they recently purchased from Warner Brothers-First National Pictures in Burbank, plus the aggressive expansion of their film syndication department.

From the standpoint of facilities, where does the client figure in terms of film? Experience has shown that by and large a national advertiser can do a better job of tailor making his coverage by spot buying. And in many instances can greatly increase his coverage with this type of operation.

This of course means filming the show. Having his show on film makes it possible for the client or his agency to pick up new time as it suddenly opens up—affords better exploitation possibilities—and he has a property which is available for re-run or for co-operative sponsorship on a national level with his dealers.

*Based on an address delivered at the 1952 annual meeting of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

Other advantages of film that accrue to the advertiser, and of as much importance as those mentioned, include: low cost once second and third runs have amortized production expenditures; high quality in attaining effects not possible in live production; ease of handling for the client and agency who are freed from fear of fluffs; and shortage of live studios.

And while we are on the subject of facilities it might be well to take a look at Hollywood production facilities. I've already made mention of the expansion that CBS and NBC have under way.

ABC-TV Center, the remodeled Vitagraph movie lot, is perhaps the largest and most completely equipped television operation of its kind.

KTTV, owned by the Los Angeles Times, is housed on another full sized motion picture lot modern in every detail for it was built since the last war and operated as a picture lot before being taken over by KTTV.

The Hal Roach Studio, of course, is a picture lot in Culver City which is currently producing eight TV shows a week, and could take on six or eight more without crowding.

General Service Studios, another picture lot, is currently filming the "I Love Lucy" series and the Red Skelton commercials but could accommodate at least 12 more productions weekly.

Add to this list the Goldwyn Studios with over 50,000 square feet of space available, Fairbanks studios, Motion Picture Center, Eagle-Lion, California, Monogram and others, and it becomes evident there is no space problem in Hollywood.

In addition to all these facilities it must be remembered that the room for expansion is available. And in television it becomes more apparent day by day that ample space often means a savings in production costs.

Facilities-wise Hollywood is also a beehive of activity in the field of technical development relating to television. This is a story that would take days to tell but I would like to tell you about one development that bids well to cause a stir in the field of television commercials.

Some years ago in a picture called "Citizen Kane" you saw some shots in which foreground and background were in perfect focus. These were done with a lens and camera developed by Ralph Hogue, a young inventor interested in the picture field. He was associated with the late Lee Garmer, one of Hollywood's top camera men and a winner of several Academy Awards. There has been a continuing refinement and development of both lens and camera and it is now ready for use in television film making.

I saw a screening of some of the experimental films the other day. One was a commercial of a packaged product. First of all the original package was used. This would have been impossible on the regular camera as its color combination was all wrong for TV reproduction. I saw the package on a tight close-up in perfect focus and the display in the background, readable and in perfect focus.

Other pieces of demonstration film showed close-up detail of a ring held almost up to the lens while persons across the street in the background were in sharp focus. Some of the film was shot with ordinary home lighting. And the operation of the camera does not require other than home current.

While viewing this demonstration film one could run over in one's mind the many uses to which this lens and camera could be put to better show a client's product. This is only one of a stream of developments that will be coming now that Hollywood is convinced television is here to stay.

A discussion of live versus film often brings up the factor of relative loss of spontaneity and intimacy with the home—the studio—and the audience. There is a question as to the validity of this argument. The range of program types put on film for theater consumption has been wide. One can hardly say that Bob Hope and his comedy has been less successful on the theater screen than on television while working to a live audience. The same is true of a big MGM musical or a Paramount "Lost Week End".

The fact that filmed shows in TV are currently landing in the top 10 rating-wise might indicate that the show is still the thing regardless of whether it's live or film. Again we must say it should be in the form that best serves the client. Certainly not every client stands to benefit through use of film. Certain types of shows—timely panel shows, interviews, sports events and spot news by their very nature lose rather than gain impetus through filming.

Hollywood, of course, is not exactly given to understatement. It is the home of the "best" and "most colossal" of everything—movies, oranges, mortgages and certainly television. I hope I will therefore be pardoned for saying that it is the home of the world's greatest talent pool.

And every day more of that talent pool becomes available for television. Every day stories are heard of this star or that artist negotiating for renewal of his contract with a picture studio and holding out for television rights as one condition for re-signing.

Yet you also hear them say that when they do television it will be on film. This stand is taken for many reasons, not the least of which is the fact that it is their field, they are schooled in it and it affords them the protection of their art which a live show can not. They know that on film the climax they have been building for, the pace they have established, will not be destroyed by a demand to stretch or by some on-the-air cutting to meet time deadlines.

They know they'll get better lighting and camera work, broader scenic scope and a less restricted feeling brought on by time elements and the fear of fluffs. These are all their stock in trade and add up to performance which is all they have to sell. This is all to the advantage of the man who is paying the bill for top performance.

This is not to say that they will not, in many cases, be available for live guest shots for they will. But on a continuing basis they want to do their shows from the Coast where they make their homes. They want to do those shows on film and perhaps wrap up a season's product to allow for time off. There is also the growing feeling among TV producers in Hollywood that the industry should develop some stars on its own. And they sincerely hope they can sell agencies and advertisers on the soundness of such a venture.

From the union and guild standpoint Hollywood is in no different position than any other production center. Jurisdictional disputes are gradually being ironed out. As the guilds and unions put their houses in order they move to the next order of business—that of industry-wide negotiations with producers of television both live and film. They have been taking their time rather than rushing in and committing themselves too soon to scales lower than they thought traffic would bear.

It's a safe bet that in the film field Screen Actors Guild is going to insist on re-run royalties. Their realistic appraisal will perhaps lead them to settle for something less than full salaries for subsequent re-runs. This demand on the part of SAG has of course led to re-run rights considerations by all the craft guilds and unions involved in film making.

This brings us back to the question "Entertainment, Canned or Al Fresco?" for after all the show is the thing.

The great problem of live television is rehearsal time. It's dandy to be spontaneous if your performer has the natural wit and timing of a Groucho Marx, whose show incidentally is filmed, or a Jerry Lewis, who says one TV show is harder on him than a dozen night club performances. But if you've ever attended the first rehearsal of a Broadway show, however great the cast, you know the vast difference between a well rehearsed performance and a careless one.

As we know, Broadway shows seldom if ever are brought into New York short of four weeks' rehearsal and out of town performance time. I know of no television show that well rehearsed.

But even a Broadway theater performance isn't good enough for the TV screen. A TV show is, in a manner of speaking, one long close-up—the distance of the actors from the audience in a Broadway show not only lends enchantment and scope to the production, but it covers a multitude of sins. Those sins exposed could not be weathered by the television screen.

A live television show is, by its very nature, a continuous stream of "first takes". Not one first take in a dozen is good enough to print in the average "A" picture. Even "B" pictures average three or four takes per scene. Only the best one is printed, and then the film editor chooses from the best long shot, the best close-up and perhaps the best "over the shoulder" shot.

Though I can't name one at the moment perhaps there are or have been a few great novelists who never re-wrote. And while it would be a pleasant thought for artists, copy writers and layout men, it's hard to visualize the agency or client who consistently accepted the first layout, the first caption or the first block of copy. Most of us have to re-do, re-write and polish and re-write again.

A live TV show is a show that hasn't been polished, or re-written or edited for pace. In the interest of self-preservation let me make it plain that that last statement is with reference to the "on the air" performance. I fully realize that plenty of re-writing and polishing takes place prior to the red light.

A filmed show is a re-written, polished and edited show in performance form. And even the great "spontaneous" performers—the Grouchos, Bings and Jerrys—prefer it for that reason.

All other things being equal, a live TV dramatic show compared to the same drama with the same actors placed on film, is as inferior to its celluloid counterpart as a "B" picture is to the average "A". One bad break, fluff or mike boom shadow will destroy the gossamer fabric of belief on which all drama depends hopelessly and irretrievably.

Filmed television costs more? What doesn't these days? But mistakes and accidents are costly, also. In the end you don't sell a quality product with a second rate show.

I have left until last the one thing that Hollywood offers to the television industry that has made itself evident to producers who have arrived in that land of make-believe to do a one time shot or a series, whether it be alive or on film. It's an intangible something that has brought favorable comment from every experienced outlander. They are amazed at the progress that has been made in production know-how after having gotten off to a belated start, and they are enthusiastic about the attitudes and approach everyone from the porters to the vice-president in charge of . . .

As one Eastern producer put it after a trek to the West Coast to do a one time shot —there is an all-pervading spirit of challenge, enthusiasm and cooperation. As far as earnest effort is concerned, go West for the best.

As for the progress that has been made in Hollywood TV production, it may be argued that it took certain key personnel from the East to set up the West Coast operation and that is true. But while these experts brought experience and know-how, they found the most important ingredient for creative success awaiting them—a spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation in every department.

I would be a poor showman and a poorer citizen of Hollywood if I did not close by saying that there is no substitute for this enthusiasm and Western spirit of "tell us what you want, we can do it."

THE MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION

THE MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION is expected to play an increasingly vital role in furthering the interests of the film industry at home and abroad.

Under the leadership of President Eric A. Johnston, the association has greatly widened the scope of its activities. In the foreign field, this has meant the expansion of the association's International Division to meet the many restrictive problems overseas.

At home the association is placing greater accent on its self-regulation and community-exhibitor relations programs, as well as on economic and technical reesarch activities. A long-time fighter for freedom of the screen, Johnston is expected to intensify this campaign during the coming months.

Johnston also has expanded the association's visual education program. The association has worked closely with leading educators to develop the maximum usefulness of motion pictures in education. In the theatrical entertainment field, Johnston implemented the Children's Film Library program, which has had a wide measure of success in assuring the availability of films specifically suitable for children.

PRODUCTION CODE ADMINISTRATION

SELF-REGULATION of motion picture production evolved gradually from early beginnings in 1922 when the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America was founded. Several progressive steps to establish higher standards of distribution culminated in the adoption on March 31, 1930, of the Production Code, which continues as the basic document in the industry's policy of self-regulation.

This Code, a voluntary agreement entered into by the member companies, acknowledges the producers' responsibility to the public and asks in return "a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people."

The Code machinery of self-regulation operates at four points:

1. The original story or play is submitted to the Production Code Administration for suggestion and criticism before the first screen adaptation is written.
2. When the script is completed, it is submitted for a check with Code requirements.
3. In the early stages of production, members of the Production Code Administration staff are often called in to discuss sequences that present problems.
4. After this careful reviewing all along the way, the finished picture is reviewed and, if it meets Code requirements, a certificate of approval is issued.

The Code machinery is available to all producers, foreign or domestic, whether or not they are members of the Association, a service increasingly utilized.

How well the Production Code Administration has performed its functions in maintaining both Code Standards and the integrity and vigor of the screen as a medium of entertainment is evidenced by the steady stream of high quality pictures that continues to flow from the studios.

ADVERTISING CODE ADMINISTRATION

AS WITH all forms of self-regulation in the motion picture industry, the efforts of the member companies of the Association, through the provisions of the Advertising Code (adopted June 10, 1930), are directed toward promoting and maintaining a high standard of advertising throughout the industry. This cooperative effort brings into conformity with the requirements of good taste all press books, newspaper advertising, trailers, outdoor displays, novelties and other forms of publicity and exploitation.

All motion picture producers, whether or not they are members of the Motion Picture Association, who accept the Production Code seal on their product thereby agree to conform also to the Advertising Code.

To insure uniform interpretation of the Code, all advertising material is submitted in advance to the Advertising Code Administration at the Association's office in New York or its branch in Hollywood.

INTERNATIONAL DIVISION

AMERICAN motion pictures constitute one of this country's leading export commodities. They are widely exhibited in every country of the world with the exception of the Soviet Union and most of the countries now under Communist domination.

Monetary returns from motion pictures in foreign markets account for a substantial portion of the American film industry's total revenue. Few other American industries rely on foreign markets to such an extent.

In addition to their commercial importance, American films—more than any other medium of mass communication—are recognized as a powerful influence in fostering democratic attitudes and in conveying to peoples abroad an understanding of American life, customs and institutions. While American movies are popular primarily because of their superior entertainment values, the social and ideological by-products which they carry have had a tremendous impact on film-goers of every nation in which American films are exhibited.

The heavy reliance of the American film industry on revenues from abroad and the increasingly vital role its product is playing as ambassadors of democracy have invested the Motion Picture Association's International Division with important responsibilities.

Constant objective of the Division's efforts is to hold down to a minimum, through negotiation, the restraints officially imposed by many foreign governments on the free distribution of American films, and to eliminate these curbs wherever possible. Typical of the barriers placed in the path of American films abroad are limitations on film imports, screen quotas, excessive import duties, dubbing taxes, and substantial levies on theaters, admissions and earnings.

In the post-war years, widespread economic disruption in Europe and Asia, and a consequent shortage of dollars, made it increasingly difficult for the American film companies to maintain a steady flow of dollars from its overseas markets. Earnings in a number of countries were partially frozen, and in some, completely frozen.

A serious additional monetary jolt was the British currency devaluation of September, 1949. Its chain reaction had the immediate effect of reducing the overall value of frozen American film earnings abroad by about 30 per cent.

By the end of 1951, revenue gains resulting from a steady resurgence in the popularity of American films, were sufficient to offset the devaluation losses in a number of countries overseas. Dollar remittances from abroad in 1951 were estimated to have been the second highest in the industry's history, topped only in 1946.

Definite progress was made during the year in the reduction of discriminatory legislation against American motion pictures and in easing, in some countries, the tight clamp imposed on dollar remittances.

Noteworthy international developments last year included the conclusion of a new Anglo-American film agreement substantially increasing the amount of remittable dollars; the establishment of unrestricted importation of our films into Germany; a new film agreement with Italy, settling serious problems then existing between the two industries, and providing for large-scale dollar remittances; a new film pact with Spain, which "regularized" that market for American films for the first time in many years; implementation of the 1950 agreement with Argentina; and increased dollar transfers from a number of countries including Australia, South Africa, Finland, Sweden, Holland and Indonesia.

While the upward trend continued through the year, economic warning signs loomed in many overseas markets, possibly auguring new commercial and monetary obstacles for American films to contend with in 1952.

The International Division has representatives stationed in six key parts of the world. They serve as liaison with foreign film distributors and with member company distributors and report to MPAA headquarters on all matters relating to motion picture interests in their respective areas. Presence of these men in the field enables the International Division to take prompt action on matters requiring remedial attention. Not infrequently, when adverse legislation is anticipated, speedy appeal and negotiation by the International Division has been successful in delaying and discouraging enactment.

Film Boards of Trade composed of local representatives of American motion picture distributors are maintained in 16 foreign countries. They operate under the general guidance of the Association and their activities, reported regularly and in detail, are shared with member companies.

In its second year of operation, the Advisory Unit for Foreign Films extended assistance to 63 producers of foreign films from 22 countries. The Unit was established in December, 1949 as an integral part of the International Division for the purpose of making available to foreign film producers the information, knowledge and merchandising experience needed to help them market their product in the United States. Its basic objective is to encourage the importation of more good foreign films to this country, thereby helping to stimulate the flow of dollars to film-producing countries abroad.

The Advisory Unit is essentially consultative in character. Statitsics on the American film market compiled specially by the Unit for foreign film producers are readily available. The Unit gives information on the clearance of films through U.S. customs; on standard distribution and exhibition practices; the operation of the Production Code; state and local censorship regulations, and other items—all calculated to smooth the path of the overseas producer who has a film to sell here.

The increasing number of foreign producers or their representatives who called on the Advisory Unit for assistance in 1951 reflects a growing awareness of the value and usefulness of the Unit's services.

COMMUNITY SERVICE DEPARTMENT

THE Community Service Department provides information and assistance to civic, cultural and educational community leaders who are interested in directing the attention of the public to worthwhile current motion pictures presented in theatres. The department also assists theatre managers to adjust their entertainment programs to the needs of the entire family and the interests of important groups in their communities. Among the activities to which the department gives its cooperation, or sponsors, are the following:

Preview Services

The department, through the cooperation of motion picture distributors, provides previewing facilities affording the following national groups opportunity for early screenings of pictures:

American Association of University Women
American Jewish Committee
American Library Association
Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation
Children's Film Library Committee
National Society Daughters of the American Revolution
National Federation of Music Clubs
General Federation of Womens Clubs
Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.
Protestant Motion Picture Council
United Church Women
National Congress of Parents and Teachers
Schools Motion Picture Committee

Each of these national organizations designates a national motion picture chairman who in turn appoints a preview chairman and an editorial chairman. The preview committees vary in size, having from ten to fifty reviewers.

Each national organization distributes its own preview reports directly to its members, either through mimeographed or printed bulletins or in their national house organs or magazines.

The preview chairmen also make their reports available to the Fox West Coast Theatres Corporation where they are compiled in a four-page printed bulletin titled "Unbiased Opinions." "Unbiased Opinions" are mailed largely to exhibitors but in addition reach a large number of special contacts interested in the points of view of the different national organizations.

Joint Estimates of Current Motion Pictures

For the larger national distribution, concerned rather with a joint estimate of motion pictures than with the point of view of the individual organization, the preview chairmen, sitting as an editorial board, compile reviews published as the JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES. This semi-monthly report is popularly known as the "Green Sheet." JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES provides three basic appraisals:

Audience suitability classifications:
F—Family.
A-YP—Adults and Young People.
A—Adults.

In addition, the "Green Sheet" provides an appraisal of each picture's content as to entertainment value, moral acceptability, and educational merit.

As the audience classifications are not to be interpreted as merit classifications, the reviews of the pictures undertake to express the editorial board's judgment. Photoplays held to have outstanding merit are awarded the distinction of a star. Where the opinions of the editorial chairmen are not in agreement, the estimate of the majority is reflected in the appraisal, and the exceptions, either in audience classification or general ratings, are noted.

The Motion Picture Association prints and distributes JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES for the national groups doing the previewing.

Subscriptions to JOINT ESTIMATES are available to individuals identified with some organized group in their community and to interested exhibitors. Requests to obtain the "Green Sheet" should be addressed to the Joint Estimates of Current Motion Pictures, 28 West 44th Street, New York 18, N. Y. Upon receipt of such request, a questionnaire will be mailed to the applicant asking what type of materials is desired, and what affiliations with public activities each applicant has in his or her community. Upon receipt of the questionnaire, the applicant will be placed on the mailing list to receive not only the JOINT ESTIMATES but other material related to specialized phases of motion picture art or industry applicable to the indicated interest or activity of the recipient.

Children's Film Library

In the brochure—available on request—explaining the Children's Film Library, Eric Johnston placed this introduction:

"The Children's Film Library has but one aim and purpose: to keep constantly available for Saturday showings the finest possible films for the children of America.

"Ageless stories by Mark Twain, Robert Louis Stevenson, Lewis Carroll, James Fenimore Cooper and Booth Tarkington take their place in the Library beside modern tales of stirring historical happenings—life in foreign lands—diverting situations that lead to laughter.

"In undertaking this project, the motion picture industry is proud to have a part in preserving for younger audiences the photoplays which the children love and have made their own.

"If parents will encourage the screening of these pictures at their neighborhood theatres on Saturday shows, their children, I believe, will be enriched in literature, advanture, fantasy and fun. We present the CHILDREN'S FILM LIBRARY with that in mind."

In the Children's Film Library, there are now fifty-three pictures; many additional photoplays in current release are available to exhibitors for children's programs; the key to these pictures are ratings which appear in the semi-monthly JOINT ESTIMATES OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES. Two ratings are made: CPR (Recommended for the Children's Film Library) and CPA (Acceptable for Children's Programs).

All the films in the Children's Film Library are previewed by groups of children as well as by the National Children's Film Library Committee; this dual appraisal and selection guarantees both the moral and age classification suitability and the entertainment acceptability of these pictures for special children's programs.

Organizations participating in the National Children's Film Library are:

Protestant Motion Picture Council.
American Library Association.
National Congress of Parents and Teachers
National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.
Parents' Magazine.
National Federation of Music Clubs.
Schools Motion Picture Com.
American Association of University Women.
American Jewish Committee.
General Federation of Women's Clubs.
International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.
Girl Scouts of America.
Associated Women of The Farm Bureau.

For advice and guidance in the initiation of special children's programs or cooperation from exhibitors, address Marjorie Granger Dawson, director, National Children's Film Library, 28 West 44th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

Providing ideal entertainment for children, ages eight to twelve, is the primary objective of the Children's Film Library; because the pictures in the Children's Film Library were designed for general audiences, these age limits are not arbitrary.

Photoplay Appreciation

IT is estimated that not less than 6,000,000 students in elementary and secondary schools, colleges and universities receive more or less detailed guidance from their teachers in the appreciative study of appropriate motion picture feature and short subjects currently offered in the theaters. This technique is rapidly spreading, especially in high schools and junior high schools. These progressive teachers use the local motion picture theater for illustrative material just as they use the public library for collateral reading. Also, they have found it practical to mould the taste of their pupils toward the development of discriminating habits of choice in the selection of motion picture entertainment. In these activities teachers use study guides of which 25 or 30 are published during each school year, classroom bulletins mailed by the Community Service Department, selected still pictures chosen with special reference to their educational value and research photograph exhibits which are regularly displayed in about 6,500 public libraries and school libraries. Interested teachers are usually able to obtain this material through local exhibitors who secure it from the distributors of the pictures; where this is not possible, teachers may contact Motion Picture Association Inc., 28 W. 44th St., New York 18, N. Y., direct.

Exhibits Available to Schools and Libraries

DISPLAYS of various types, research exhibits, and brochures featuring the historical background, literary antecedents and technical data concerning production are available from the Department of Community Service without cost. The research exhibits—approximately 20″x30″ and including from three to 12 posters—present source materials utilized in designing costumes, sets, properties, story sources and other collaterals used in the process of translating fiction, biography, history, etc., to motion pictures. The brochures covering much the same field are usable for intimate classroom study as well as display.

The Community Service Department, in cooperation with educational groups and librarians, selects the pictures to receive this treatment. The cultural, social and educational as well as entertainment values of the pictures are the determining factors. The interest in and desire for mutual collaboration on the part of the producer-members of the Association makes this service possible.

Exhibitors, where it is known that these materials are not locally used, should feel no hesitancy in approaching school administrators or librarians concerning their value. They are now regularly in use by more than 6,000 high schools and 4,000 libraries. While many schools and libraries have limitations and restrictions inherent in the public character of their institutions, once they have realized that these display materials have been designed with a knowledge of their problems, welcome them. Only mutual respect can grow from the realization that many current photoplays have great educational value and that filming of the classics greatly extends the public's reading of them. These materials enhance the value of both and attract the public to those photoplays which, because they contribute constructive ideas and ideals as well as entertain, should be universally seen.

Speakers Bureau

The Community Service Department does not maintain a formal Speakers Bureau but is prepared to cooperate wherever possible in providing speakers for programs concerned with the moral, social or entertainment value of motion pictures. Requests for speakers should be made as far in advance as possible to the Community Service Department, Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., 28 West 44th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

The MPAA Library

The MPAA Library was established six years ago, to serve as repository and reference for information on matters pertaining to film industry activities.

The informational services of the Library are available not only to MPAA staff members and member companies, but as well to non-members, exhibitors, educational institutions, civic groups, etc. The MPAA librarian each year answers by mail and phone hundreds of individual requests for information from industry as well as non-industry sources.

Compactly set up along institutional lines, the Library today has on its shelves some 1,500 texts on practically every phase and aspect of the film business. Supplementing these are thousands of pamphlets and clippings which have been carefully catalogued and cross-referenced. In addition, the Library keeps a running file of nearly every periodical in the film field and maintains bound volumes of the more important motion picture trade publications.

Another important service of the Library is to keep industry executives abreast of current comment on the motion picture business through the preparation of resumes and digests of significant new texts and published materials.

From its vast store of information the Library supplies, on request, basic materials for speeches and articles on motion picture topics to people within and without the industry. Scores of such requests during the past year have come from teachers and students.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

THE EDUCATIONAL SERVICES DEPARTMENT, established in 1946, functions as the liaison between the motion picture industry and educational agencies and organizations.

This is a two-way program, through which

1. The industry makes contacts with educational leaders for cooperation in the exploitation of feature films and shorts which have educational application, and
2. Extends to educational agencies such services of the industry as will contribute to educational objectives.

Through this Department, the industry is able to render a variety of services to education. These services greatly expand the use of the motion picture in schools and colleges, and give to the motion picture an increasing acceptability within the educational world.

This program of educational services is based largely on the program of Teaching Film Custodians, Inc., the non-profit distribution affiliate of the industry, organized 15 years ago to make short subjects available to schools. These short subjects, not available from other sources, were selected by groups of subject matter specialists, and are licensed on a long-term basis to educational film libraries maintained by state, county and city school systems.

The program is carried on without compensation to the producing companies and without profit to any education institution responsible for implementing this service. This program implements the statement, "developing the educatioal, as well as the entertainment values and general usefulness of the motion picture," which was included in the purposes for which the Motion Picture Association was formed in 1922.

Under this program, nearly 500 non-current theatrical short subjects were made available in 1939. These were selected from about 15,000 short subjects, then in the vaults of the member companies, for use in educational institutions in strictly classroom work.

The selections were made under the supervision of the Advisory Committee on the Use of Motion Pictures in Education.

For the purpose of handling the physical distribution of the films, the educators who were members of this Advisory Committee formed themselves into a non-profit corporation known as Teaching Film Custodians, Inc.

In 1943 the member companies of the Motion Picture Association of America authorized Teaching Film Custodians, Inc. to excerpt non-current feature pictures in the interests of making classroom verions for study in classes of English Literature, social science and other curriculum areas. The excerpted versions of feature photoplays are distributed for classroom use under the same licensing terms which govern the distribution of short subjects.

Under the terms and conditions of the contracts with the producing companies, the trustees of Teaching Film Custodians, Inc. are permitted to license non-current short subjects and excerpted versions of feature pictures to schools for limited periods with stated limitations as follows:

> "Prints will be furnished only to bonafide educational institutions and agencies; the exhibitions shall be before classroom or kindred groups composed only of bonafide students or enrolled members of such educational institutions or agencies, and such exhibitions shall be an integral factor of class or group study and discussion.
> "Admission fees, directly or indirectly, shall never be charged or permitted to be paid for admission at the door or otherwise in advance or afterwards, for the right to attend either single exhibitions or a series of such exhibitions."

Under the contract, these classroom pictures must be projected without change or alteration. The unauthorized copying of these films is a violation of the United States copyright law. Any unauthorized exhibition of these pictures would also be a violation of the copyright law.

The advisory committee has prepared a Handbook of Films for Classroom Use, listing and describing the short subjects and excerpted versions of feature pictures which, under this plan, are made available for educational purposes.

The Advisory Committee wishes to emphasize the expermiental nature of this work and invites the cooperation of all teachers who use these films. It is hoped that records of the responses of pupils will be kept and that copies will be sent to the office of the Managing Trustee. These reports will be used as guides to the selection of additional pictures which are not now available. Schools of education and other research agencies are invited to send in the results of any investigations that they may make on the educational value of these pictures.

All funds over and above actual handling and distribution costs which accrue from rental fees for Teaching Film Custodians pictures are devoted to the further development of audio-visual education. Among the experimental and research projects to which Teaching Film Custodians has contributed are the following: The Motion Picture Research Project, Institute of Human Relations, Yale University; the Commission on Motion Pictures, American Council on Education; The Visual Education Division, National Education Association; and the Research Project in Film Evaluation, University of Wisconsin. In conjunction with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Teaching Film Custodians has been co-sponsor of the Curriculum Enrichment Program in Rural High Schools, State Department of Education, Nebraska, and The Evaluation of Teacher Training Activities in Audio-Visual Education, State College of Washington.

The authorization by the member companies of the Motion Picture Association to excerpt non-current feature pictures has resulted in the expansion of the educational services program in the preparation of films to meet specific educational objectives. Natural organizations of teachers in specialized subject-matter areas seek the cooperation of the Educational Services Department, and appoint collaborating committees to assist in preparing useful materials excerpted from feature picture footage.

In 1946, the National Council for the Social Studies appointed the following committee:

Dr. William H. Hartley, Chairman, Associate Editor for Social Education; Dr. W. Kenneth Fulkerson, Director of Social Studies, Rochester City Schools; Dr. Frederick H. Stutz, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.; Dr. Lewis Paul Todd, Editor, "Social Education," Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Richard E. Thursfield, Chairman of the Department of Education, University of Rochester.

This committee, working closely with the staff of Teaching Film Custodians, and with the Educational Services Department of the Motion Picture Association, has prepared four subjects for use in world history classes, a similar series of fine subjects for use in classes on the problems on democracy and six subjects on United States history.

The costs of this excerpting program are paid by Teaching Film Custodians, and the films when completed and approved are distributed by Teaching Film Custodians.

Teaching Film Custodians also sponsors and collaborates with audio-visual committees representing national associations of educators in preparing excerpted versions of feature pictures for classroom use. Among the organizations participating in this program are the Music Educators National Conference, the National Council for the Social Studies, the National Council of Teachers of English, National Science Teachers Association, American Vocational Association, American Home Economics Associations, Department of Home Economics of the N. E. A., and American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

This committee is developing a series of music education films from excerpted footage. Four films of the series are now completed and in distribution.

A committee of the National Council of Teachers of English is now in the process of developing a program to expand the series of excerpted films in the field of English literature. A 17-minute motion picture, "Understanding Movies," has been completed for use in English, speech, dramatics and motion picture appreciation.

Other subject matter area interests are in the process of negotiation with the Educational Services Department for participation in the excerpting program.

This program has made the motion picture industry a very useful ally to education, and has developed common interests between the industry and educational leaders which results in a clearer understanding of the problems of both groups.

The Educational Services Department is active also in cooperating with various national and international groups in developing the educational usefulness of motion pictures and particularly those which are produced by the member companies of the Motion Picture Association of America. These cooperative agencies include many cooperative projects with Government agencies, with professional organizations in the visual education field throughout the United States, and with such international organizations as UNESCO, the American Friends Service Committee, and the Departments of Education of various foreign countries.

Since its inception, the services of the members of Teaching Film Custodians and each of the cooperating committees have been rendered on a volunteer basis.

The negatives from which the prints are made have been made available by the members of the Motion Picture Association without compensation.

Sets of stills have been assembled, suitably selected for school and library display, from about 50 photoplays which are based on standard works of literature and other similarly important productions. These stills are provided at $1.00 per set on request of librarians and teachers of photoplay appreciation classes. A list of pictures on which sets of stills are available may be had on request.

TITLE REGISTRATION BUREAU

IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED by motion picture executives and theater managers that an appropriate and intriguing title that arouses public curiosity, or a title that has achieved fame and wide popularity as a book or play, has a profound influence on the success or popularity of a motion picture. Numerous examples of distinctive and unusual titles on widely popular pictures support the theory. For this reason more and more attention is being given to titles by the producers and distributors of modern motion pictures.

The difficulty of protecting valuable property rights in motion picture titles in the absence of copyright protection on the title itself and the expense and delays of litigation, to establish usage rights brought about the gradual development of a voluntary method of title registration in a central agency by the members of the Association. The present procedure for the registration of titles was established by the Association in 1936 for its members and such non-member producing and distributing companies as desire to use the service.

In all the years the title registration service has been operating few companies once using the registration service for its titles have ever requested it be discontinued for them. Now 190 motion picture companies use the services of Title Registration Bureau, submitting for registration an aggregate average of 4,400 titles a year. Each company using the Bureau receives a daily report of all title registrations.

The registration of motion picture titles to prevent duplication and harmful similarities serves a dual purpose: first, it enables the theater going public to readily identify the motion pictures it wants to see without confusion or misleading similarity between titles; and second, it protects the valuable titles of published books and plays acquired for motion picture production, and original titles with popular appeal, against the use of identical or unfairly similar titles by any producer or distributor that is a party to the title registration voluntary agreement. By such agreement each participating company undertakes to refrain from using such registered title until the prior registration is terminated or otherwise released for use.

Titles that are considered to be salacious, indecent, obscene or otherwise offensive are not accepted for registration. Differences of opinion on similarities and other title controversies are adjusted first by direct negotiation and discussion between the registrants involved, but may be referred to the Association for possible mediation.

If this fails to adjust the dispute it is then referred to arbitration for a final decision. In the past year 773 formal protests were filed with the Bureau against the registration of titles deemed to be too similar to a title already registered. All but 10 of these protests were adjusted by friendly negotiation between the companies and by mutual agreement without resorting to an arbitration of the dispute.

By agreement the producers and distributors who participate in title registration limit the number of original titles which any company may have in registration at one time, so that an unreasonable number of titles will not be reserved indefinitely but not used on a produced picture. Of course as the pictures are produced and released the titles are taken off the "priority registration" and placed on the release index or list of produced motion pictures.

Whenever movies are produced under titles based on a copyrighted work, such titles are automatically placed on a permanently protected list. In addition to these, any studio may ask permanent protection for up to 250 original titles. Beyond these, all titles registered and used for released pictures are protected for a four-year period. During the period of such protection, no other company may use the title unless it obtains clearance from the prior registrant.

Titles of pictures intended for production are granted indefinite protection if affixed to copyrighted material. Otherwise, if in an original title classification, a one-year period of protection is afforded. Each registrant is limited to one hundred original feature titles and 200 original short-subject titles at any one time. If an original title is not used within the year and the registrant cannot show evidence of intention to produce the subject within the succeeding six months, the title becomes available to any other company which has expressed interest in the identical title.

The indexes of titles of motion pictures produced and released by member companies keeps growing every year. In 1937 there were 36,000 titles of feature pictures and short subjects registered on the release index, today there are over 50,000 titles registered, and the index file used to call attention to similarities with titles previously registered, based upon the use of key words, now has over 150,000 cards in it.

For those companies who do not register titles with the Bureau, titles are considered and approved for suitability in connection with the Code of Production Standards. Last year 151 titles were thus approved, and since 1937 over 4,680 such titles have been considered by the Bureau for use on pictures that have received Code approval.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT

THIS department of the Association was organized primarily for maintaining adequate fire and personnel safety in domestic film exchange operation. In recent years, its functions have been steadily expanding. They now include the supervision of logistical problems that occur in the distribution of films to the nation's theaters and providing technical services that pertain to the servicing, handling and storage of films, particularly of original negative material and film subjects archival in character.

The conservation safety program, developed along self-regulatory lines, has served ably to minimize losses by fire in domestic film distribution facilities. Evidence of the close adherence to the Conservative Plan prescriptions by the Association's members is their steadily decreasing annual fire loss record, which now totals less than $200.00 per annum for the past 26 years.

In large measure, the striking success of the conservation program is attributable to the thoroughness of the department's field work. This phase of its activities has as its goal the instilling of fire prevention consciousness among film exchange personnel, perfection in housekeeping standards and the surveillance of regularly scheduled exchange inspections. Integrated with the field service is the continuing program of employee education in film methods and practices developed toward absolute safety.

Other functions of the department include:

1. Establishing close liaison with the national and international bodies interested in reducing fire waste. These groups consist of the National Fire Protection Association, Fire Protection Association of England, National Board of Fire Underwriters, National Fire Waste Council, National Safety Council, Bureau of Explosives, the National Association of Fire Chiefs and the various Federal departments similarly interested.

2. Providing technical assistance and encouragement toward the erection and maintenance of adequate facilities for the distribution and storage of motion picture films.

3. Extending cooperation to film groups outside of the United States for the purpose of acquainting them with the latest methods perfected for film-handling efficiency and sharing the most recent thoughts for the protection of films held in storage.

Under the self-regulatory system, each of the nation's exchanges are inspected on a strictly adhered to monthly basis by a rotating group of area branch managers in each distribution center. These men are appointed for a period of six months service and are assisted in this work by the Conservation Department's director, who travels regularly to all of the various domestic exchange areas. During 1951, in excess of 4,800 exchange inspections were made of distribution facilities in this country.

Another phase of the protective activities of the Conservation Department is its continued survey of all non-theatrical institutions to obtain information on:

(a) Type of equipment used for the exhibition of motion pictures.

(b) Type and construction of projection booths.

(c) Experience and qualifications of projectionists.

(d) Whether or not the institution has the approval of a recognized public or state fire official.

Purpose of these investigations is to assure motion picture distributors that the service of films to these places of exhibition will be in conformity with local law and in accord with the industry's desire for maximum audience safety at all times.

THE MOTION PICTURE EXPORT ASSOCIATION

WHEN THE MAJOR U.S. COMPANIES resumed independent distribution in Japan at the start of 1952, it reduced to two the number of countries that remain within the active operating sphere of the Motion Picture Export Association. The two countries are Austria and Yugoslavia.

MPEA was set up in 1945 under the Webb-Pomerene Act to represent member company distributors in countries devastated by the war and to deal with state-controlled film monopolies which sprang up in countries within the political orbit of the Soviet Union.

Its original territory embraced 13 countries at a time when it was recognized that individual company operation would be impractical and unprofitable. In addition to Japan, Austria and Yugoslavia, these countries included Germany, Holland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the U.S.S.R., Netherlands East Indies and Korea.

Former MPEA territories now operated independently by U.S. film companies are Japan and Korea, Germany, Holland and the Netherlands East Indies.

Until about the middle of 1948, American films were released in the satellite countries under distribution deals negotiated by MPEA with the respective film monopolies. Activities with these countries have tapered off sharply since then so that today, American films are all but completely excluded from Iron Curtain territories. When current commitments expire at the end of this year, Czechoslovakia will also have closed its screens to all American motion picture entertainment.

Shortly after Tito broke away from Soviet influence in 1949, MPEA signed an agreement with the Yugoslav film monopoly under which film-goers of that nation saw current American motion pictures for the first time since pre-World War II days. The film pact with Yugoslavia has been renewed annually since then. The one now in effect runs to the end of this year.

In Austria, MPEA is still operating under licenses which expire on August 31, 1952.

MPEA was established for a specific purpose, and its objectives have now been largely achieved. It has served its member companies well by keeping American films in distribution in a number of markets overseas and in setting the stage for the return of the companies to these markets. As an interim project, the MPEA operation did much to enhance the prestige and strengthen the competitive position of the American film industry in the free countries among those it was chartered to serve.

CODE OF ADVERTISING ETHICS

Administered by the Advertising Code Administration With the Advice and Cooperation of the Advertising Advisory Council of the MPAA

PREAMBLE: The purpose of the Advertising Code is to apply to motion picture advertising, publicity and exploitation, within their range, the high principles which the Production Code applies to the content of motion pictures.

The provisions of the Advertising Code shall apply to pressbooks, newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising, publicity material, trailers, posters, lobby displays and all other outdoor displays, novelty distribution, radio copy and every form of motion picture exploitation.

We urge all motion picture producers, distributors and exhibitors, and their advertising agents, whether affiliated with the undersigned or not, to adhere to these principles; and, for ourselves, we pledge compliance with these principles without reservation.

THE CODE

1. We subscribe to a code of ethics based upon truth, honesty and integrity. All motion picture advertising shall
   (a) Conform to fact.
   (b) Scrupulously avoid all misrepresentation.
2. Good taste shall be the guiding rule of motion picture advertising.
3. Illustrations and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.
4. No false or misleading statements shall be used directly, or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.
5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any race, religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be shown in any but a respectful manner.
6. The history, institutions and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.
7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.
8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.
9. Specific details of crime, inciting imitation, shall not be used.
10. Motion picture advertisers shall be guided by the provision of the Production Code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.
11. Nudity with meretricious purpose and salacious postures shall not be used; and clothed figures shall not be represented in such manner as to be offensive or contrary to good taste or morals.
12. Court actions relating to censoring of pictures, or other censorship disputes, are not to be capitalized in advertising or publicity.
13. Titles of source materials or occupations or names of characters on which motion pictures may be based should not be exploited in advertising or upon the screen if such titles or names are in conflict with the provisions of the Production Code affecting titles.
14. No text or illustration shall be used which capitalizes, directly or by implication, upon misconduct of a person connected with a motion picture thus advertised.

REGULATIONS FOR ADMINISTRATION

(The following regulations were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., April 22, 1948, and amended June 21, 1950.)

1. These regulations are applicable to all members of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Association"), subsidiaries of a member producing or distributing motion pictures, and to all producers and distributors of motion pictures with respect to each picture for which the Association has granted its Certificate of Approval, pursuant to an application therefor.

2. The term "advertising" as used herein shall be deemed to mean all forms of motion picture advertising and exploitation, and ideas therefor, including, among other things, but without limitation thereto, the following: press books; still photographs; newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising; publicity copy and are intended for use in press books or otherwise intended for general distribution in printed form or for theater use; trailers; posters, lobby displays and other outdoor displays; advertising accessories, including heralds, throwaways, etc.; novelties; copy for exploitation tie-ups; radio and television copy.

The term "Company" as used herein shall be deemed to mean any person, firm or corporation.

3. All advertising shall be submitted to the Advertising Code Administration of the Association for approval before use, and shall not be used in any way until so submitted and approved as hereinafter set forth. All advertising shall be submitted in duplicate with the exception of press books, which shall be submitted in triplicate.

4. The Advertising Code Administration shall proceed as promptly as it finds feasible to approve or disapprove the advertising submitted on the basis of whether it complies with the Advertising Code.

The Advertising Code Administration shall stamp its approval on one copy of all advertising approved and return such stamped copy to the company submitting the same. If the Advertising Code Administration disapproves of any advertising, there shall be stamped the word "Disapproved" on one copy thereof, which shall be returned to the company submitting the same; or, if the Advertising Code Administration so desires, it may return the same with suggestions for such changes or corrections in the advertising as will cause it to be approved.

5. After advertising (as defined in Section 2 above) for a motion picture shall have been approved by the Advertising Code Administration, if circumstances arise, either before or after the picture's release, which in the judgment of the Administrator seem to require the withdrawal of all, or any portion of such previously approved advertising, then, after consultation with the Advertising Advisory Council, he shall immediately file a written report with the President and Secretary of the Association (a) setting forth the situation existing at the time such prior approval was granted for such advertising, (b) reciting the intervening circumstances with resultant changes in the situation, (c) listing the reasons why in the opinion of the Administrator all or a designated portion of the advertising previously approved should be withdrawn and (d) certifying that if such advertising were then being presented to him for the first time, it would not be approved by him under the Advertising Code for stated reasons.

If the President of the Association (or a Vice-President of the Association in the absence of the President), upon receipt of such report from the Advertising Code Administration, is of the opinion that the situation presented is sufficiently serious to justify consideration by the Board of Directors, the Secretary of the Association shall be instructed to call immediately an emergency meeting of the Board, at which meeting the Board shall sit as a Board of Appeal with adequate opportunity for the producer and/or distributor of the motion picture to appear in person or through a duly authorized representative and present reasons orally or in writing, or both, as to why the prior approval of the advertising should be affirmed, and with adequate opportunity for the Administrator of the Advertising Code to appear and present reasons, either orally or in writing, or both, as to why in his judgment all or a designated portion of such previously approved advertising should be withdrawn.

Thereafter, the Board, meeting in executive session with the producer and/or distributor of the picture not voting, shall determine by vote of a majority of the Directors present and voting, whether all or any portion of the previously approved advertising shall be withheld from use and/or withdrawn, and such action of the Board of Directors shall be final and binding upon the producer and/or distributor of said film.

When any previously approved advertising for a motion picture is withdrawn pursuant to action of the Board hereunder, the company withdrawing same shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board. The amount of such reimbursement shall be prorated among all members of the Association including the company affected on the same basis as dues to the Association are currently paid.

If neither the producer nor the distributor of said film is a member of the Association, then the non-member withdrawing such advertising shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising by the members of the Association to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board.

6. Appeals. Any company whose advertising has been disapproved may appeal from the decision of the Advertising Code Administration, as follows:

Within 10 days after its advertising has been disapproved it shall serve notice of such appeal in writing on the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and on the Secretary of the Association. Said notice of appeal shall set forth the grounds upon which the appeal is taken. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of such notice by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and the Secretary of the Association, the President or, in the event of his absence from the country or his inability to act, a board consisting of three members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Association appointed by him, shall hold a hearing to pass upon the appeal. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the company and the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had at the hearing and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the company and the Advertising Code Administration. The President or said board, as the case may be, may admit such evidence as is deemed relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The President, or said board, as the case may be, shall decide the appeal as expeditiously as possible and shall notify the company and the Director of the Advertising Code Administration in writing of the decision. Such decision shall be final.

A company appealing from a decision of the Advertising Code Administration under Section 14 of the Advertising Code shall have the right, by written notice to the Secretary of the Association, to appeal directly to the Board of Directors of the Association, whose decision shall be final. The provisions relating to evidence, argument and written memoranda or briefs, set forth in these Regulations, shall apply to such appeals.

7. Any company to which these regulations are applicable, which publishes, or makes available for sale or lease, or which in any way uses advertising without prior approval as hereinabove provided, may be brought up on charges before the Board of Directors by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration, or by any of the following officers of the Association, viz.: the President, a Vice-President, the Secretary or the Treasurer. The company shall be entitled to receive a written statement of the charges and to a hearing before the Board of Directors. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of said statement of charges by the company, the Board of Directors of the Associaiton shall meet in a Special Meeting to hear and pass upon such charges. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the company and by the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the company and by the Advertising Code Administration. The Board of Directors may admit such evidence as it deems relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The Board of Directors, by a majority vote of those present, shall decide the matter as expeditiously as possible.

If the Board of Directors finds that the company has published, or made available for sale or lease or in any way used advertising without prior approval as hereinabove set forth, the Board may take one or more of the following actions:

a) Direct the Production Code Administration to void and revoke the Certificate of Approval granted by the Association for the picture so advertised and require the removal of the Association's seal from all prints of said picture, and the Production Code Administration shall thereupon do so;

b) Require the company, if a member of the Association, to pay to the Association as and for liquidated damages, not more than $100 for each publication, lease, sale or use of an unapproved item of advertising which has been published, made available for lease or sale or used, provided, however, that the total sum assessed for advertising relative to one motion picture may not exceed the sum of $25,000. The amount so assessed and collected shall be used by the Association for expenses incurred in the administration of the Advertising Code. It is recognized that any violation of the Advertising Code will disrupt the stability of the industry and cause serious damage to the Association and its members which cannot be definitively computed.

The decision of the Board of Directors shall be final.

8. Each company shall assume responsibility for seeing that all its employees and agents comply with these regulations.

CODE OF PRODUCTION STANDARDS

As Enforced by the Motion Picture Association

MOTION picture producers recognize the high trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

During the rapid transition from silent to talking pictures they have realized the necessity and the opportunity of subscribing to a Code to govern the production of talking pictures and of reacknowledging this responsibility.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of their purposes and problems and a spirit of cooperation that will allow them the freedom and opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all the people.

General Principles

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

Particular Applications

I. Crimes Against the Law

These shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.

1. Murder.
    a. The technique of murder must be presented in a way that will not inspire imitation.
    b. Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
    c. Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.

2. Methods of Crime should not be explicitly presented.
   a. Theft, robbery, safe-cracking, and dynamiting of trains, mines, buildings, etc., should not be detailed in method.
   b. Arson must be subject to the same safeguards.
   c. The use of firearms should be restricted to essentials.
   d. Methods of smuggling should not be presented.
3. Neither the illegal drug traffic, nor drug addiction, must ever be presented.
4. The use of liquor in American life, when not required by the plot or for proper characterization, will not be shown.

II. Sex

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. Pictures shall not infer that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery and illicit sex, sometimes necessary plot material, must not be explicitly treated, or justified, or presented attractively.
2. Scenes of Passion.
   a. They should not be introduced except when they are definitely essential to the plot.
   b. Excessive and lustful kissing, lustful embraces, suggestive postures and gestures, are not to be shown.
   c. In general, passion should so be treated that these scenes do not stimulate the lower and baser emotions.
3. Seduction or Rape.
   a. They should never be more than suggested, and only when essential for the plot, and even then never shown by explicit method.
   b. They are never the proper subject for comedy.
4. Sex perversion or any inference to it is forbidden.
5. White slavery shall not be treated.
6. Miscegenation (sex relationship between the white and black races) is forbidden.
7. Abortion, sex hygiene and venereal diseases are not proper subjects for theatrical motion pictures.
8. Scenes of actual child birth, in fact or in silhouette, are never to be presented.
9. Children's sex organs are never to be exposed.

III. Vulgarity

The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects should be guided always by the dictate of good taste and a regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

IV. Obscenity

Obscenity in word, gesture, reference, song, joke, or by suggestion (even when likely to be understood only by part of the audience) is forbidden.

V. Profanity

Pointed profanity and every other profane or vulgar expression however used, are forbidden.

VI. Costume

1. Complete nudity is never permitted. This includes nudity in fact or in silhouette, or any licentious notice thereof by other characters in the picture.
2. Undressing scenes should be avoided and never used save where essential to the plot.
3. Indecent or undue exposure is forbidden.
4. Dancing costumes intended to permit undue exposure or indecent movements in the dance are forbidden.

VII. Dances

1. Dances suggesting or representing sexual actions or indecent passion are forbidden.
2. Dances which emphasize indecent movements are to be regarded as obscene.

VIII. Religion

1. No film or episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith.
2. Ministers of Religion in their character as ministers of religion should not be used as comic characters or as villains.
3. Ceremonies of any definite religion should be carefully and respectfully handled.

IX. Locations

The treatment of bedrooms must be governed by good taste and delicacy.

X. National Feelings

1. The use of the flag shall be consistently respectful.
2. The history, institutions, prominent people and citizenry of all nations shall be represented fairly.

XI. Titles

The following shall not be used:

1. Titles which are salacious, indecent, obscene, profane or vulgar.
2. Titles which suggest or are currently associated in the public mind with material, characters, or occupations unsuitable for the screen.
3. Titles which are otherwise objectionable.

XII. Repellent Subjects

The following subjects must be treated within the careful limits of good taste:

1. Actual hangings or electrocutions as legal punishments for crime.
2. Third degree methods.
3. Brutality and possible gruesomeness.
4. Branding of people or animals.
5. Apparent cruelty to children or animals.
6. The sale of women, or a woman selling her virtue.
7. Surgical operations.

Special Regulations on Crime in Motion Pictures

Resolved, that the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., hereby ratifies, approves and confirms the interpretations of The Production Code, the practices thereunder, and the resolutions indicating and confirming such interpretations heretofore adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., all effectuating regulations relative to the treatment of crime in motion pictures as follows:

1. "Details of crime" must never be shown and care should be exercised at all times discussing such details.

2. Action suggestive of wholesale slaughter of human beings, either by criminals, in conflict with police, or as between warring factions of criminals, or in public disorder of any kind, will not be allowed.

3. There must be no suggestion, at any time, of excessive brutality.

4. Because of the increase in the number of films in which murder is frequently committed, action showing the taking of human life, even in the mystery stories, is to be cut to a minimum. These frequent presentations of murder tend to lessen regard for the sacredness of life.

5. Suicide, as a solution of problems occurring in the development of screen drama, is to be discouraged as morally questionable and as bad theater—unless absolutely necessary for the development of the plot. It should never be justified or glorified or used to defeat the due process of law.

6. There must be no display, at any time, of machine guns, sub-machine guns, or other weapons generally classified as illegal weapons in the hands of gangsters, or other criminals, and there are to be no off-stage sounds of the repercussion of these guns.

7. There must be no new, unique or trick methods shown for concealing guns.

8. The flaunting of weapons by gangsters, or other criminals, will not be allowed.

9. All discussions and dialogue on the part of gangsters, regarding guns should be cut to the minimum.

10. There must be no scenes, at any time, showing law-enforcing officers dying at the hands of criminals unless such scenes are absolutely necessary to the development of the plot. This includes private detectives and guards for banks, motor trucks, etc.

11. With special reference to the crime of kidnapping—or illegal abduction is: (a) not the main theme of the story (b) the person kidnapped is not a child; (c) there are no details of the crime of kidnapping; (d) no profit accrues to the abductors or kidnappers; and (e) where the kidnappers are punished.

It is understood and agreed that the word kidnapping as used in paragraph (11) of these Regulations is intended to mean abduction, or illegal detention, in modern times, by criminals for ransom.

12. Pictures dealing with criminal activities in which minors participate, or to which minors are related, shall not be approved if they incite demoralizing imitations on the part of the youth.

13. No picture shall be approved dealing with the life of a notorious criminal of current or recent times which uses the name, nickname, or alias of such notorious criminal in the film, nor shall a picture be approved if based upon the life of such a notorious criminal unless the character shown in the film be punished for crimes shown in the film as committed by him.

Resolution for Uniform Interpretation

1. When requested by production managers, the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, shall secure any facts, information or suggestions concerning the probable reception of stories or the manner in which in its opinion they may best be treated.

2. That each production manager shall submit in confidence a copy of each or any script to the Production Code Administration of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated (and of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., California). Such Production Code Administration will give the production manager for his guidance such confidential advice and suggestions as experience, research, and information indicate, designating wherein in its judgment the script departs from the provisions of the Code, or wherein from experience or knowledge it is believed that exception will be taken to the story or treatment.

3. Each production manager of a company belonging to the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, and any producer proposing to distribute and/or distributing his picture through the facilities of any member of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, shall submit to such Production Code Administration every picture he produces before the negative goes to the laboratory for printing. Said Production Code Administration, having seen the picture, shall inform the production manager in writing whether in its opinion the picture conforms or does not conform to the Code, stating specifically wherein either by theme, treatment or incident, the picture violates the provisions of the Code. In such latter event, the picture shall not be released until the changes indicated by the Production Code Administration have been made; provided, however, that the production manager may appeal from such opinion of said Production Code Administration, so indicated in writing, to the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association, Incorporated, whose findings shall be final, and such production manager and company shall be governed accordingly.

THE ACADEMY in 1951

By CHARLES BRACKETT
President

IN JULY 1951 the Academy made an important step forward by inaugurating a series of Film Forums, under the direction of a special committee headed by George Seaton. The Forums consist of a showing, at the Academy's own theater, of a motion picture not in general release, a picture chosen because of some special and provocative interest for the membership. Following the screening, representatives of the various production crafts involved in the making of the film are introduced to the members present by a specially chosen moderator—and a question-and-answer discussion of the film takes place.

The Forum films in the past year were: "A Place in the Sun," "An American in Paris," "Decision Before Dawn" and "The Death of a Salesman." These Forums have provided an opportunity for the interchange of ideas among the craftsmen belonging to the Academy. They will be resumed in 1952, as soon as the theater, occupied at present in pre-awards showings, is again free.

Another milestone in 1951 was the completion of an industry omnibus: "The Arts and Sciences of Motion Pictures," written and compiled by Muriel De Lisa, under the sponsorship of the Academy. This is a book covering every aspect of picture making. It includes important contributions by more than 150 of the top craftsmen in the Hollywood studios. The Academy is convinced that it will take an important place in contemporary educational literature.

BRACKETT

During 1951 our library has been greatly enlarged, through generous donations by notables in the industry. Mack Sennett's contribution calls for special mention. It was a gift of his complete production files, including more than one hundred thousand stills, the scripts, the set designs and other memorabilia, covering a golden era of riotous and original comedy.

The Academy takes pride in the belief that during the 24 years of its existence it has been of cultural and educational service to the industry. We look forward to the celebration of our Silver Anniversary in 1952.

HOLLYWOOD COORDINATING COMMITTEE

By GEORGE MURPHY
President

HOLLYWOOD'S ACTORS made a pledge following World War II.

They said: "As long as there are Americans serving in the Armed Forces overseas, as long as there are veterans in hospitals, we will go whenever and wherever we are needed."

The pledge is kept with an all-cap PLUS.

An entertainment program designed to narrow the gap between home and military life in the far-flung corners of the world today is a proud reality.

This is nothing new for show people. Remember World War I. . . . World War II, the March of Dimes. . . . Red Cross. . . . As I have said before, entertainers are quick to give away the only thing they have to sell. They take pride in rising to the occasion and doing more than is expected of them.

In 1952, Hollywood's actors are ready to increase their efforts in behalf of the GIs whenever and wherever. They will continue this pledge and do the job that remains to be accomplished as long as American troops remain overseas and in hospitals.

Here's the record for last year:

A total of 2,931 free personal appearances by 785 filmland volunteers in 531 patriotic and public service events in all parts of this country and many foreign lands, nearly double the record of 1950.

Since three days after Pearl Harbor in December, 1941, when the HCC was organized the 10-year period records 67,951 free appearances by 6373 radio, screen and stage players on 11,905 patriotic and public service programs.

Last year more than half of the events, 319, were for the U. S. Armed Forces, Treasury Department and other Government agencies. These were in the form of hospital camp and overseas visits and tours; the most recent included the 41 volunteers who presented Christmas-New Year's entertainment programs for the GIs stationed in Alaska, Europe-North Africa, the Caribbean and Japan-Korea.

Fund-raising benefits, both national and local, including American Legion, Red Cross, Community Chest, Salvation Army, National Brotherhood Week and all the other recognized causes accounted for the balance.

In addition, the stars performed on 333 network and local broadcasts, live and transcribed, for all the aforementioned causes, plus the Armed Forces Radio Service.

This record is a story of the real Hollywood . . . not only of the stars who give the talent, but of the 25,000 Americans who make up the motion picture community. It is a record we all are proud to display.

MPIC OF HOLLYWOOD

By ART ARTHUR
Executive Secretary

THE ACTIVITIES and responsibilities of the Motion Picture Industry Council of Hollywood expanded enormously during 1951, touching a wide variety of problems such as government cooperation in the war effort, expansion of exhibitor liaison, House Committee hearings into Communism, continued growth of a library of information and numerous other areas of industry interest. The year's end found the MPIC office bursting at the seams.

This kaleidoscope of service would be impossible to compress adequately within the cramped confines of an article for the FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK. But an illustrative cross-section might provide a helpful glimpse of the nature of the MPIC and how it functions.

DEFENSE ACTIVITIES COOPERATION

ARTHUR

The war in Korea caused an intensification of Government film activities and the MPIC has been seeking to expedite the film programs of the various civilian and military agencies. MPIC committees have worked closely with the Air Pictorial Service in setting up the training film and information film program of the Air Force. Machinery has been established to help fill the talent requirements of the film branches of the Armed Forces. Lecturers have been supplied to reserve units, and the training programs for military film personnel have been assisted in various other ways. Via the MPIC, Hollywood leaders have been participating in Defense Department orientation programs to broaden their knowledge of the needs and operations of the Armed Forces.

The film program of the State Department is another key area of activity, since documentary movies constitute an important part of the Truth Campaign. Frank Capra serves in behalf of the MPIC on the Motion Picture Advisory Committee of the State Department and, with other industry representatives, has been able to provide invaluable professional guidance. The services of well-qualified writers, directors and other film personnel have been furnished through machinery designed to aid the State Department's film section in filling talent needs. Other forms of liaison have proven equally helpful in the over-all program.

The sum total of these and other activities in this general field has served to put substance behind the basic plan, developed by the industry shortly after outbreak of the Korean War, designed to make available to Government film agencies the best in Hollywood's production "know-how."

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

With progress in international relations, always a matter of prime concern to an industry whose films are shown the world over, the MPIC has worked closely with Mogens Skot-Hansen, the UN's Hollywood representative, and has extended its cooperation to leaders in Lake Success whose activities embrace aspects of motion pictures, including Ben Cohen, the UN's assistant secretary general for public information, and J. G. Lindstrom, director of the films and visual information division.

Hollywood cooperation has also been extended in the work of UNESCO and other UN agencies, and leading writers, directors, actors, producers and executives have participated in UNESCO activities through UNESCO's National Commission.

Similarly, assistance has been provided to organizations like the Common Council for American Unity in connection with its "Letters from America" campaign and to other private groups which maintain an interest in foreign policy and in foreign affairs.

Another international facet is embraced in informational courtesies to visitors from other countries who come to Hollywood in the course of tours of America under State Department auspices.

Also a part of this area of industry interest is the accumulation of considerable material in the MPIC Library of Information reflecting the constructive influence of our films abroad—material which has been most helpful in offsetting attacks made by occasional individuals who are more addicted to prejudice than to facts.

COMMUNISM

In 1951, the House Committee on Un-American Activities reopened its hearings into Communism in Hollywood. The MPIC, in an official statement which was entered into the Congressional Record, took the position that the public had been given "an exaggerated and distorted impression of the degree of Communist infiltration into Hollywood" but reiterated the industry's determination to cooperate in any program that would speed the exposure and destruction of the Communist remnant in Hollywood and pledged its "strength and support" to the House Committee.

That strength and support was reflected in steps urging all who had been subpoenaed to tell the truth, and repudiating those who stood on the Fifth Amendment—steps which resulted in the testimony of men like Edward Dmytryk ripping the Party apart. This phase of the approach to the Communist problem was parallelled by a series of steps designed to make clear that the story of the Communist effort to infiltrate Hollywood was a story of failure and defeat and not a story of success and triumph.

Wide attention was given in the press to that somewhat-neglected side of the Hollywood story, including a series of articles in the Los Angeles Mirror entitled: "Communism in Hollywood—Why It Failed," which was syndicated throughout the country and later entered into the Congressional Record. Industry speakers appeared on the radio, in television, in town hall forums, before service clubs and in numerous other ways tried to keep the facts in their true perspective.

The MPIC Library of Information amassed a large volume of material authenticating the key points in the story of Hollywood against Communism. The general program in this field of activity included many other facets too numerous to be detailed here, such as helping in production of a trailer for the Crusade for Freedom and providing assistance in similar forms of patriotic anti-Communist campaigning.

EXHIBITOR RELATIONS

From its inception, the MPIC has consistently sought to strengthen the bonds between exhibitors and Hollywood.

The first big step along these lines, of course, was the creation of COMPO, which the MPIC helped to found and of which the MPIC is a charter member. The round table held in Hollywood last Summer under COMPO auspices, with the MPIC as the Hollywood host, enabled leading exhibitors from all over the country to sit down with the key men of all branches of production for the first time in the industry's history and provided a landmark in exhibition- production progress.

The "Movietime, U. S. A." tours not only were a great public relations success but also enabled Hollywood producers, directors and writers as well as players to develop closer personal ties with exhibitors throughout the nation and added considerably to better understanding of mutual problems.

As in the past, the MPIC Library of Information has been a constant source of assistance to exhibitors in their local public relations programs. Constructive facts have been furnished upon request to exhibitors like E. J. Hudson, of Detroit; Mrs. W. Monroe Glenn, of Fulton, Mo.; Joe Wills, of Socoro, N. Mex.; Rotus Harvey and numerous others.

In the form of comprehensive information kits, material also was furnished to COMPO Movietime campaign, as well as to regional headquarters in New York for use in the committees such as the Committee of Wisconsin COMPO Showmen, through Ed J. Weisfeldt, executive director, and the Committee of Texas COMPO Showmen, through Charles Carden, executive director. The files of the MPIC Library also furnished much of the material utilized so impressively by speakers at the Waldorf-Astoria Jubilee Luncheon launching the New York "Movietime" campaign and which was later issued in booklet form by the New York COMPO committee.

Another interesting example of exhibitor-Hollywood cooperation was provided when the heads of the Fox Inter-Mountain Circuit persuaded the Rocky Mountain News that a series of articles about the little-known side of hard-working Hollywood would win great reader interest. As a result Pasqualle Marranzino of the Rocky Mountain News journeyed to Hollywood and, with the cooperation of the MPIC, obtained an abundance of material which resulted in an excellent series of articles and which earned the commendation of his editor as well as thousands of Denver readers.

SPEAKER'S BUREAU

Although lacking funds and facilities for operation of a full-fledged speaker's bureau, the MPIC has sought to point the way toward this badly-needed industry service. During the past year, every effort was made to respond to invitations from leading organizations in various key areas of American life.

With the close cooperation of its member-organizations, the MPIC was able to pave the way for the appearances of George Murphy before the National Newspaper Promotion Association; Ronald Reagan before the Kiwanis Internatioanl convention in St. Louis (an invitation extended through TOA of St. Louis), with Reagan's speech landing in the Congressional Record after being reprinted in the Kiwanis Magazine; Karl Tunberg before the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco, top West Coast forum; Carey Wilson before the National Securities Traders Association in Coronado, Calif., and Roy Brewer before the General Assembly of the All-American Conference to Combat Communism in Milwaukee.

The "Movietime, U. S. A." tours, of course, provided a bonanza in terms of speaking engagements utilizing Hollywood personalities and the creation of speaker's bureaus by various regional COMPO exhibitor organizations around the country has provided another healthy push in the direction of adequately exploiting constructive opportunities afforded by speaking dates.

Part and parcel of any "speaker's bureau" operation is assuring an ample supply of good informative material which speakers can draw upon. With the help of the Screen Writers Guild, many excellent talks have been drafted, which provide a broad and varied choice for industry orators and which remain standard items in the Library of Information. This material furnished much of the background for the "Movietime" tours by Hollywood personalities (mentioned elsewhere is the manner of use at the Waldorf); has been relayed to exhibitor speakers in various parts of the country and is receiving continuous circulation through the Library of Information.

LIBRARY OF INFORMATION

Frequent references have been made in other paragraphs to the MPIC Library of Information. They reflect the fact that an effective Library of Information is the indispensable foundation for any industry public relations operation. From the earliest days of the MPIC, the growth of a well-rounded library has been a major goal—and one of the MPIC's proudest accomplishments is the progress it has made toward assembling hard-hitting facts on scores of subjects vital to sound public relations.

When the MPIC first was established, its complete Library of Information could be carried in one briefcase. Today a dozen cabinets and a flock of shelves are needed to store accumulated data.

In pioneering this type of library, however, the MPIC feels it is merely pointing the way—as it has done in numerous other areas of industry activity. The library is far from complete, although its growth has been remarkable in the light of limited space, resources and budget. Many in the MPIC strongly share the view that operation of an effective industry library of information should be primarily a COMPO function in all its varied aspects—including encouraging key people throughout the industry to aid in gathering the information; establishing proper research resources to greatly expand the search for truth as well as providing facilities by which information can be properly capsuled and disseminated.

It should be noted that at least two excellent libraries have been functioning within the industry for some time—the library of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood and the MPAA library in New York City. However, while enormously helpful in many public relations problems, they are not designed to concentrate necessary attention on the special fields which are of maximum interest and concern in a public relations operation. The MPIC therefor, has been striving to fill the gap until other organizations, which are more adequately equipped, can take over the responsibility.

GENERAL CROSS-SECTION

In addition to the various categories reviewed above, an illustrative montage of MPIC activities would afford typical glimpses like the following: Assuring proper coverage when high honors are accorded industry individuals, including newsreel distribution to countries having special interest . . . seeing that the motion picture industry is not overlooked in a press series reviewing notable industrial and artistic achievement . . . forwarding to a New York publisher, upon request, the names of prominent Hollywood churchgoers for inclusion in a book about American religious life . . . spurring a study of screen content which helps to illustrate the contributions of the screen to the anti-Communist fight, toward better appreciation of democratic values, etc. . . .

Also forwarding material to the leader of a local Woman's Club, covering aspect of the industry of special interest to her type of group . . . arming with meaty facts a college student preparing to take the affirmative side in a debate about motion pictures . . . providing the information and liaison which resulted in one of the major national magazines devoting four pages to an article by a top woman star vigorously challenging Hollywood attackers . . . seeing that a constructive book about Hollywood, containing an impressive array of facts, is reviewed simultaneously with a book which ignored fact and which scarcely expected to have its flights of fancy so promptly challenged. . . .

Also moving to assure that an annual dinner devoted to good-natured industry satire is treated as a private party and not as derogatory public attack upon those being satirized . . . correcting an inaccurate statement about the movie industry made in a public talk by a representative of one of the country's great insurance companies . . . pinning back the ears of crack-pots, on the lumatic fringe of American political activity, seeking to make the movie industry a butt of their peculiar brand of un-Americanism . . . seeing that a writer's conference at the University of Colorado receives, in time for screening and study, a print of an appropriate short in the "Movies and You" series . . . reprinting and giving distribution within the U. S. to the text of a glowing broadcast about Hollywood beamed originally to listeners abroad. . . .

Similar activities, which represent the day-in-day-out routine of the public relations phases of MPIC operations, could be detailed at much greater length but the above would appear to serve adequately as a sampling of the general flow.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

It might be well to review the organizational structure of the MPIC. During 1951 two new organizations became MPIC members, the Unit Production Managers Guild and the Artists Managers Guild, bringing to a dozen the total of key guilds, unions and management groups which make up the MPIC. Other MPIC member-organizations: Association of Motion Picture Producers, Hollywood AFL Film Council, Independent Motion Picture Producers Association, Independent Office Workers, Screen Actors Guild, Screen Directors Guild, Screen Producers Guild, Screen Writers Guild, Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers and Society of Motion Picture Art Directors.

Officers and executive board are: Gunther Lessing, SIMPP, president; Steve Broidy, IMPPA, vice-president; Ronald Reagan, SAG, secretary, and Cy Baer, IOW, treasurer, together with Y. Frank Freeman, AMPP; I. E. Chadwick, IMPPA; George Sidney, SDG; Mary McCall SWG; William Perlberg, SPG; Roy Brewer, AFL Film Council; Lehman Katz, UPMG; Robert Haas, SMPAD; and Adrian McCalman, AMG. Dore Schary serves as chairman of the public relations committee, with Paul McNamara as his deputy.

Past presidents are Dore Schary, AMPP; Cecil B. DeMille, SDG; Ronald Reagan, SAG; Roy Brewer, AFL Film Council; Paul Groesse, SMPAD; B. B. Kahane, AMPP, and Allen Rivkin, SWG.

The MPIC first established offices in March, 1949, with seven member-organizations participating. The preamble to the original charter declared:

> "Perhaps no other industry contacts so intimately and significantly as many lives of the world's population as does the motion picture industry of the United States. . . . We believe that the motion picture industry of the United States has performed generally for the public good and for the public welfare in war and in peace, and that it has made a contribution to America.
> "We seek to continue and expand this good influence of motion pictures. In an effort to continue to carry out our responsibilities to the nation and to humanity everywhere, we have organized a Motion Picture Industry Council so that all of us who work in the motion picture industry can seek and discover areas of common agreement to the end that we may move forward toward our objectives with dignity, integrity and conscience."

SMPTE IN 1951

By PETER MOLE
President

FROM ITS MODEST BEGINNINGS around the turn of the century, this industry of ours has grown to a position of great prominence and public favor but in the process has had a generous share of ups and downs. In the late twenties and early thirties it capitalized on sound and color. In the middle forties it exploited the nation's craving for entertainment to produce the largest operating profits in history. The abrupt change of the post-war years need not be emphasized because things have begun to improve. Profits once down are again on the increase so the fog of pessimism shows signs of lifting.

There is, at the same time, an apparent and encouraging difference in the prevailing attitude of motion picture business men. As the business becomes less speculative it takes on the more orderly appearance of conventional industrial enterprise and seeks to acquire a more thorough knowledge of itself. Through its trade associations it is developing commercial practices to strengthen its foundations and to encourage harmonious trade relations. It may even further improve the well developed methods for conduct of its foreign trade.

MOLE

I am certain that this changing attitude will permit the movie industry to take, at last, a firm and substantial place in the national business community. Also needed to make this growing stability complete, is a thorough understanding of the role that engineering must play as partial insurance for a healthy future.

That future, whatever the state of its health, rests on two bases. One is artistic, glamorous, imaginative. The other is formal, technical, and, of course, less exciting, but important, so put aside the glamour and look at movie-making as a kind of manufacturing enterprise—like the kind that turns out refrigerators, automobiles or tools of heavy industry.

When an industrial analyst does that he is at first overwhelmed with several startling realities. After a picture is sold and the costs recovered, the film comes back to be sold over again. That doesn't happen with hamburgers, electric fans or nylon stockings. Movies differ in other ways, too—they are not wrapped up and handed across the counter; they are not ordered over the telephone; they are not delivered; nor does the customer say "charge it". Motion pictures are an artistic commodity technically produced, and in the making involve a truly remarkable variety of operations—perhaps more complex than in any other product of commerce.

In spite of technical complications the engineers behind film production have things under such careful control that it is rare for work on a feature picture to be delayed by equipment failures or for the film, carrying the picture on sound, to be damaged once it is "in the can." This reliability has become valuable production insurance and although rarely considered in that light, is eloquent proof of the industry's technical maturity. Results have been so consistently effective that the engineers and their efforts are often taken for granted. And studio management has made the logical but unfortunate mistake of assuming that competent performance over a period of years is synonymous with technical progress. Serious and material consequences of this mistaken assumption are beginning to appear and are closely tied to the industry's technical and economic future. It is time the differences were clearly recognized.

While management concentrates upon art and promotion in making and selling entertainment films, hardly anyone among them seems aware that the technical facilities they rely upon so heavily have gone out of date. With a few significant exceptions, equipment in use today were used 10, 15 or 20 years ago, but they have not worn out because engineering maintenance in studios has been excellent as it has been in theaters where there is proper regard for technical details. The result is that the engineering tools of the trade still work and work well. They are nonetheless out of date.

Modernization of studio and theater facilities and new production methods are urgently needed. The entire motion picture industry and the industry's engineers now must be made aware of this real problem and must be induced to apply their manifold talents in the working out of new ideas.

Proper incentive for a long-range technical development program of the kind I envision is a necessary preliminary and can stem only from a receptive attitude on the part of studio and theater executives generally. Proper incentive in this case means investing dollars as well as creating the obvious appearance of a continued interest in the trying out of any new technical innovations that appear to hold promise. Many of the necessary dollars must come directly from studios and theaters.

I was asked not long ago by the editor of a motion picture trade paper if the costs of engineering aren't paid by studios and theaters when they buy equipment. In a way, yes, but only for the relatively minor year-to-year improvements that are part of the normal introduction of new models, improvements based on designs that have been in production for years. Such evolutionary improvement has been an important factor in maintaining the customary level of technical quality in the industry and must, of course, continue.

The additional and entirely new developments now so urgently needed call for a great deal of research and engineering. Research and engineering costs are high so must be shared by all who will ultimately benefit.

When theater television came along, established manufacturers of theater equipment did not feel sure enough of a future market to shoulder alone the load of research, development, engineering and production. It was not until exhibitors had placed experimental orders and thereby attained partial responsibility for developments of this equipment, that the American manufacturers went to work with enthusiasm.

Other new developments which we are not yet able to predict, but which the future most surely holds, must be similarly sponsored by the producers or exhibitors, for they have a heavy stake in the future of motion pictures. Every studio and every theater circuit must eventually have a formal engineering department to consist, at minimum, of perhaps one technical person with a modest budget or, at maximum, of an entire research and development laboratory well equipped, staffed and financed. Regardless of its size, however, the engineering department must track down and appraise every valid new idea or method encountered, and must habitually report to management on each development that looks promising to that particular enterprise.

In each instance management must be able to decide early enough on each likely project, so that prompt action can produce a competitive advantage at an early date. Only in this way can development pay off.

Two specific provisions are absolutely vital to the success of any such program—First: it must in no way be made subordinate to existing technical services of either production or maintenance. Second: a suitable budget must be clearly established and guaranteed for a minimum of three years and must not, for that initial period, be dependent upon seasonal or year-to-year fluctuations in profits or dividends.

Most of the equipment companies that I am acquainted with have development programs; they have engineers planning new products. Naturally the engineers would like to do the job alone, but they can't and they know it. They need help and support. They need the stimulation and the encouragement of producers, and exhibitors who have faith and courage to make long-range investments in the future of an industry that has supported them so handsomely in the past.

Cooperative projects with the progressive equipment suppliers directed toward improving existing practices or equipment, would be likely to produce maximum results for minimum investment because all development work would be conducted with ultimate manufacturing as the prime objective. In the event that abrupt departures from current practices are contemplated and established manufacturers are not receptive, fundamental work could well be done on home territory or in private or university laboratories on a sponsorship basis. Engineering for production would then follow upon reasonable proof that the new theory could be reduced to practice.

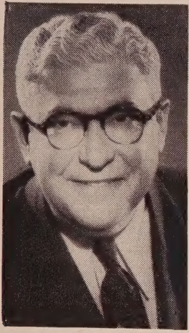
Numerous examples of the successful cosponsorship of engineering projects by several companies in a given field are apparent in past work of the Motion Picture Research Council. Similar efforts under entirely different auspices might well produce equally effective results. Experience along the lines of engineering for the future will be most certain to produce an unending flow of profitable new ideas and the chances are good that the prophets of doom can again be shown the error of their philosophy.

VARIETY CLUBS INTERNATIONAL

By MARC J. WOLF
International Chief Barker

DURING THE YEAR 1951 Variety Clubs International showed steady progress and growth not only in size but in international prestige as well. During the past year charters were granted to Tent No. 40 in Tokyo, Japan and Tent No. 41 in Dublin, Ireland.

For the fourth consecutive year our Heart Fund reports show over three million dollars expended for charitable ventures. Bear in mind that this sum does not include the value of many Variety projects such as free shows for shut-ins, special shows for orphans and aid given by Variety to such worthwhile drives as the Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy, March of Dimes, etc. Once again Variety has a record for charity of which we can be justly proud.



WOLF

Among the noteworthy events of this past year were the following:

A special meeting with His Royal Highness, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, in Toronto. His Royal Highness is an interested member of the Variety Club of Great Britain and the meeting was at his request as he wished to learn more about Variety.

On my recent visit to Europe I was honored with a special audience with His Holiness Pope Pius XII. I was very proud to present His Holiness with a copy of "The Story of Variety" and tell him about the work of our organization. Pope Pius gave Variety his blessing and urged that our good work continue.

In Dayton, O., on Nov. 15th, Variety Manor was dedicated. This is a training school for children who are under par mentally and is the proud work of the Variety Club of Dayton.

On January 7, 1952, Variety's Children's Cancer Research Clinic in Boston was formally dedicated. This tremendous institution under the head of Dr. Sidney Farber is the finest hospital in the world devoted to the study of cancer, particularly as it effects children. The huge sum necessary to build this wonderful institution was raised by the Variety Club of New England.

Our new tent in Tokyo is doing a wonderful job in caring for hundreds of orphan Japanese children left homeless and alone by the last war.

In Great Britain the very wonderful project of restoring the playing fields for Great Britain's children is being sponsored by our Variety Club in London and this wonderful charity is progressing at a rapid pace.

In Toronto, Variety Village, our vocational training school for deformed children continues under the sponsorship of the Variety Club of Toronto.

In our own great country Variety continues with its projects of great magnitude, all aimed to make life just a little happier for children who otherwise might never know what happiness means.

Boys Ranch in Texas, sponsored by our Dallas tent, continues to take young men from broken homes and bring them up to be good citizens. In Houston a new Boys Club is under construction with the money being raised by the Variety Club of Houston.

In Las Vegas, one of our new tents, a vocational training school for crippled children is already under construction and promises to be ready for dedication by the time of our Annual Convention in that city on April 28.

Our Blind Babies Clinic under the sponsorship of the Variety Club of Northern California in San Francisco continues to train the parents of blind babies—a work which not only won for the Tent last year's Annual Charity Citation but also won the praise of the entire world. In Los Angeles our great Variety Boys Club continues to give guidance to youngsters where the help is sorely needed.

Chicago continues with its fine financial aid to the La Ribida Hospital and its treatment for rheumatic fever. Memphis continues to operate the Mother's Milk Bank.

In Oklahoma City, in addition to the two fine health clinics built and maintained by the Variety Club of Oklahoma our Variety Club in that State has now taken under its wing the construction of an addition to the University Hospital, a great new research center. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Albany continue to operate their very fine Summer camps.

Buffalo and Detroit have chosen as their main interest, aid in the cure of cerebral palsy. The Cerebral Palsy Clinic in Buffalo was recently judged one of the finest of its kind, another great Variety project. Atlanta continues with its fine playground. Charlotte continues with its Health Clinic.

One of our greatest projects and a Charity Citation Award winner, the Variety Club's Hospital in Miami, has established the finest record in the treatment of polio known so far to medical science. This wonderful hospital constantly receives great praise in medical journals everywhere.

In Minneapolis the great Variety Heart Hospital, largest of its kind in the world, continues its tremendous task of aiding children with defective hearts. Truly a tremendous institution and inspiration to Variety.

In addition to all of these great projects which concern themselves mainly with the welfare of children, Variety continues with its sponsorship of the Variety Clubs—Will Rogers Hospital at Saranac, N. Y. This great hospital devoted to research and treatment for tuberculosis is the only institution strictly for people in show business and Variety is very proud to lend its name and its efforts toward the upkeep and progress of this great institution.

And so it goes in over forty great cities, Variety Club International has set a standard of devotion to the unfortunate that is unmatched by any other international charitable group. Surely all Barkers feel the thrill of joy in being a part of such a wonderful work.

As international chief barker I salute our organization. Variety Clubs International, that has given so full a measure of hope and high purpose to the world's showmen.

A YEAR OF PROGRESS

By WILLIAM PERLBERG

President, Screen Producers' Guild

NINETEEN FIFTY-ONE was a year of progress for the Screen Producers' Guild. During the 12 months, its organizational structure was strengthened with the formation of committees responsible for activities dealing with public relations, membership, treasury, grievances and negotiations. Early in 1952, by a large majority of the members, a by-law change was initiated opening membership to executive producers. It is now possible to have within the membership of one organization every creative producer making motion pictures in Hollywood. It is expected that such a possibility soon will be achieved.

PERLBERG

Probably the most noteworthy accompishment is the legal clarification and definition of a producer's status now being consummated by a letter agreement between the Guild and the Motion Picture Producers' Association. This agreement for the first time will establish specific conditions for producer credits in the Hollywood motion picture industry.

In the past year, the Guild has completed a number of activities designed to advance the art and profession of producing, to preserve and further its standards and to advance the professional interests of its members. This was the objective of the organization stated in its charter in May of 1950. The letter agreement mentioned above did much to advance the professional interests of its members. At the same time, many activities were initiated and successfully consummated in the other areas.

A series of three forums were held at the University of California at Los Angeles under the sponsorship of the theater arts department in May. Ten producers participated in presenting "The Producers' View of Film Making." These discussions served as the basis for a series of articles which were offered to all the daily newspapers in the nation. More than 100 drama editors requested and published the whole series of eight articles.

At the University of Southern California, in cooperation with the Cinema Department, the Screen Producers' Guild not only planned, but executed and staffed a three credit course entitled "Production Symposium" which was attended by 80 students. This was the first time a creative craft in motion pictures was involved as an entire craft in such an undertaking. Eighteen producers took part as lecturers and as a result, the first text-book on "The Role of the Producer" in motion pictures now is in preparation.

In September, the first annual Milestone Dinner was held and Jesse L. Lasky was awarded the "Silver Wreath of Honor" which as the award said, was "for his historic contribution to the American Motion Picture." This new and important honor was presented for the Guild by Gloria Swanson at a banquet attended by more than 600 screen personalities and notables in the Ambassador Cocoanut Grove.

The SPG has gained in its position of leadership in the Councils of the Industry. The producers' branch of the Academy has during the past year grown in membership, the organization has been active in the MPIC and took a leading role in the COMPO meeting last Summer; and it continues to work on the Permanent Charities Committee as a group. In all of these activities, the SPG has taken the role of leadership wherever possible; and it will continue to play the same part in the year ahead.

SDGA IN 1951

By J. P. McGOWAN

Chairman, Public Relations Committee

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-ONE can be marked down as the year in which motion pictures and television began to find their own levels, and by December, both began to realize that they were not strange bed-fellows and could comfortably rest side by side if the bed was big enough. Studios began to open their gates to the new medium and TV producers jumped at the chance to take advantage of the facilities offered with a corresponding improvement in their product.

Five TV producers were quartered at Republic; General Service housed eight; Eagle-Lion, five; Roach Studio, six; Goldwyn, two; California, five; RKO-Pathe, One. Total 32. These are all established companions working on two or more series a week many of them for national distribution.

In addition there are others who maintain their own studios equipped with modern facilities. Gene Autry's "Flying A," Jerry Fairbanks' long established plant; William Brody's Sunset studio, Sol Lesser, Dudley productions and many others in less pretentious quarters. At the moment there are approximately 120 TV producers in the Los Angeles area but less than 50 per cent of them are active continuously.

Excluding Republic and Columbia the production of low bracket pictures on the major lots was practically non-existent. This created some unemployment until TV stepped into the breach and picked up some of the slack, benefitting most of the guilds and technical crafts. By the end of the year approximately 61 directors were engaged in TV on film while others were on the seven local stations directing "live" shows, with a corresponding number of assistant directors.

In TV's primary struggle to establish itself on film, most of the organized groups made certain concessions to help the new medium get on its feet. Directors, writers, actors and producers entered into the economic spirit with the approval of their guilds. In like manner the technical groups cooperated. However, it is now evident that this holiday is over. Such concessions are being cancelled and in the coming months the TV producers will be asked to respect the basic agreements now in effect within the motion picture industry.

This can be accomplished by mutual understanding. Unanimity of purpose, collaboration not competition, and a well defined platform for the increased development of TV production will answer many of the problems confronting the industry today.

Quarterly and Annual Awards

Heretofore the awards were based on the Guild's fiscal year, May 1 to April 30. The board of directors decided that, commencing in 1952, the calender year would be observed. To effect this change meant slicing one quarter off the past year which reduced the eligible periods to three. The three winners voted by the members were Alfred Hitchcock for "Strangers on a Train," Vincent Minnelli's "American in Paris" and George Steven's "Place in the Sun." Assistant Directors Mel Dellar, Alfred Raboch and C. C. Coleman, Jr., respectively received similar awards which were presented by Directors Leo McCarey, Frank Borsage and George Marshall.

George Stevens received the Anuual Award for the best directorial achievement of the year for his "Place in the Sun", King Vidor, SDG's first president, making the presentation. George Sidney, Guild prexy, conferred on Louis B. Mayer, honorary life membership in the Guild for his contributions to the development and progress of the motion picture industry. Some 900, including civic leaders, attended the annual dinner dance at the Biltmore Bowl in Los Angeles.

Life Insurance

During 1951 the board completed arrangements with the Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California for a $682,000 group life insurance plan which became effective Oct. 1 and is available to all members in good standing without any cost or obligation whatever. Should a member die from any cause, anywhere in the world, $1,000 life insurance will be immediately paid to his beneficiary or estate. Should a member cease to be eligible or retire he will be able to convert it into an individual policy for the same amount.

There are, of course, many forms of group insurance within the industry but this plan is unique as the entire cost is born by SDG and is a practical demonstration of the personal interest the Guild has in the welfare of its members.

Membership

The membership rose from 653 to 696, consisting of 320 assistants and 376 directors. The increase, slightly more than normal, was occasioned by directors joining the major lots on individual and package deals as well as new recruits into TV.

We suffered the loss of Phil Rosen one of the veterans of the industry. Originally a cameraman he was largely responsible for the organization of the American Society of Cinematographers and was its first president. Phil was also active in the formation of the SDGA and was treasurer and board member for several years.

Richard Wallace also passed away. He, too, was active in Guild affairs and served on the board of directors for three different terms. Ralph Ceder and Ray Taylor, after decades behind the camera, also died. Losses we could ill afford.

During 1951 various Guild members were engaged in film projects for the Government or its agencies. John Ford (Rear Admiral USNR) made a picture for the Navy in Korea, Frank Capra (Col. USASC) is in Europe, Directors W. B. (Breezy) Eason, Gunther Fritsch, Jack Hively and George B. Seitz, Jr., handled overseas assignment. Assistant Directors Tom Andre, W. B. (Mike) Eason, William D. Faralla, W. A. Faralla, Burnet Lamont, Charles Wasserman and Vaughan Paul are spread throughout the globe. All of these men saw service in the last war.

SAG IN 1951

By JOHN DALES, Jr.
Executive Secretary

THE SCREEN ACTORS GUILD in 1951 won a Federal Government decision of lasting significance to the entire entertainment industry. This decision, by the National Labor Relations Board, has the effect of confirming the Guild's historic position as the exclusive nationwide collective bargaining agency for actors in all forms of motion pictures.

The background of the case was this: Live talent unions headquartered in New York formed a new union which they called Television Authority, otherwise known as TVA. Not content with representing performers in live television, TVA sought to invade the motion picture field by claiming the right to represent actors in televised motion pictures. TVA openly stated that the live television performer should control the wages and working conditions of actors in television films.

To members of the Screen Actors Guild, a motion picture is a motion picture, whether it be shown in a theater, a school or a church —or on television.

The NLRB case involved practically every motion picture producer in the Southern California area. The Screen Actors Guild had filed a petition, requesting an NLRB representation election and certification as the exclusive collective bargaining agency for all actors employed by these producers, irrespective of how the films in which the actors work might be exhibited. The Guild has represented all actors in all types of motion pictures for more than 18 years.

TVA intervened in the case, demanding that actors in televised motion pictures be placed in a different bargaining unit from actors in other motion pictures. Extended hearings on the controversy were held.

In its far-reaching decision supporting the position of the Screen Actors Guild, the NLRB rejected completely all TVA's arguments and ruled that "actors engaged in making motion pictures for initial presentation on television have the same interests as, and belong in the same unit with, other actors employed by their respective employers in making films for initial showing in motion picture theaters."

Several representation elections followed this important NLRB decision. In some of them, TVA withdrew from the ballot. In six contested elections, the Guild defeated TVA by a total vote of 439 to 48, thus demonstrating conclusively that the Giuld has the loyalty and support of the overwhelming majority of motion picture actors.

It is the earnest hope of the Screen Actors Guild that the leaders of Television Authority will now come to their senses and concentrate their energies on improving conditions for performers in live television, as the Guild always has done and will continue to do for actors in the motion picture field.

SWG IN 1952

By MARY C. McCALL, JR.
President

THE SCREEN WRITERS' GUILD has these aims for the year ahead: to measure up to our responsibilities as the exclusive bargaining agent for all screen writers, through the strict enforcement of our minimum basic agreement with the Association of Motion Picture Producers; to secure, within the year, a contract with the Independent Motion Picture Producers' Association, which will safeguard our members' rights in television as well as in motion pictures; to conclude a contract with the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, which will regulate participation and deferment deals; to negotiate basic contracts with all television producers West of the Rockies, under the grant of jurisdiction given us by the Authors' League of America; to participate, through our representation on the National Television Committee of the League in bargaining for an equitable television contract with the major networks in New York.

We are determined that writers in this new medium shall retain the creators' rights in the work of their brains, and shall continue to profit from the continuing use of those works in all media forever.

Through our credit union, group insurance, the newly established stationery supply service, a greatly expanded and livelier bulletin, which will carry news of job opportunities in all writing fields, the retention of a top flight public relations firm to implement the program of our public relations committee, by close cooperation with all other industry groups in the Motion Picture Industry Council, and through our annual awards for outstanding achievements in motion picture writing, we hope to give greater service to our membership.

We want to give specific economic benefits to each individual member, and to benefit the membership generally by winning increased public recognition of their contribution to motion pictures. The Guild will continue to be the channel through which the various departments of the United States Government and the United Nations Organization may avail themselves of the services of screen writers.

It's a big program, but with the help of an active membership, and the hard-working and intelligent board and officers whom that membership voted into office, I believe we will carry it out.

CENSOR BOARDS

Addresses and Regulations

STATE CENSOR BOARDS AND RULES

Kansas

State Board of Review, Sixth and Armstrong Streets, Kansas City, Kansas; Mrs. Frances Vaughn, chairman; Hollie Tucker, secretary.

The board "shall approve such films, reels, including subtitles, spoken dialogue, songs, other words or sounds, folders, posters and advertising matter which are moral and proper; and shall disapprove such as are cruel, obscene, indecent, or immoral, or such as tend to debase or corrupt morals."

In addition to the quotation from the statute, this board has adopted the following rules:

A. Pictures should be clean and wholesome and all features that tend to debase morals or influence the mind to improper conduct should be eliminated.

B. Ridicule of any religious sect or peculiar characteristics of any race of people will not be approved.

C. Evil suggestion in the dress of comedy characters will be eliminated.

D. Loose conduct between men and women will be eliminated, and whenever possible, barroom scenes and social drinking.

E. A display of nude human figures will be eliminated.

F. Crimes and criminal methods, such as give instruction in crime through suggestion, will be eliminated or abbreviated.

G. Prolonged and passionate love scenes, when suggestive of immorality will be eliminated.

Maryland

State Board of Motion Picture Censors, 848 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Maryland; Sydney R. Traub, chairman.

No film to be licensed which is in the judgment of the board ". . . obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman, sacrilegious or of such character that its exhibition would tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime."

Massachusetts

Censors pictures for Sunday showing: George C. Parsons in charge, 1010 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

New York

Board of Education, Motion Picture Division, 80 Center Street, New York, N. Y. Also: Albany, N. Y.; Dr. Hugh M. Flick, director.

No motion picture will be licensed or a permit granted for its exhibition within the State of New York, which may be classified or any part thereof, as obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman, sacrilegious, or which is of such a character that its exhibition would tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime."

Newsreels not subject to review.

Ohio

Department of Education, Division of Film Censorship, State Office Building, Columbus, Ohio; Dr. Clyde Hissong, Director.

"Only such films as are in the judgment and discretion of the board of censors of a moral, educational or amusing and harmless character shall be passed and approved by such board."

Pennsylvania

Pennsylvania State Board of Censors, 1225 Vine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Edna R. Carroll, Chairman.

"The board shall . . . approve such films, reels or views which are moral and proper; and also disapprove such as are sacrilegious, obscene, indecent, or immoral, or such as tend, in the judgment of the board, to debase or corrupt morals."

Virginia

SUNDAY CLOSING REGULATIONS

Alabama

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows in Anniston, Ensley, Montgomery, Auburn, Demopolis, Dothan, Selma, Troy, Cullman, Jasper, Mobile, Tuscaloosa. Bill passed in 1937 legalizing Sunday shows in Jefferson County (Leeds, Tarrant, Birmingham). Sunday closing in Camden, Greenville, Linden, Livingston, York. Attorney General ruled in 1942. Sunday films not prohibited in towns less than 15,000. Sunday shows closed in Bessemer June 1945—opened by referendum vote Oct. 2, 1945.

Arizona

Arkansas

Legislature of 1931 passed law legalizing Sunday shows by local option. 1939 legislature passed bill legalizing Sunday motion pictures.

California

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

Colorado

Legalized by local option—law on statute books interpreted as prohibiting Sunday shows, passed in 1871, but some years ago case was appealed to Supreme Court of State and decision rendered that law did not prevent operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday. No towns forbid shows by local ordinance, although some of smaller towns do not have Sunday shows.

Connecticut

Local option throughout the state. Hartford and Danbury do not allow Sunday matinees, but theaters open at five p.m. State passed bill in 1937 permitting theaters to remain open Sunday night until 11 p.m. instead of 10:30, and in 1945 further liberalized law permitting opening at 1 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. and closing at 11:30 p.m.

Delaware

Legislature defeated bill in 1937 for statewide Sunday films instead of local option. 1941—Repealed Blue Laws—provides local option for Sunday movies between noon and 6 p.m. and from 8 p.m. until midnight on Sunday. Newark, by referendum 6-10-42, banned Sunday pictures.

District of Columbia

Theaters open on Sunday.

Florida

Legalized by local option. All large towns have Sunday shows. Key West in December, 1946 enforced a 1913 ordinance calling for Sunday opening after six p.m. and requiring theaters to pay 20 per cent of net proceeds to local charity.

Georgia

Does not permit motion pictures on Sunday. In spite of blue laws, however, Atlanta, Albany, Columbus, and Thomasville do show pictures. Savannah permits Sunday shows between 2 and 6 and after 9:30 p.m. Proceeds to charity; Marietta —Theaters open on Sunday from 1 to 7 p.m. and again at 8:45 p.m. to serve war plant workers and service men. Winder City council approved Sunday shows April, 1946 under agreement that half of receipts be given city for operation of schools. Blackshear permitted American Legion to show Sunday pictures but city council rescinded ordinance.

Idaho

State law prohibits Sunday shows, but upon signed petition of the majority of voters, presented to City Council, question is submitted to voters of community and popular vote governs action of council. Practically every sizeable town in state operates on Sunday.

Illinois

No state law legalizing or making illegal showing of pictures on Sunday. This is controlled by municipalities. No Sunday shows in Sparta and Waverly.

Indiana

Not legalized, but Sunday motion pictures are shown in every principal city in State. No Sunday shows in Oakland City.

Iowa

Legalized by local option.

Kansas

Has Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law has never been enforced and all towns operate except White Cloud, Smith Center, Lindsborg, Scott City, Clifton, Baldwin, Greenleaf, Lincoln, Jetmore, Spearville, Oskaloosa.

Kentucky

Bill legalizing Sunday performances passed 1934 State Court of Appeals in 1942 declared Sunday movies permitted by state law and no municipality can prohibit them.

Louisiana

Legalized by local option.

Maine

1939 law permits Sunday movies between 3 and 11 p.m. 1941—Legislature passed local option referendum exercised at regular elections—effective July 26, 1941.

Maryland

Legislature in 1931 enacted law providing referendum for city of Baltimore which was voted on and passed. Theaters open in following counties: Baltimore, Carroll, Montgomery, Prince George, St. Mary's, Howard, Oakland, and Anne Arundel. Incorporated towns in Allegheny County may have Sunday showings provided that they obtain permit from municipal authorities. 1943 Legislature passed laws permitting Sunday shows in Aberdeen and Frederick City during certain hours, and in Washington County between 1 and 7 p.m. Cecil County by vote of 1945 Legislature may have Sunday shows by local option from 2 to 11 p.m. Other counties have not passed laws permitting Sunday shows.

Massachusetts

Legalized for Sunday showing. A large number of cities and towns are forbidden showings on Sundays.

Michigan

Has old blue law statute prohibiting showing of pictures on Sunday but statute is not enforced. Holland is only city which has Sunday closing law by city ordinance.

Minnesota

Sunday closing law of 1905 amended 1909 legalizing outdoor sports. In a decision of 1910 motion pictures classed same as sports and allowed to operate on Sundays.

Mississippi

Not legalized. One town, Shaw, operates—they open on Sunday, pay the fine and continue to operate. In May 1942 city commission of Jackson gave permission for Sunday shows but in October State Circuit Court closed Sunday shows after city police chief had declared theaters might remain open. Jackson, Meridian and other towns operate on Sunday by collecting "free will offerings" instead of admission charge.

Missouri

Have Sunday labor laws which include motion pictures for Sunday showing. Law was never enforced and all towns operate except Marshall, Fairfax, Fulton.

Montana

No state statute prohibiting showing of motion pictures on Sunday and no law legalizing such showing, but all towns run shows on Sunday.

Nebraska

Legalized by local option. Sunday shows forbidden in Stromsberg. Town council opened Arnold for Sunday shows Jan. 18, 1937. Beatrice voted for Sunday pictures April 3, 1940.

Nevada

No state legislation against Sunday amusements.

New Hampshire

State passed Sunday sports and entertainment bill in 1931 and individual cities and towns vote on it. 1943 legislature passed law permitting theaters to open Sunday afternoons at 1 p.m. by local option, instead of 6 p.m.

New Jersey

Blue laws repealed in 1933. Towns which have local ordinance prohibiting Sunday shows: Belvedere, Blairstown, Frenchtown, Highbridge, Jamesburg, Metuchen, Ocean Grove, Peapack, Ridgewood, Upper Montclair, Westfield, Nov. 8, 1938—Montclair by referendum vote made Sunday movies legal. State removed ban on Sunday shows in Princeton to provide recreation for men in Army and Navy training camps.

New Mexico

Bill passed 1931 legislature legalizing Sunday showings and prohibiting local option measures from closing theaters

New York

Home rule law by which towns and cities are legalized to show motion pictures on Sunday after 2 p.m., provided local ordinance is enacted to this effect by local legislative body and ratified by direct vote of people at special election. Under this law leading towns and cities show pictures on Sunday.

North Carolina

Not legalized. State law, city ordinances and public opinion opposed to Sunday pictures. The following towns do have Sunday shows Asheville, Benson, Chapel Hill, Dunn, Durham, Elizabeth City, Henderson, High Point, Louisburg, Plymouth, Raleigh, Robersonville, Scotland Neck, Tarboro, Williamston. Sunday films legalized for Cherokee County in 1937. Numerous towns have Sunday shows and a per cent of the proceeds is given to charity. 1939—Sunday closing law repealed in Johnston and Hyde counties. Law also passed 1939 prohibiting Sunday shows in Yadkin county and Sunday movies in Northampton between 1 and 6 p.m. City Council of Sanford approved Sunday closing in 1940. Sunday movies permitted in Charlotte and Salisbury in 1941.

North Dakota

Ohio

Legalized showing on Sunday. Forbidden in Bayesville and Cambridge. On June 18, 1940 Supreme Court of Ohio upheld rights of municipalities to forbid Sunday shows. Wellsville resumed Sunday pictures September, 1946 after being closed since 1914.

Oklahoma

Legalized by local option.

Oregon

Legalized by local option to run shows on Sunday. No closed situation known.

Pennsylvania

Sunday opening law passed in 1935. Legalized by local option. 1941 legislature changed law providing referendum be held every 4 years instead of 5 on request of 20 per cent of highest vote cast for any candidate (old law 5 per cent).

November, 1945 general election opened 15 municipalities to Sunday shows out of 31 voting on question.

November, 1947 general election opened Sunday films in Harrisburg, Altoona, Baden, Bensalem Township, Blakely, Cheswick, Clarion, Columbia, Harrison Township, Jermyn, Jutztown, Laceyville, Lehighton, Marietta, McDonald, Nazareth, Perryville, Phoenixville, Rochester, Tarentum, Tinoesta, Wampum, Wind Gap and York, among others. Proposal was defeated in some 26 towns. November, 1949, general election opened many more places to Sunday films.

November 6, 1951, election legalized Sunday showings in: Butler, Bellevue, Brighton Township, Bedford Township, Butler Township, Summit Township, Osceola Mills, Wayne Township Washington Township, Neshannock Township, Greenville, Franklin Township, Oxford Township, Kenett Square, Scot Township, Loyalsock Township, Montgomery, Hamilton Township, Norristown, Lehigh Township, Shamokin, Mount Carmel Township, Schickshinny, Bangor Township, Palmyra Township, Westfall Township, Berwick, Birmingham, Springfield Township.

The following communities retained the ban: Rural Valley, Everett, Antis Township, Fairview Township, South Fork, State College, College Township, East Brady, Bradford Township, Greene Township, Somerset, Lewisburg, Claysvile, Philipsburg, Mercer, Middletown, Lansdale, Danville, Northumberland, Milton, Schuylkill Haven, Selinsgrove.

Rhode Island

Legalized by local option. 1943 legislature passed law permitting theaters in Providence and several other communities to open at 1 p.m. instead of 2 on Sunday.

South Carolina

Legislature in 1947 passed bill permitting Sunday films after two p.m., except between seven and nine p.m., in cities of 62,000 or more population.

South Dakota

Has state law prohibiting Sunday pictures. Local option has over-ruled this law, however, and pictures are shown on Sunday in all principal towns.

Tennessee

Governor signed bill repealing blue laws in 1935, permitting Sunday opening by local option. However, not many operate.

Theaters in Maryville, Tenn., have started operating on Sunday. (Dec. 1951.)

Texas

Governor signed bill legalizing Sunday pictures which became effective in 1931, subject to local option. Prior to passage of law, majority of principal towns were open. Most towns now have Sunday shows.

Utah

No law preventing showing of pictures on Sundays. Former state statute made it illegal to operate a theater on Sunday, but this statute was repealed in 1925. Local option bill was subsequently introduced, but failed to pass.

Vermont

Law permitting Sunday movies after 6 p.m. passed in 1939. 1941 legislature eliminated necessity for voting every year on Sunday amusements, except on petition of 5 per cent of voters.

Virginia

Motion pictures are exhibited on Sunday in Richmond, Norfolk, and various other Virginia cities usually after juries and test cases have failed to convict the exhibitor. In Williams v. Commonwealth 179 Va. 741, decided in 1942, the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia approved the operation of Sunday movies where the proceeds were devoted to charity and three members of the Court, in a concurring opinion, held that the defendant was engaged in a "work of necessity," within the meaning of the Virginia Sunday Observance Law. The effect of this concurring opinion has been far reaching in discouraging prosecutions for the exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday.

Washington

Sunday opening not legalized except in Colfax where old statute providing Sunday closing was attempted to be enforced, but was defeated. Theaters close in Pullman on Sunday evenings as result of friendly arrangement with people of Normal School of Pullman. Theaters throughout state operate without interference. There are no Sunday closing ordinances.

West Virginia

Not legalized, but all principal cities show pictures on Sunday which include Charleston, Bluefield, Huntington, Williamson (theaters in last city open after closing of church in morning and close prior to evening service). Forbidden by local ordinance in Lewisburg, Milton, and Ronceverte.

Wisconsin

Blue laws repealed in 1933.

Wyoming

No state law concerning motion pictures.

The Film Industry's
FIRST
News and Service Publication

BOXOFFICE HAS

YOU'VE GOT TO BE GOOD TO STAY ON TOP FOR 11 YEARS

Industry preference has kept BOXOFFICE circulation on top for over a decade. This chart shows the record. Based on annual Audit Bureau of Circulations Reports of 1937 through June 30, 1951. Also in subscription renewals, BOXOFFICE leads this publication with 79.08% of expirations compared to 73.45%.

*Published in 10 editions, identical in content except for a different local news supplement in each edition. National Executive Edition contains all supplements.

BOXOFFICE has 9,226 more subscribers in the U.S. and Canada than any other film industry publication!

That's because top executives consider BOXOFFICE unequaled in news coverage—nationally and locally—and unsurpassed in its constantly improving service features on all phases of production, distribution and exhibition.

See figures for the issues of May 5, 1951, as shown in Audit Bureau Reports for the twelve months period ending June 30, 1951. See paragraph 22, same reports.

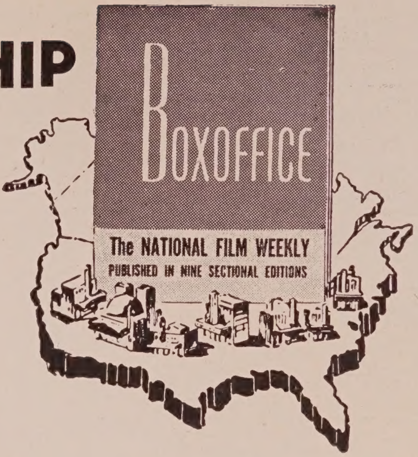
BOXOFFICE • MODERN THEATRE

TOTAL LEADERSHIP



BOXOFFICE
The NATIONAL FILM WEEKLY
PUBLISHED IN NINE SECTIONAL EDITIONS

FIRST IN COMPLETE NEWS and SERVICE SECTIONS

BOXOFFICE

In addition to dominance in national and local news coverage weekly, BOXOFFICE includes six indispensable guides and "how-to" features: Showmandiser, Booking Chart, Review Digest, Exhibitor Has His Say, Feature and Shorts Reviews, Exploitips . . . Plus two "magazines within the magazine" monthly . . . and two top reference issues annually.

PROMOTION

The Motion Picture Merchandising Guide—This new and acclaimed magazine section covers all the national advertising campaigns, media publicity and commercial tie-ins for important pictures and stars. PROMOTION is the No. 1 market place for media and tie-in advertisers. (In BOXOFFICE third Saturday each month.)

THE MODERN THEATRE

First in total pages devoted to theatre operating methods, construction, maintenance, and concession merchandising. By far, the top medium for equipment and refreshment advertising. (In BOXOFFICE first issue of each month).

BUYERS' DIRECTORY (Red Key)

The MODERN THEATRE BUYERS' DIRECTORY AND REFERENCE Section is the industry's most complete buying guide for equipment and supplies. Includes portfolios on all phases of theatre design and operation. Most comprehensive in the field. (Published in November as a second section of BOXOFFICE.)

BAROMETER

The top film review and preview issue. Relied upon by practically every exhibitor as his most useful reference source on product information for booking and buying. Like all of the BOXOFFICE services to the industry, BAROMETER is edited to help increase profits at the boxoffice. (Published in January as a second section of BOXOFFICE.)

. . . the mark of a technical and craft publication devoted to better visual and sound reproduction. Excellence of editorial content, an outstanding feature of which is the very latest news of and views upon reproducing equipment and technique. Published exclusively for projectionists and affiliated technical personnel — the only technically-minded people in the theatre and a group that exerts profound influence upon the purchase of reproducing equipment, from screen to projection room. Extremely opinionated, with a definitely constructive editorial policy that delights its readers . . . and advertisers.

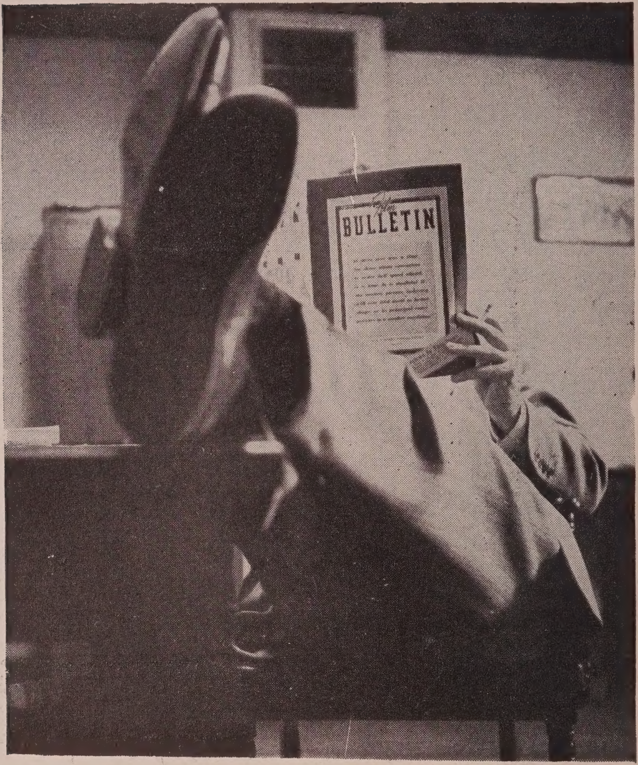
The Feet-on-the Desk Trade Paper



There are substantial reasons why exhibitors all over America (and the subscribers in Canada, Europe, England, India and Iceland, too) are agreeable to pay more for a subscription to FILM BULLETIN than for any other of the regular film trade papers (only Variety and Harrison's Reports get more per copy). The answer is that thousands of theatremen do more than just subscribe to FILM BULLETIN . . . They absorb it from cover to cover . . . They buy product by its production information . . . They book by its frank reviews . . . They form their views of industry policies by its editorial pages . . . They have faith in it . . . They regard FILM BULLETIN as the trade paper with something Important to say!
